Queering Family Trees Sandra Patton-Imani, 2020-06-09 Argues that significant barriers to family making exist for lesbian mothers of color in the United States One might be tempted in the afterglow of Obergefell v Hodges to believe that the battle has been won that gays and lesbians fought a tough fight and finally achieved equality in the United States through access to legal marriage But that narrative tells only one version of a very complex story about family and citizenship Queering Family Trees explores the lived experience of queer mothers in the United States drawing on over one hundred interviews with African American Latina Native American white and Asian American lesbian mothers living in a range of socioeconomic circumstances to show how they have navigated family making While the legalization of same sex marriage and adoption in 2015 has provided avenues toward equality for some couples structural and economic barriers have meant that others especially queer women of color who often have fewer financial resources have not been able to access seemingly available choices such as second parent adoptions powers of attorney and wills Sandra Patton Imani here argues that the virtual exclusion of lesbians of color from public narratives about LGBTQ families is crucial to maintaining the narrative that legal marriage for same sex couples provides access to full equality as citizens Through the lens of reproductive justice Patton Imani argues that the federal legalization of same sex marriage reinforces existing structures of inequality grounded in race gender sexuality and class Queering Family Trees explores the lives of a critically erased segment of the queer population demonstrating that the seemingly color blind solutions offered by marriage equality do not rectify such inequalities

Sexual and Reproductive Health Paul Van Look,Kristian Heggenhougen,Stella R. Quah,2011-01-10 This volume presents the highlights of current global thinking about sexual and reproductive health Major changes have taken place in the last 15 years in the way decision makers think about the subject and the manner in which programmes deliver comprehensive sexual and reproductive health services The turning point was the International Conference on Population and Development ICPD held in Cairo Egypt in 1994 ICPD was a watershed for several reasons First more than in any of the preceding United Nations population conferences the issue of population was clearly placed as being central to sustainable development Second the narrow focus on population growth the population bomb which had been a neo Malthusian concern and preoccupation ever since the Club of Rome published its 1972 report Limits to Growth was replaced by the comprehensive concept of sexual and reproductive health Third and linked to the definition and introduction of the reproductive health concept was the strong call for a paradigm shift away from a policy environment driven by demographic considerations sometimes to the point of using coercion in family planning services in order to reach demographic targets to an environment that recognized the right of individuals to make their own choices And last but not least ICPD as well as the Fourth World Conference on Women FWCW held the following year in Beijing People s Republic of China strongly emphasized that the rights of women and men to good sexual and reproductive health are firmly grounded in universal human rights Provided by publisher

Reproductive Politics and the Making of Modern India Mytheli

Sreenivas,2021-06-04 Finalist for the inaugural ACLS Open Access Book Prize Calculating the cost of life in a transnational context Beginning in the late nineteenth century India played a pivotal role in global conversations about population and reproduction In Reproductive Politics and the Making of Modern India Mytheli Sreenivas demonstrates how colonial administrators postcolonial development experts nationalists eugenicists feminists and family planners all aimed to reform reproduction to transform both individual bodies and the body politic Across the political spectrum people insisted that regulating reproduction was necessary and that limiting the population was essential to economic development This book investigates the often devastating implications of this logic which demonized some women s reproduction as the cause of national and planetary catastrophe To tell this story Sreenivas explores debates about marriage family and contraception She also demonstrates how concerns about reproduction surfaced within a range of political questions about poverty and crises of subsistence migration and claims of national sovereignty normative heterosexuality and drives for economic development Locating India at the center of transnational historical change this book suggests that Indian developments produced the very grounds over which reproduction was called into question in the modern world The open access edition of Reproductive Politics and the Making of Modern India is freely available thanks to the TOME initiative and the generous support of The Ohio State University Libraries DOI 10.6069/9780295748856

Relative Races Brigitte Fielder,2020-09-21 In Relative Races Brigitte Fielder presents an alternative theory of how race is ascribed Contrary to notions of genealogies by which race is transmitted from parents to children the examples Fielder discusses from nineteenth century literature history and popular culture show how race can follow other directions Desdemona becomes less than fully white when she is smudged with Othello s blackface a white woman becomes Native American when she is adopted by a Seneca family and a mixed race baby casts doubt on the whiteness of his mother Fielder shows that the genealogies of race are especially visible in the racialization of white women whose whiteness often depends on their ability to reproduce white family and white supremacy Using black feminist and queer theories Fielder presents readings of personal narratives novels plays stories poems and images to illustrate how interracial kinship follows non heteronormative non biological and non patrilineal models of inheritance in nineteenth century literary culture
