Servants And Their Masters A Novel:

Servants and Their Masters Fergus Reid Buckley, 1975-01-01 Servants and Paternalism in the Works of Maria Edgeworth and Elizabeth Gaskell Julie Nash, 2017-11-30 Writing during periods of dramatic social change Maria Edgeworth and Elizabeth Gaskell were both attracted to the idea of radical societal transformation at the same time that their writings express nostalgia for a traditional paternalistic ruling class The author shows how this tension is played out especially through the characters of servants in short fiction and novels such as Edgeworth's Castle Rackrent Belinda and Helen and Gaskell's North and South and Cranford Servant characters the author contends enable these writers to give voice to the contradictions inherent in the popular paternalistic philosophy of their times because the situation of domestic servitude itself embodies such inconsistencies Servants whose labor was essential to the economic and social function of eighteenth and nineteenth century British society made up the largest category of workers in England by the nineteenth century and yet were expected to be socially invisible At the same time they lived in the same houses as their masters and mistresses and were privy to the most intimate details of their lives Both Edgeworth and Gaskell created servant characters who challenge the social hierarchy thus exposing the potential for dehumanization and corruption inherent in the paternalistic philosophy the author's study opens up important avenues for future scholars of women's fiction in the nineteenth century

The Novels of Samuel Richardson, Esq. Viz. Pamela, Clarissa Harlowe, and Sir Charles Grandison Samuel Richardson, 1824 Novel Beginnings Patricia Meyer Spacks, 2008-10-01 In this study intended for general readers eminent critic Patricia Meyer Spacks provides a fresh engaging account of the early history of the English novel Novel Beginnings departs from the traditional narrow focus on the development of the realistic novel to emphasize the many kinds of experimentation that marked the genre in the eighteenth century before its conventions were firmly established in the nineteenth Treating well known works like Tom Jones and Tristram Shandy in conjunction with less familiar texts such as Sarah Fielding's The Cry a kind of hybrid novel and play and Jane Barker's A Patch Work Screen for the Ladies a novel of adventure replete with sentimental verse and numerous subnarratives the book evokes the excitement of a multifaceted and unpredictable process of growth and change Investigating fiction throughout the 1700s Spacks delineates the individuality of specific texts while suggesting connections among novels She sketches a wide range of forms and themes including Providential narratives psychological thrillers romances clef sentimental parables political allegories Gothic romances and many others These multiple narrative experiments show the impossibility of thinking of eighteenth century fiction simply as a precursor to the nineteenth century novel Spacks shows Instead the vast variety of engagements with the problems of creating fiction demonstrates that literary history by no means inexorable might have taken quite a different course
