Reading Race In American Poetry:

Reading Race Aldon Lynn Nielsen, 1988 Reading Race examines the work of twentieth century white American poets from Carl Sandburg to Adrienne Rich from Ezra Pound to Allen Ginsberg revealing within their poetry and casual writings a body of literature that transmits racism even as it sometimes speaks against it Tracing the persistence of racial discourse Aldon Nielsen argues that white Americans throughout their history have used a language of their own primacy a language that treats blacks as an abstract other an aggregate nonwhite to be acted upon and determined by whites White discourse drapes over blacks an intricate veil of images and understandings assertions of inferiority metaphors of exoticism similes of animals tropes of fertility nothingness and death through which whites read race and beneath which blacks remain imprisoned Words Nielsen writes create and maintain relationships of power as surely as do prisons and arms Speaking of the discourse of race in America Nielsen identifies dead metaphors words images ideas that operate in much the same way as the charged detail of Pound or the objective correlative of T S Eliot Embedded in the language they are instantly recognizable to the native speaker Poets when they draw upon these metaphors demand racist thinking in order to be understood Reading Race in American Poetry Aldon Lynn Nielsen, 2000 Here inter racial poets and critics join together to analyze the role that race plays in the reading and writing of American poetry and the role that poetry plays in our understanding of race The Word in Black and White Dana D. Nelson, 2023 Genders, Races, and Religious Cultures in Modern American Poetry, 1908-1934 Rachel Blau DuPlessis, 2001-01-11 In Genders Races and Religious Cultures in Modern American Poetries Rachel Blau Duplessis shows how through poetic language modernist writers represented the debates and ideologies concerning New Woman New Negro and New Jew in the early twentieth century From the poetic text emerge such social issues of modernity as debates on suffrage sexuality manhood and African American and Jewish subjectivities By a reading method she calls social philology a form of close reading inflected with the approaches of cultural studies Duplessis engages with the work of such canonical poets as Wallace Stevens Ezra Pound T S Eliot William Carlos Williams Gertrude Stein Marianne Moore and H D as well as Mina Loy Countee Cullen Alfred Kreyenborg and Langston Hughes writers she claims still marginalized by existing constructions of modernism This book is an ambitious attempt to remap our understanding of modern poetries and poetics and the relationship between early twentieth century writing and society Literature and Race in the Democracy of Goods Christopher Albert Chen, 2021 This book conducts a comparative study of three literary traditions post 1960 Asian American Asian Canadian and Black experimental poetry which are usually examined separately In so doing it intervenes in conventional understandings of postwar North American racial formation and argues that through poetry we can examine the intersection between race and capitalism Arguing that contemporary Black Asian American and Asian Canadian poets such as Myung Mi Kim Nathaniel Mackey Larissa Lai and Erica Hunt challenge established definitions of race this book develops an account of experimental poetry's understanding of race as a range of relational configurations of subjects within racial groups and across racial divisions In sum this book redefines some of the basic terms of analysis of contemporary US poetry and poetics critical race ethnic studies racial capitalism and contemporary theories of comparative racialization

The Word in Black and White Dana D. Nelson,1992-01-02 Dana Nelson provides a study of the ways in which Anglo American authors constructed race in their works from the time of the first British colonists through the period of the Civil War She focuses on some eleven texts ranging from widely known to little considered that deal with the relations among Native African and Anglo Americans and places her readings in the historical social and material contexts of an evolving U S colonialism and internal imperialism Nelson shows how a novel such as The Last of the Mohicans sought to reify the Anglo historical past and simultaneously suggested strategies that would serve Anglo Americans against Native Americans as the frontier pushed farther west Concluding her work with a reading of Harriet Jacobs s Incidents in the Life of a Slave Girl Nelson shows how that text undercuts the racist structures of the pre Civil War period by positing a revised model of sympathy that authorizes alternative cultural perspectives and requires Anglo Americans to question their own involvement with racism

Aphrodite's Daughters Maureen Honey,2016-08-31 The Harlem Renaissance was a watershed moment for racial uplift poetic innovation sexual liberation and female empowerment Aphrodite s Daughters introduces us to three amazing women who were at the forefront of all these developments poetic iconoclasts who pioneered new and candidly erotic forms of female self expression Maureen Honey paints a vivid portrait of three African American women Angelina Weld Grimk Gwendolyn B Bennett and Mae V Cowdery who came from very different backgrounds but converged in late 1920s Harlem to leave a major mark on the literary landscape She examines the varied ways these poets articulated female sexual desire ranging from Grimk s invocation of a Sapphic goddess figure to Cowdery s frank depiction of bisexual erotics to Bennett s risky exploration of the borders between sexual pleasure and pain Yet Honey also considers how they were united in their commitment to the female body as a primary source of meaning strength and transcendence The product of extensive archival research Aphrodite s Daughters draws from Grimk Bennett and Cowdery s published and unpublished poetry along with rare periodicals and biographical materials to immerse us in the lives of these remarkable women and the world in which they lived It thus not only shows us how their artistic contributions and cultural interventions were vital to their own era but also demonstrates how the poetic heart of their work keeps on beating

Harris, 2005 Executing Race examines the multiple ways in which race class and the law impacted women s lives in the 18th century and equally important the ways in which women sought to change legal and cultural attitudes in this volatile period Through an examination of infanticide cases Harris reveals how conceptualizations of women especially their bodies and their legal rights evolved over the course of the 18th century Early in the century infanticide cases incorporated the rhetoric of the witch trials However at mid century a few women especially African American women began to challenge definitions of bastardy a legal requirement for infanticide and by the end of the century women were rarely executed for this crime as the new nation reconsidered illegitimacy in relation to its own struggle to establish political legitimacy Against this background of legal domination of women s lives Harris exposes the ways in which women writers and activists negotiated legal territory to invoke their voices into the radically changing legal discourse Male Subjectivity and Poetic Form in "New American" Poetry A. Mossin, 2010-05-24 Focusing in particular on pairings of writers within the larger grouping of poets this book suggests how literary partnerships became pivotal to American poets in the wake of Donald Allen s New American Poetry anthology The Cambridge Introduction to American Poetry since 1945 Andrew Epstein, 2022-12-15 Contemporary American poetry can often seem intimidating and daunting in its variety and complexity This engaging and accessible book provides the first comprehensive introduction to the rich body of American poetry that has flourished since 1945 and offers a useful map to its current landscape By exploring the major poets movements and landmark poems at the heart of this era this

Black Africans in the British Imagination Cassander L. Smith, 2016-12-14 As Spain and England vied for dominance of the Atlantic world during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries mounting political and religious tensions between the two empires raised a troubling specter for contemporary British writers attempting to justify early English imperial efforts Specifically these writers focused on encounters with black Africans throughout the Atlantic world attempting to use these points of contact to articulate and defend England's global ambitions In Black Africans in the British Imagination Cassander L. Smith investigates how the physical presence of black Africans both enabled and disrupted English literary responses to Spanish imperialism By examining the extent to which this population helped to shape early English narratives from political pamphlets to travelogues Smith offers new perspectives on the literary social and political impact of black Africans in the early Atlantic world With detailed analysis of the earliest English language accounts from the Atlantic world including writings by Sir Francis Drake Sir Walter Raleigh and Richard Ligon Smith approaches contact narratives from the perspective of black Africans recovering figures often relegated to the margins This interdisciplinary study explores understandings of race and cross cultural interaction and revises notions of whiteness blackness and indigeneity Smith reveals the extent to which contact with black Africans impeded English efforts to stigmatize the Spanish empire as villainous and to malign Spain's administration of its colonies In addition her study illustrates how black presences influenced the narrative choices of European and later Euro American writers providing a more nuanced understanding of black Africans role in contemporary literary productions of the region
