With the publication of Seapower: A Guide for the Twenty-First Century Geoffrey Till has set the standard for publications on all things maritime. The updated and expanded new edition of the book is an essential guide for students of naval history and maritime strategy and provides essential reading for those interested in the role of seapower in the twenty-first century. Till notes in the preface to the second edition of the book (p. xv) that he specifically aimed at providing a broader international context for the discussion of the role of navies. The naval policies of China, Japan, India and the United States are used as case studies of general naval developments around the world. In addition, the analysis highlights the "... post-modern preoccupations of today's navies" (p. xvm) including inter alia the maintenance of good order at sea, coalition operations, and multilateral terrorism. The central hypothesis of the book is rooted in the notion that the sea is central to the prosperity and security of all nations, and even more so since the emergence of an increasingly globalised world trading system. Till argues in Seapower that the fate of nations is closely link to the sea as a source of resources and as a means of transportation, information exchange and strategic domination in all human development.

The most outstanding feature of the publication is the structured approach followed in the analysis of seapower. As a consequence, the book provides a very clear holistic breakdown: firstly, of the nature and constituent elements of seapower;

Reports From The Twentyfirst Century:

The Revolutionary Movement in Britain 1900-21 Walter Kendall, 2025-07-24 Kendall's classic work has been widely appreciated for its rich contextualisation of the events and forensic examination of both the national and international factors influencing the nativity of the British Communist Party. It imaginatively recuperates and critically evaluates the politics of the party's predecessors notably the British Socialist Party and the Socialist Labour Party, the radical upsurge of 1910-14, the wartime shop stewards movement, the resonance of the Russian Revolution and the role of the Comintern in moulding the form that British Communism took. Vivid portraits of the human actors H M Hyndman, John Maclean, Arthur MacManus and Theodore Rothstein illuminate the text. First published in 1969, The Revolutionary Movement in Britain has stood the test of time. It remains indispensable reading for everyone interested in understanding socialist history. John McIlroy has provided a detailed Introduction to this republication.

General Fisheries Commission for the Mediterranean. Report of the twenty-second session of the Scientific Advisory Committee on Fisheries, online, 22-25 June 2021 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2021-12-29. The Scientific Advisory Committee on Fisheries (SAC) of the General Fisheries Commission for the Mediterranean (GFCM) held its twenty-second session online from 22 to 25 June 2021. The session was attended by delegates from 19 Mediterranean contracting parties, 11 observers as well as representatives of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO) Fisheries Division, the GFCM Secretariat and invited experts. The Committee reviewed the work carried out during the 2019-2021 intersession, including within the framework of the mid-term strategy 2017-2020 towards the sustainability of Mediterranean and Black Sea fisheries and in light of the COVID-19 pandemic, and provided advice on status of priority stocks and ecosystems and on potential management measures addressing key fisheries and vulnerable species in the Mediterranean. In line with the subregional approach, the Committee formulated advice focusing on: i) small pelagic and priority demersal fisheries in the Adriatic Sea; ii) common dolphinfish and blackspot seabream fisheries in the western Mediterranean; iii) small pelagic and bottom trawl fisheries exploiting demersal stocks, particularly European hake, in the central Mediterranean; iv) deep water red shrimp fisheries in the eastern central Mediterranean, including their interactions with vulnerable marine ecosystems; and v) round sardinella in the eastern Mediterranean. The Committee also agreed on the technical soundness of three FRA proposals for the Bari Canyon, the Ebro Delta margin and the Palmahim Disturbance to be submitted to the Commission. At the regional level, the Committee provided advice on the following: i) fishing technology and bycatch, including minimal technical specifications for bottom trawl nets and the need for targeted pilot projects to investigate possible mitigation measures; ii) data call for the database on sensitive benthic habitats and species and other effective area-based conservation measures for the protection of vulnerable marine ecosystems and essential fish habitats; and iii) advances in the adaptation strategy for climate change. Furthermore, the Committee discussed additional work in support of the GFCM, namely the implementation of the Regional Plan of Action for

Small Scale Fisheries in the Mediterranean and the Black Sea dedicated research programmes as well as other activities to enhance fisheries management in the region Finally the Committee agreed upon its work plan for 2021 2023 The Coast Guard Intelligence Program Enters the Intelligence Community Kevin E. Wirth,2007 This work builds on earlier publications in this series particularly Occasional Paper Number Nine The Creation of the National Imagery and Mapping Agency Congress s Role as Overseer by Anne Daugherty Miles The author of the present paper has examined how the Coast Guard became a member of the Intelligence Community how Congress was involved and how Congress will likely be increasingly involved in the organization of the Community Although the United States Coast Guard has utilized intelligence capabilities since the service s inception in 1790 the Coast Guard was not included as a formal member of the Intelligence Community until December 2002 Mr Wirth describes the story behind the short but significant amendment to the National Security Act of 1947 which resulted in the Coast Guard s formal entry into the Intelligence Community Researched within eighteen months of passage this case study exhaustively documents extensive congressional and Coast Guard staff work Interviews at the action officer level clearly reveal the view from the bureaucratic trenches and additional attention to talking points meeting minutes and email summaries add immediacy as they further clarify positions from within departments staffs and agencies A brief examination of the surrounding political and geopolitical events such as the bombing of the USS Cole political changes in Congress internal Coast Guard actions and the tragic attacks of September 11th provide context to the passage of this provision Derived from a thesis completed in 2003 this paper illustrates the importance of gathering electronic data immediately since much of the reference material on which this study is based existed only as informal e mail or documents stored on computers Much of it likely would have been erased had the research started even a year later
