Saving the Souls of Medieval London Marie-Hélène Rousseau, 2016-04-01 St Paul s Cathedral stood at the centre of religious life in medieval London It was the mother church of the diocese a principal landowner in the capital and surrounding countryside and a theatre for the enactment of events of national importance The cathedral was also a powerhouse of commemoration and intercession where prayers and requiem masses were offered on a massive scale for the salvation of the living and the dead This spiritual role of St Paul s Cathedral was carried out essentially by the numerous chantry priests working and living in its precinct Chantries were pious foundations through which donors clerks or lay male or female endowed priests to celebrate intercessory masses for the benefit of their souls At St Paul s Cathedral they were first established in the late twelfth century and until they were dissolved in 1548 they contributed greatly to the daily life of the cathedral They enhanced the liturgical services offered by the cathedral increased the number of the clerical members associated with it and intensified relations between the cathedral and the city of London Using the large body of material from the cathedral archives this book investigates the chantries and their impacts on the life services and clerical community of the cathedral from their foundation in the early thirteenth century to the dissolution It demonstrates the flexibility and adaptability of these pious foundations and the various contributions they made to medieval society and sheds light on the men who played a role which until the abolition of the chantries in 1548 was seen to be crucial to the spiritual well being of medieval London     The Topographer and Genealogist John Gough Nichols,1858     A History of the Holy Eucharist in Great Britain Thomas Edward Bridgett,1908     A New English Dictionary on Historical Principles J.
