American Animated Cartoons of the Vietnam Era Christopher P. Lehman, 2014-01-10 In the first four years of U S involvement in the Vietnam War 1961-64 Hollywood did not dramatize the current military conflict but rather romanticized earlier ones Cartoons reflected only previous trends in U S culture and animators comically but patriotically remembered the Revolutionary War the Civil War and both World Wars In the early years of military escalation in Vietnam Hollywood was simply not ready to illustrate America's contemporary radicalism and race relations in live action or animated films But this trend changed when US participation dramatically increased between 1965 and 1968 In the year of the Tet Offensive and the killings of the Rev Martin Luther King Jr and Senator Robert Kennedy the violence of the Vietnam War era caught up with animators This book discusses the evolution of U S animation from militaristic and violent to liberal and pacifist and the role of the Vietnam War in this development The book chronologically documents theatrical and television cartoon studios changing responses to U S participation in the Vietnam War between 1961 and 1973 using as evidence the array of artistic commentary about the federal government the armed forces the draft peace negotiations the counterculture movement racial issues and pacifism produced during this period The study further reveals the extent to which cartoon violence served as a barometer of national sentiment on Vietnam When many Americans supported the war in the 1960s scenes of bombings and gunfire were prevalent in animated films As Americans began to favor withdrawal militaristic images disappeared from the cartoon Soon animated cartoons would serve as enlightening artifacts of Vietnam War era ideology In addition to the assessment of primary film materials this book draws upon interviews with people involved in the production Vietnam era films Film critics responding in their newspaper columns to the era's innovative cartoon sociopolitical commentary also serve as invaluable references Three informative appendices contribute to the work and Other Folk Tales and Fairy Stories Told in Armenia A. G. Seklemian, 1898 The Swedish Fairy Book Various Authors, 1921

Once upon a time there was a poor widow who found an egg under a pile of brush as she was gathering kindlings in the forest. She took it and placed it under a goose and when the goose had hatched it a little boy slipped out of the shell. The widow had him baptized Kn s and such a lad was a rarity for when no more than five years old he was grown and taller than the tallest man. And he ate in proportion for he would swallow a whole batch of bread at a single sitting and at last the poor widow had to go to the commissioners for the relief of the poor in order to get food for him. But the town authorities said she must apprentice the boy at a trade for he was big enough and strong enough to earn his own keep. So Kn s was apprenticed to a smith for three years. For his pay he asked a suit of clothes and a sword each year a sword of five hundredweights the first year one of ten hundredweights the second year and one of fifteen hundredweights the third year. But after he had been in the smithy only a few days the smith was glad to give him all three suits and all three swords at once for he smashed all his iron and steel to bits. Kn s received his suits and swords went to a knight s estate and hired himself out as a serving man. Once he was told to go to the forest to gather firewood with the rest of the men but sat at the table eating long after the others had driven off and when he had at last satisfied his hunger and was ready to start he saw the two young oxen he was to drive waiting for him. But he let them stand and went into the forest seized the two largest trees growing there tore them out by the roots took one tree under each arm and carried them back to the estate. And he got there long before the rest for they had to chop down the trees saw them up and load them on the carts. On the following day Kn s had to thresh. First he hunted up the largest stone he could find and rolled it around on the grain so that all the corn was loosened from the ears. Then he had to separate the grain from the chaff. So he made a hole in each side of the roof of the barn and stood outside the barn and blew and the chaff and straw flew out into the yard and the corn remained lying in a heap on the floor. His master happened to come along laid a ladder against the barn climbed up and looked down into one of the holes. But Kn s was still blowing and the wind caught his master and he fell down and was nearly killed on the stone pavement of the court. He s a dangerous fellow thought his master. It would be a good thing to be rid of him otherwise he might do away with all of them and besides he ate so that it was all one could do to keep him fed. So he called Kn s in and paid him his wages for the full year on condition that he leave. Kn s agreed but said he must first be decently provisioned for his journey. So he was allowed to go into the store house himself and there he hoisted a flitch of bacon on each shoulder slid a batch of bread under each arm and took leave. But his master loosed the vicious bull on him. Kn s however grasped him by the horns and flung him over his shoulder and thus he went off. Then he came to a thicket where he slaughtered the bull roasted him and ate him together with a batch of bread. And when he had done this he had about taken the edge off his hunger.
