Women and the Death Penalty in the United States, 1900-1998 Kathleen O'Shea, 1999-02-28 Using a historical framework this book offers not only the penal history of the death penalty in the states that have given women the death penalty but it also retells the stories of the women who have been executed and those currently awaiting their fate on death row This work takes a historical look at women and the death penalty in the United States from 1900 to 1998 It gives the reader a look at the penal codes in the various states regarding the death penalty and the personal stories of women who have been executed or who are currently on death row As Americans continue to debate the enforcement of the death penalty the issues of race and gender as they relate to the death penalty are also debated This book offers a unique perspective to a recurring sociopolitical issue Reauthorization of the USA Patriot Act (continued) United States.

Congress. House. Committee on the Judiciary, 2005 Torture and Impunity Alfred W. McCoy, 2012-08-24 Many Americans have condemned the enhanced interrogation techniques used in the War on Terror as a transgression of human rights But the United States has done almost nothing to prosecute past abuses or prevent future violations Tracing this knotty contradiction from the 1950s to the present historian Alfred W McCoy probes the political and cultural dynamics that have made impunity for torture a bipartisan policy of the U S government During the Cold War McCoy argues the U S Central Intelligence Agency covertly funded psychological experiments designed to weaken a subject's resistance to interrogation After the 9 11 terrorist attacks the CIA revived these harsh methods while U S media was flooded with seductive images that normalized torture for many Americans Ten years later the U S had failed to punish the perpetrators or the powerful who commanded them and continued to exploit intelligence extracted under torture by surrogates from Somalia to Afghanistan Although Washington has publicly distanced itself from torture disturbing images from the prisons at Abu Ghraib and Guantanamo are seared into human memory doing lasting damage to America's moral authority as a world leader

Women as War Criminals Izabela Steflja, Jessica Trisko Darden, 2020-09-08 Women war criminals are far more common than we think From the Holocaust to ethnic cleansing in the Balkans to the Rwandan genocide women have perpetrated heinous crimes Few have been punished These women go unnoticed because their very existence challenges our assumptions about war and about women Biases about women as peaceful and innocent prevent us from seeing women as war criminals and prevent postconflict justice systems from assigning women blame Women as War Criminals argues that women are just as capable as men of committing war crimes and crimes against humanity In addition to unsettling assumptions about women as agents of peace and reconciliation the book highlights the gendered dynamics of law and demonstrates that women are adept at using gender instrumentally to fight for better conditions and reduced sentences when war ends The book presents the legal cases of four women the President Biljana Plavic the Minister Pauline Nyiramasuhuko the Soldier Lynndie England and the Student Hoda Muthana Each woman's complex identity influenced her treatment by legal systems and her ability to mount a gendered defense before the court Justice as Steflja and Trisko Darden show is not blind to gender SMU Law Review ,1997 Law & Inequality ,2012 Information in International Law José M. Reis,2024-10-16 Examining state behavior this book sheds light on the often overlooked role of information production and diffusion in international law and relations Most theories of public international law and state behavior rely on a certain degree of international law related information such as an international legal ruling being made public and diffused to reach various key actors such as third states or domestic actors However while assumptions about information being produced and diffused permeate international legal scholarly work these assumptions have not been systematically and empirically evaluated Based on an empirical analysis the author challenges prevailing assumptions by systematically evaluating the accessibility and dissemination of crucial international law related information such as treaty negotiation documents or legal rulings Using a variety of quantitative case studies on key stages of international lawmaking and covering various issue areas from human rights to trade law each chapter traverses three critical levels of analysis namely whether international law information is public and transparent whether the information is salient and reaches the general public and how the information is framed by the media and political elites The book will appeal to students researchers and scholars of law political science and economics as well as policy makers interested in a better understanding of information production and diffusion in international law and the impact of public opinion on compliance with international law Delivered from Evil Ron Franscell,2011-01-01 A 12 year old boy cowers in his closet while a lunatic killer slaughters his family a nursing student unwittingly opens her home to the serial killer on her front porch an 11 year old girl drifts alone at sea on a flimsy cork raft for almost four days after a mass murderer kills her vacationing family aboard a chartered yacht a brave firefighter suddenly finds himself in the crosshairs of a racist sniper almost nine stories above the ground And astonishingly they all survived From Howard Unruh s 1949 shooting rampage through a quiet New Jersey neighborhood to Louisiana serial killer Derrick Todd Lee s reign of terror in 2002 the corpses piled up and few lived to tell the horror Now award winning journalist Ron Franscell explores the wounded hearts and minds of the ordinary people these monsters couldn t kill His mesmerizing accounts crackle with gritty details that put the reader in the midst of the carnage and offer a front row seat on the complex painful process of surviving the rest of their haunted lives In intimate gripping prose Franscell takes the reader on a pulse pounding dash through the murky intersection of pure evil and the potency of the human spirit This journey into the darkest corners of the American crime scape is a penetrating work of literary journalism by a writer hailed as one of the most powerful new voices in true crime The Color of Crime Katheryn Russell-Brown,1999-09 As if crime and race in the US were not volatile enough issues independently there is their explosive interface This is the territory staked out by Russell criminology and criminal justice U of Maryland who probes racial stereotypes some perpetuated by scientific racism the hoaxes they have spawned differing views of police actions by race and affirmative race law A public police contact survey and case summaries of recent racial Razack, 2022-04-19 How Western nations have consolidated their whiteness through the figure of the Muslim in the post 9 11 world While much has been written about post 9 11 anti Muslim racism often termed Islamophobia insufficient attention has been given to how anti Muslim racism operates through law and is a vital part of law s protection of whiteness This book fills this gap while also providing a unique new global perspective on white supremacy Sherene H Razack a leading critical race and feminist scholar takes an innovative approach by situating law within media discourses and historical and contemporary realities We may think of law as logical but argues Razack its logic breaks down when the subject is Muslim Tracing how white subjects and majority white nations in the post 9 11 era have consolidated their whiteness through the figure of the Muslim Razack examines four sites of anti Muslim racism efforts by American evangelical Christians to ban Islam in the school curriculum Canadian and European bans on Muslim women s clothing racial science and the sentencing of Muslims as terrorists and American national memory of the torture of Muslims during wars and occupations Arguing that nothing has to make sense when the subject is Muslim she maintains that these legal and cultural sites reveal the dread phobia hysteria and desire that mark the encounter between Muslims and the West Through the prism of racism Nothing Has to Make Sense argues that the figure of the Muslim reveals a world divided between the deserving and the disposable where people of European origin are the former and all others are confined in various ways to regimes of disposability Emerging from critical race theory and bridging with Islamophobia critical religious studies it demonstrates that anti Muslim racism is a revelatory window into the operation of white supremacy as a global force Orthodox Churches and Politics in Southeastern Europe Sabrina P.
