An abstract drawing on a light-colored background. It features a complex network of red and black lines. A prominent red line starts from the top left, curves downwards, and then extends horizontally across the middle of the page. Another red line starts from the top right, curves downwards, and then extends horizontally across the middle of the page. These two red lines intersect in the center. Black lines are scattered throughout, some following the red lines and others forming independent shapes. There are also some faint, light-colored scribbles in the background.
