Housing Policies for Distressed Urban Neighborhoods ,1993 Living With Urban Environmental Health Risks Girma Kebede,2017-11-28 Although it still has a low urban population when compared with the rest of the world Ethiopia nevertheless has been experiencing one of the most rapid urbanization processes of recent years This rapid urban growth however has not been accompanied by a commensurate increase in basic infrastructure and amenities that are essential for a healthy urban environment Housing water supply sanitation services drainage transport networks and health services have not been able to keep pace with the prevailing urban growth rates resulting in a deterioration of urban living conditions and increasingly serious health problems Living With Urban Environmental Health Risks examines the extent and nature of environmental problems in urban areas in Ethiopia and their impact on health The book points to the economic and political causes that underlie many of the urban problems in the country This in depth analysis suggests ways to deal with these problems at community municipal and national levels Shattered Spaces Michael Meng,2011-11-29 After the Holocaust the empty silent spaces of bombed out synagogues cemeteries and Jewish districts were all that was left in many German and Polish cities with prewar histories rich in the sights and sounds of Jewish life What happened to this scarred landscape after the war and how have Germans Poles and Jews encountered these ruins over the past sixty years In the postwar period city officials swept away many sites despite protests from Jewish leaders But in the late 1970s church groups local residents political dissidents and tourists demanded the preservation of the few ruins still standing Since the collapse of the Soviet Union in 1989 this desire to preserve and restore has grown stronger In one of the most striking and little studied shifts in postwar European history the traces of a long neglected Jewish past have gradually been recovered thanks to the rise of heritage tourism nostalgia for ruins international discussions about the Holocaust and a pervasive longing for cosmopolitanism in a globalizing world Examining this transformation from both sides of the Iron Curtain Michael Meng finds no divided memory along West East lines but rather a shared memory of tensions and paradoxes that crosses borders throughout Central Europe His narrative reveals the changing dynamics of the local and the transnational as Germans Poles Americans and Israelis confront a built environment that is inevitably altered with the passage of time Shattered Spaces exemplifies urban history at its best uncovering a surprising and moving postwar story of broad contemporary interest

American Urban Architecture Wayne Attoe,Donn Logan,1989-01-01 Attoe and Logan propose a specifically American theory of urban design Arguing that theories of urban design especially theories about the remaking of cities have been largely European in origin and thus of questionable value in American contexts the authors see the characteristic features of
