Andrei Panibratov, 2013-06-19 Russian multinationals are playing an increasingly important role in the world economy, particularly in some key sectors such as oil, gas and metallurgy. At the same time, Russian multinationals differ in many respects from multinationals from other countries in that they often receive special treatment from the Russian government, and because of past experiences, international investors are often reluctant to invest in them. This book presents a comprehensive overview of Russian multinationals. It discusses the rise of Russian multinationals, examines Russian multinationals' activities in key sectors, analyses the relationship between Russian multinationals and the Russian government and between Russian multinationals and international investors, and concludes by assessing how Russian multinationals are likely to develop in the future. Policy-Making for Russian Industry Stephen Fortescue, 1997-03-27 A description of the contemporary Russian economy on the basis of an analysis of economic policy-making structures and procedures. The empirical detail is concentrated in the heavy industry sector, although the relationships between all sectors receive attention. All sources of policy-making input are examined: the presidency and central governmental agencies, sectoral state agencies, industrial representative associations, parliament and the regions, and individual enterprises. Policy-making procedures receive considerable attention as part of an effort to distinguish sharply between formal and informal styles of policy-making.

Emerging Market Finance Bang Nam Jeon, Ji Wu, 2020-09-28 This edited volume of International Finance Review examines the rising challenges facing emerging financial markets and institutions. It provides significant insight and policy implications on topics including global banking risk and contagion, stock market behaviour, financial inclusion in the major emerging economies and more. The Institutional Economics of Russia's Transformation Anton N.

Oleinik, 2017-11-30 This book applies institutional theory to the analysis of the post-Soviet Russian economy to bring to light the reasons why reforms have gone awry. Emphasis is put on the elements missed in the early blueprints of reforms.

constraints embodied in formal and especially informal institutions Other aspects considered include the dominant model of power relationships and the networks of localized and personalized relationships among economic actors The first part provides a general description of the core concepts of institutional theory including both the old institutionalism of T Veblen and J Commons and the new institutional economics of R Coase O Williamson and D North and in the second part an institutional model of the post Soviet Russian economy is developed In the course of the analysis the authors discuss such unresolved issues as post privatization development in Russia and validity of the Coase theorem in the post Soviet institutional context Rich empirical data grounds the discussion throughout
