Marie Corelli, 1898 A Romance of Two Worlds starts with a young heroine in first person telling her story of a debilitating illness that includes depression and thoughts of suicide Her doctor is unable to help her and sends her off on a holiday where she meets a mystical character by the name of Raffello Cellini a famous Italian artist Cellini offers her a strange potion which immediately puts her into a tranquil slumber in which she experiences divine visions Upon waking she craves more Later she meets her unnamed guardian angel who whisks her through infinite solar systems faster than a shooting star while human spirits fly by like gossamer silk He shares the truth of religion and the secret of human destiny but still she longs for more She comes to understand God as pure light and pure love but it is not enough that she should see and hear these things from the touch of an angel She wants to master this ability on her own and seeks a oneness with God through a series of meditative disciplines while locked away in a monastery Wikipedia Popular Electricity and the World's Advance, 1911

Green Criminology and Green Theories of Justice Michael J. Lynch, Michael A. Long, Paul B. Stretesky, 2019-12-11 This book offers an alternative analysis of the various theories and dimensions of green and environmental justice which are rooted in political economy Much green criminological literature sidelines political economic theoretical insights and therefore with this work the authors enrich the field by vigorously exploring such perspectives It engages with a number of studies relevant to a political economic approach to justice in order to make two key arguments that capitalism has produced profound ecological injustices and that the concept of ecological justice human and ecological rights itself needs critiquing Green Criminology and Green Theories of Justice is a timely text which urges the field to revisit its radical roots in social justice while broadening its disciplinary horizons to include a meaningful analysis of political economy and its role in producing and responding to environmental harm and injustice A romance of two worlds. Corelli, 1896 Why Ecosystems Matter Christopher Wills, 2024-06-26 How our growing knowledge of the evolution of complex ecosystems using the latest genetic tools can help us heal them and survive This is not another Chicken Little book about the environment Every reader already knows how overpopulation ignorance and tribalism are contributing to environmental destruction and breakdowns in public health We are all aware of the grim possibility that during our lifetimes the Earth might flip to a new ecological equilibrium threatening our very survival Why Ecosystems Matter explores an exciting new way to avoid such threats by using our exponentially growing knowledge of how evolution has shaped and is continuing to shape the complex communities of living ecosystems on which we all depend Throughout this book we will visit ecosystems where the author has worked or has had direct experience beginning with a tour of the amazing series of ecosystems that span the entire eastern slope of the Peruvian Andes This journey provides a vivid glimpse of ecosystems diversity and capacity for rapid change Next we trace how Darwin gained a fundamental insight about the origins of such ecosystem complexity He realized that when subgroups of the same species inhabit even slightly different ecosystems these subgroups will evolve in diverging directions This divergent evolution is primarily driven by interactions with the many other species in each ecosystem which are themselves evolving in different directions in the different ecosystems We explore how this subtle and fascinating concept lies at the heart of the evolutionary ferment that powers ecosystem diversity and resilience the bubbling evolutionary cauldrons of the book's title This ferment pervades ecosystems but it is especially active in their microorganism communities We then examine the evolutionary forces that power these cauldrons starting with between species interactions and tunnelling down to their causes Using real world examples we explore how the technologies available for measuring these changes are increasing exponentially in precision and scope We show how this deluge of new genetic and environmental information can be used to protect and restore a wide variety of damaged ecosystems Ecosystems have survived dramatic changes in the past often becoming even more wondrous and diverse than before We are now learning how this happens and how we can preserve this astounding ability
