Requiem And Poem Without A Hero Translated By D M Thomas:

Requiem and Poem without a hero Translated by D.M. Thomas, 1976 Requiem and Poem without a Hero Anna Akhmatova, 2018-03-26 With this edition Swallow Press presents two of Anna Akhmatova's best known works that represent the poet at full maturity and that most trenchantly process the trauma she and others experienced living under Stalin's regime. Akhmatova began the three-decade process of writing Requiem in 1935 after the arrests of her son Lev Gumilev and her third husband. The autobiographical fifteen-poem cycle primarily chronicles a mother's wait lining up outside Leningrad Prison every day for seventeen months for news of her son's fate. But from this limbo Akhmatova expresses and elevates the collective grief for all the thousands vanished under the regime and for those left behind to speculate about their loved ones' fates. Similarly, Akhmatova wrote Poem without a Hero over a long period. It takes as its focus the transformation of Akhmatova's beloved city of St. Petersburg, historically a seat of art and culture, into Leningrad. Taken together, these works plumb the foremost themes for which Akhmatova is known and revered. When Ohio University Press published D. M. Thomas's translations in 1976, it was the first time they had appeared in English. Under Thomas's stewardship, Akhmatova's words ring clear as a bell.

Into the Heart of European Poetry John Taylor, 2011-12-31 John Taylor's brilliant new book examines the work of many of the major poets who have deeply marked modern and contemporary European literature. Venturing far and wide from the France in which he has lived since the late 1970s, the polyglot writer-critic not only delves into the more widely translated literatures of Italy, Greece, Germany, and Austria but also discovers impressive and overlooked work in Slovenia, Bosnia, Hungary, Finland, Norway, and the Netherlands. In this book that ranges over nearly all of Europe, including Russia, while providing this stimulating and far-ranging critical panorama, Taylor brings to light key themes of European writing: the depth of everyday life, the quest of the thing-in-itself, metaphysical aspiration and anxiety, the dialectics of negativity and affirmation, subjectivity and self-effacement, and uprootedness as a category that is as ontological as it is geographical, historical, political, or cultural. The book pays careful attention to the intersection of writing and history or politics, as several poets featured here have faced the Second World War, the Holocaust, Communism, the fall of Communism, or the war in the former Yugoslavia. Taylor gives the work of renowned, upcoming, and still little-known poets a thorough look, all the while scrutinizing recent translations of their verse. He highlights several poets who are also masters of the prose poem. He includes a few novelists who have fashioned a particularly original kind of poetic prose, that stylistic category that has proved so difficult for critics to define. Into the Heart of European Poetry should be of immediate interest to any reader curious about the aesthetic and philosophical ideas underlying major trends of contemporary European writing. In a day and age when much too little is translated and thus known about foreign literature and when Europeans themselves are pondering the common denominators of their own culture this book is as indispensable as it is engaging The Western Literary Tradition: Volume 2 Margaret L. King, 2022-03-01 This compact anthology the second volume in Margaret L. King's masterful introduction to the Western literary tradition offers in whole or in part eighty key literary works of the eighteenth, nineteenth and twentieth centuries. The texts provided here represent an unusually broad array of languages and traditions ranging across a variety of genres such as verse drama, philosophy, short and long form fiction and non-fiction including autobiography, speech, journalism and essay. This second volume shares with the first a focus on works by women; numerous texts by Latin American writers are included here as well. King's clear, engaging introductions and notes support an informed reading of the texts while extending students' knowledge of particular authors and problems of interest. The Western Literary Tradition's modest length and cost allow for the use of full-length works, many of which are available in Hackett Publishing's own well-regarded and inexpensive translations and editions alongside the anthology without adding undue cost to a student's total textbook fees.

The Word that Causes Death's Defeat Anna Andreevna Akhmatova, Анна Андреевна Ахматова, 2004-01-01 Anna Akhmatova (1889-1966), one of twentieth-century Russia's greatest poets, was viewed as a dangerous element by post-Revolution authorities. One of the few unrepentant poets to survive the Bolshevik Revolution and subsequent Stalinist purges, she set for herself the artistic task of preserving the memory of pre-Revolutionary cultural heritage and of those who had been silenced. This book presents Nancy K. Anderson's superb translations of three of Akhmatova's most important poems: Requiem, a commemoration of the victims of Stalin's Terror; The Way of All the Earth, a work to which the poet returned repeatedly over the last quarter-century of her life and which combines Old Russian motifs with the modernist search for a lost past; and Poem Without a Hero, widely admired as the poet's magnum opus. Each poem is accompanied by extensive commentary. The complex and allusive Poem Without a Hero is also provided with an extensive critical commentary that draws on the poet's manuscripts and private notebooks. Anderson offers relevant facts about the poet's life and an overview of the political and cultural forces that shaped her work. The resulting volume enables English language readers to gain a deeper level of understanding of Akhmatova's poems and how and why they were created.

Object Lessons: The Life of the Woman and the Poet in Our Time Eavan Boland, 1996-07-17 In this important prose work, one of our major poets explores through autobiography and argument a woman's life in Ireland together with a poet's work. Eavan Boland beautifully uncovers the powerful drama of how these lives affect one another, how the tradition of womanhood and the historic vocation of the poet act as revealing illuminations of the other.
