

THE SEMIOTICS OF THEATRE

Patrice Pavis

This article is reprinted with permission from the French original published in Versus (No. 21, 1978). It is one of a number of papers published dealing with five specific questions posed by Marco de Marinis on the semiotics of theatre. The version which appears was translated by Tjaart Potgieter.

1. What is, in your opinion, the proper relation between the "semiotics of theatre" and "theatre studies" (history of theatre, theory of theatre, theatrical aesthetics, etc)?

This question brings to mind the famous debate, instigated by Saussure and continued by Barthes, about the relationship between linguistics and semiology: are linguistics only part of "this general science", semiology, of which the laws "shall be applicable to linguistics" (Saussure), or does semiology, on the other hand, model itself on the general pattern of linguistics (Barthes)? The semiology of the theatre is a recent discipline - its theoretical formulation can be placed historically (the linguistic Circle of Prague in the 'thirties) - and it is to be expected that it should try to take its place in the spectrum of studies of the performance, without invalidating the other approaches, but also not allowing itself to be devalued to the rank of a methodological "gadget" which is content to employ linguistic terminology metaphorically in connection with some mythical "theatrical communication", and sheds no new light on the performance.

In spite of the terms sciences du spectacle or Theaterwissenschaft, it should be clear from the outset that "theatre studies" could by no means claim a scientific status comparable to that of linguistics. The semiology of theatre, therefore, can neither use, by extension, the rigorous conceptual apparatus of linguistical studies, nor share their epistemological objective. What follows is that we need to ask whether the semiology of theatre is an autonomous discipline (like, for example, sociology, botany, etc.) or rather a method and an attitude towards the performance. In the latter hypothesis, semiology would not duplicate the existing approaches, but would integrate itself with them by assimilating into its theory the known results of those disciplines. It should be at the same time the propaedeutics and epistemology of the various theatre studies, reflecting on their conditions of validity, and the possibility of using the results of one area to interpret the other.
