River Notes Barry Holstun Lopez, 1979 Lopez takes us to a country where a nameless river flows through an animated world of herons bears and human beings Desert Notes Barry Holstun Lopez, 1990 Here for the first time in one volume are two of Lopez's masterpieces River Notes and Desert Notes From the thundering power of the river's swift current to the stillness of clear freshwater pools to desert springs birds and wind and rattlesnakes and the terrible intrusion of man Lopez allows us to share moments of intense personal experience as man tries to come to terms with the Earth's landscape and with his own existence The Heron Dance Book of Love and Gratitude Annie O'Shaughnessy, 2008 Other Country James Perrin Warren, 2015-12-03 The award winning American environmental writer Barry Lopez has traveled extensively in remote and populated parts of the world Lopez's fiction and nonfiction focus on the relationship between the physical landscape and human culture posing abiding questions about ethics intimacy and place Other Country presents a full scale treatment of Lopez's work James Perrin Warren examines the relationship between Lopez's writing and the work of several contemporary artists composers and musicians whose works range from landscape photography painting and graphic arts to earth art ceramics and avant garde music The author demonstrates Lopez's role in creating this community of artists who have led cultural change and shows that Lopez's writing and his engagement with the natural world creates an other country by redefining boundaries rediscovering a place and renewing our perceptions of landscapes Warren's critique examines manuscripts and typescripts from the 1960s to the present interviews with Lopez conducted from 2008 to 2013 and interviews with artists Part 1 focuses on the relationship between Lopez's storytelling which he calls a conversation with the land and Robert Adams's landscape photography For both Lopez and Adams a worthy artistic expression serves the cultural memory of a community reminding us how to behave properly toward other people and the land Part 2 looks at the collaborative friendship of Lopez and visual artist Alan Magee tracking the development of Lopez's short stories through a consideration of Magee's career Part 3 moves farther afield discussing Lopez's relationship to Richard Long's earth art Richard Rowland's ceramics and John Luther Adams's soundscapes Other Country reveals the dynamic relationships between Lopez considered by many the most important environmental writer working in America and the artistic community who seek to explore the spiritual and ethical dimensions of an honorable and attentive relationship to the land and thus offer profound implications for the future of the planet Land of Rivers Peter C. Mancall, 1996 Rivers run deeply through the American consciousness American Indians speculated about their origins in myths and legends Settlers and adventurers exulted in their promise Poets artists and songwriters paid tribute to their beauty Engineers exploited their potential and conservationists pleaded for their protection The diversity of waterways the range of their idiosyncracies and the variety of responses they have inspired evoke the richness and complexity of the North American continent For everyone who has listened to a river's song or floated along its surface or played on its banks here is a book of images and voices which does justice to the beauty and diversity of rivers The selections range from Samuel Sewell's mournful praise of the River Merrymak to John Wesley Powell's triumphant narrative on exploring the Colorado River from Walt Whitman's ode on crossing Brooklyn Ferry to Oscar Hammerstein's melodic tribute to Ol Man River More than fifty descriptions meditations and songs with brief introductory notes are balanced by sixty illustrations including the elegant landscape paintings of Albert Bierstadt the landscapes of Frederic Church and the haunting photographs of Ansel Adams

Conversations with Barry Lopez
William E. Tydeman,2013-08-26 Known as an advocate for the endangered earth Barry Lopez is one of America s preeminent writers on nature This invigorating book invites readers to sit down with Lopez and his friend William E Tydeman to engage with their conversations about activism the life of the mind and all things literary Even readers who think they know everything there is to know about Lopez will learn much from this richly informative book both from Tydeman's concise biography of Lopez and from the dialogue about Lopez's ideas and experiences. The three interviews and Tydeman's reflections on other discussions with Lopez gathered here address nature, human beings' relationship to the land, the tension between political activism and the life of the intellectual, memory and reconciliation, the artist's social responsibility and the business of authorship. What is the nature of the relationship between the writer and the reader? Lopez asks. It's reciprocal, contractual and moral. Lopez's thoughts on the importance of authenticity will resonate with every reader or writer, as will his deep commitment to story in all his work. He and Tydeman engage in illuminating exchanges on style and genre, the publication process and relationships among authors, editors and publishers. Both men are interested in photography and its relationship to writing, a subject on which they offer thought-provoking comments. A comprehensive annotated bibliography of Lopez's writings by archivist Diane Warner rounds out the volume.

Nature's Kindred Spirits James I. McClintock, 1994-04-01

In Nature's Kindred Spirits, James McClintock shows how their mystical experiences with the wild led to dramatic conversions in their thinking and behavior. By embracing the ecstasy of nature, they reject modern alienation and spiritual confusion. From Aldo Leopold, America's most important conservationist and author of the classic A Sand County Almanac, to Pulitzer Prize winners Annie Dillard and Gary Snyder, and defenders of the desert, Joseph Wood Krutch and Edward Abbey, these writers share a common vision that harkens back to Henry David Thoreau and John Muir. To nineteenth-century Romantic ideals, they add the authority of modern ecological science. Collectively, they have elevated nature's importance in American culture, shaping the growth of the environmental movement and influencing American environmental policies. Widely admired among educated readers but relatively neglected by the literary establishment, these writers unite the experiential with the metaphysical, the ordinary with the sacred, the personal with the public, and the natural with the social. Using ecology as a touchstone, McClintock further draws connections among science, politics, religion, and philosophy to create an enlightening overview of the work of these kindred spirits.

The Land's Wild Music Mark Tredinnick, 2011-04-14

The Land's Wild Music explores the home terrains and the writing of four great American writers of place: Barry Lopez, Peter Matthiessen, Terry Tempest Williams, and James Galvin. In their work and its relationship with their home places, Tredinnick, an Australian writer, searches for answers to such questions: such as whether it's possible for a writer to make an authentic witness of a place, how one captures the landscape as it truly is, and how one joins the place in witness so that its lyric becomes one's own and enters into one's own work. He asks what it might mean to enact an ecological imagination of the world and whether it might be possible to see the work and the writer as part of the place itself. The work is a meditation on the nature of landscape and its power to shape the lives and syntax of men and women. It is animated by the author's encounters with Lopez, Matthiessen, Williams, and Galvin, by critical readings of their work, and by the author's engagement with the landscapes that have shaped these writers and their writing: the Cascades, Long Island, the Colorado Plateau, and the high prairies of the Rocky Mountains Tredinnick seeks the spring of nature writing deep in the nature of a place itself carried in a writer s wild self inside and resonated over and over again at the desk until it is a work in which the place itself sings
