Readings for A History of Anthropological Theory Paul A. Erickson,Liam Donat Murphy,2010-01-01 This comprehensive anthology presents 40 readings that are critical to an understanding of anthropological theory and the development of anthropology as an academic discipline The readings have broad anthropological appeal emphasizing social and cultural anthropology The third edition has been completely revised throughout and organized to work more closely alongside the companion overview text A History of Anthropological Theory It includes six new readings as well as two original essays written by contemporary anthropologists on Why Theory Matters These new essays help ground the more abstract readings in the collection The glossary has been significantly expanded and the discussion questions have been revised The result is a volume that offers not only a strong foundation in the history of the discipline but also a good overview of developments in twentieth and twenty first century anthropological theory including feminist anthropology postmodernity medical anthropology globalization postcolonialism and public anthropology Meat Planet Benjamin Aldes Wurgaft,2020-10-13 In 2013 a Dutch scientist unveiled the world s first laboratory created hamburger Since then the idea of producing meat not from live animals but from carefully cultured tissues has spread like wildfire through the media Meanwhile cultured meat researchers race against population growth and climate change in an effort to make sustainable protein Meat Planet explores the quest to generate meat in the lab a substance sometimes called cultured meat and asks what it means to imagine that this is the future of food Neither an advocate nor a critic of cultured meat Benjamin Aldes Wurgaft spent five years researching the phenomenon In Meat Planet he reveals how debates about lab grown meat reach beyond debates about food examining the links between appetite growth and capitalism Could satiating the growing appetite for meat actually lead to our undoing Are we simply using one technology to undo the damage caused by another Like all problems in our food system the meat problem is not merely a problem of production It is intrinsically social and political and it demands that we examine questions of justice and desirable modes of living in a shared and finite world Benjamin Wurgaft tells a story that could utterly transform the way we think of animals the way we relate to farmland the way we use water and the way we think about population and our fragile ecosystem s capacity to sustain life He argues that even if cultured meat does not succeed it functions much like science fiction as a crucial mirror that we can hold up to our contemporary fleshy dysfunctions Risky Transactions Frank K. Salter,2002 Trust is a central feature of relationships within the Mafia oppressed minorities kin groups everywhere among dissidents nationalist freedom fighters ethnic tourists ethnic middlemen exchange networks of Kalahari Bushmen and families subjected to Stalinist social control Each of these types of trust is examined by a leading scholar and compared with the expectations of neo Darwinian theory in particular the theories of kin selection and ethnic nepotism The result is a fascinating theoretically focused yet empirically eclectic contribution to the overlapping fields of human ethnology evolutionary psychology and bio politics The common thread uniting these diverse phenomena is a trusting relationship predicated on altruism Chapters examine the strengths and limits of human trust under various stressors and temptations to defect By exploring the relationship between kin and ethnic altruism and showing its sensitivity to culture Risky Transactions recasts the evolutionary approach to ethnicity as a blend of primordial and instrumental factors Biology as Society, Society as Biology: Metaphors Sabine Maasen,E. Mendelsohn,P. Weingart,2013-12-01 not lie in the conceptual distinctions but in the perceived functions of metaphors and whether in the concrete case they are judged positive or negative The ongoing debates reflect these concerns quite clearly namely that metaphors are judged on the basis of supposed dangers they pose and opportunities they offer These are the criteria of evaluation that are obviously dependent on the context in which the transfer of meaning occurs Our fundamental concern is indeed the transfer itself its prospects and its limits Looking at possible functions of metaphors is one approach to under standing and elucidating sentiments about them. The papers in this volume illustrate by quite different examples three basic functions of metaphors: illustrative, heuristic, and constitutive. These functions represent different degrees of transfer of meaning. Metaphors are illustrative when they are used primarily as a literary device to increase the power of conviction of an argument, for example. Although the difference between the illustrative and the heuristic function of metaphors is not great, it does exist: metaphors are used for heuristic purposes whenever differences of meaning are employed to open new perspectives and to gain new insights. In the case of constitutive metaphors, they function to actually replace previous meanings by new ones. Sabine Maasen in her paper introduces the distinction between transfer and transformation.

Behaviorism, 1988. Brill's Companion to the Philosophy of Biology, Andrea Borghini, Elena Casetta, 2019-12-16. In this volume, Andrea Borghini and Elena Casetta introduce a wide spectrum of key philosophical problems related to life sciences in a neat framework and an accessible style with a special emphasis on metaphysical issues. The volume is divided into three parts. The first addresses the two main questions stemming from life sciences: what is life and what is the correct understanding of the theory of evolution. The second part looks at metaphysical questions concerning biological entities, environments, species, organisms, and biological individuals. The third part focuses on theoretical questions of particular ethical and political significance: sex and gender, the biotechnological revolution, and the evolution of behavior and culture. Each chapter is followed by a list of further readings.
