Manifesto For A Black Revolutionary Part:

Manifesto for a Black Revolutionary Party James Boggs, 1969 Revolutionaries to Race Leaders Cedric Johnson, The Black Power movement represented a key turning point in American politics Disenchanted by the hollow progress of federal desegregation during the 1960s many black citizens and leaders across the United States demanded meaningful self determination The popular movement they created was marked by a vigorous artistic renaissance militant political action and fierce ideological debate Exploring the major political and intellectual currents from the Black Power era to the present Cedric Johnson reveals how black political life gradually conformed to liberal democratic capitalism and how the movement s most radical aims the rejection of white aesthetic standards redefinition of black identity solidarity with the Third World and anticapitalist revolution were gradually eclipsed by more moderate aspirations Although Black Power activists transformed the face of American government Johnson contends that the evolution of the movement as a form of ethnic politics restricted the struggle for social justice to the world of formal politics Johnson offers a compelling and theoretically sophisticated critique of the rhetoric and strategies that emerged in this period Drawing on extensive archival research he reinterprets the place of key intellectual figures such as Harold Cruse and Amiri Baraka and influential organizations including the African Liberation Support Committee the National Black Political Assembly and the National Black Independent Political Party in postsegregation black politics while at the same time identifying the contradictions of Black Power radicalism itself Documenting the historical retreat from radical democratic struggle Revolutionaries to Race Leaders ultimately calls for the renewal of popular struggle and class conscious politics Cedric Johnson is assistant professor of political science at Hobart and William Smith Colleges The Revolution Will Not Be Theorized Errol A. Henderson, 2019-01-01 Studies the revolutionary theory of the Black Power Movement in the 1960s through 70s placing it within the broader social theory of black revolution in the United States since the nineteenth century The study of the impact of Black Power Movement BPM activists and organizations in the 1960s through 70s has largely been confined to their role as proponents of social change but they were also theorists of the change they sought In The Revolution Will Not Be Theorized Errol A Henderson explains this theoretical contribution and places it within a broader social theory of black revolution in the United States dating back to nineteenth century black intellectuals These include black nationalists feminists and anti imperialists activists and artists of the Harlem Renaissance and early Cold War era black revolutionists The book first elaborates W E B Du Bois s thesis of the General Strike during the Civil War Alain Locke s thesis relating black culture to political and economic change Harold Cruse s work on black cultural revolution and Malcolm X s advocacy of black cultural and political revolution in the United States Henderson then critically examines BPM revolutionists theorizing regarding cultural and political revolution and the relationship between them in order to realize their revolutionary objectives Focused more on importing theory from third world contexts that were dramatically different from the United States BPM revolutionists largely ignored the theoretical
