

PRINCIPLES FOR CREATING CLOTHING

By JESSIE WARDEN, Kansas State University; MARTHA ANN GOLDING, Queens College, City University of New York; and JUDY STAM, Home Economist.

This concise text is invaluable for reviewing and reinforcing classroom work in clothing construction. The authors have recognized the many ways of working as well as the many fabrics and sewing adjuncts available to the modern sewer. To meet these problems and to avoid creating an encyclopedic and quickly outdated volume, they have concentrated on the basic principles of clothing: fit, comfort, appearance, and pleasure in wearing a garment of the sewer's own making—rather than whether or not she has used one of the "right" techniques in construction. In this way, the student's skill and judgment are emphasized rather than the techniques of sewing.

The material is organized so that the reader proceeds from background information to discussion of principles and decision-making applied to clothing construction. The book then takes the reader through the usual processes used in creating a garment, but not in step by step order. Instead techniques are discussed in relation to their function and use in the garment. The last section is on evaluation—trying to help the home sewer look at her garment in totality.

Golding and Stam are also the creators of Clothing Construction: A Visual Approach, an outstanding set of transparencies that can be used with any overhead projector. Available from Wiley.

State and the Principles of State Law* Friedrich Julius Stahl, 2025-09-03 Suppose that Wilhelm I had never become King of Prussia and instead his brother Friedrich Wilhelm IV who was only 1 years his senior and had reigned since 1840 had been given the same number of years to live as he had For Wilhelm died in 1888 In that case the kind of kingship which is outlined in this book would in general if not in every detail continue to have been implemented in Prussia Events would most likely have continued to proceed along the lines they did in the 1850s Military expansion would not have been pursued in the teeth of opposition from the estates Otto von Bismarck would not have been installed as Chancellor Prussia would have maintained the peace seeking approach of its foreign policy as was exemplified in its neutral stance during the Crimean War Germany would not have been unified over the backs of Austria and France and by military annexation of the autonomous German territories the seeds would not have been sown for two world wars and a great depression How differently would history have turned out There would have been the example of a Christian monarchy pursuing the glory of God and not Realpolitik there would have been the rule of law based on the Word of God rather than the word of man there would have been maintained a system of representation which sustained the monarchy rather than the monied interest Above all a halt would have been called to the progression of unbelief and revolution But it was not to be Friedrich Wilhelm IV suffering from a series of strokes beginning in 1857 died in 1861 The author of this book Friedrich Julius Stahl died in the same year With them went the only hope for a peaceful Germany and a de revolutionized Europe In 1867 the Dutch statesman Guillaume Groen van Prinsterer asked the rhetorical question If King Frederick William IV were still alive would M von Bismarck have had the chance to carry out his vast designs L Empire Prussien et l Apocalypse p 56 His answer based on extensive citations from Stahl s writings was a resounding No Modern historiography knows nothing of this All it knows is that Friedrich

Wilhelm IV lived in a romanticized past and refused to recognize the progress taking place all around him. He was the reactionary monarch who stifled Prussia's advance into liberal modernity. But we need to ask the question to what exactly did that progress actually lead? Perhaps the King of Prussia and Stahl with him knew something that modern historians do not.
