Alexis Catsambis, Ben Ford, Donny L. Hamilton, 2014-02 This title is a comprehensive survey of maritime archaeology as seen through the eyes of nearly fifty scholars at a time when maritime archaeology has established itself as a mature branch of archaeology Archaeology of East Asian Shipbuilding Jun Kimura, 2016-04-12 North American Society for Oceanic History John Lyman Book Award in Naval and Maritime Reference Works and Published Primary Sources Honorable Mention In this innovative study Jun Kimura integrates historical data with archaeological findings to examine a wide array of eleventh through nineteenth century ships from China Korea and Japan Chinese junks and Japanese sailing ships were known throughout the world and this work illustrates why their innovative designs have survived the centuries Kimura presents an extensive dataset of excavated coastal and oceangoing ships that traveled the Yellow Sea the East China Sea and the South China Sea Three detailed case studies include the Shinan and Quanzhou wrecks and the Takashima underwater site Using travel documents cargo manifests iconographic paintings and other descriptive resources as well as the archaeological evidence of hull components wooden timbers and iron remains Kimura sheds new light on East Asian shipbuilding traditions

Maritime Archaeology and Social Relations Virginia Dellino-Musgrave, 2006-11-22 This book analyses British action in the Southern hemisphere in the late 18th century examining two Royal Navy ships one off the Argentinean coast and one off the Southeast Australian coast The author goes beyond a descriptive analysis of wrecks by treating them and their cargoes as embodiments of 18th century social relations The book challenges traditional approaches providing a perspective that emphasises the richness diversity and complexity of British action An Archaeology of Australia Since 1788 Susan Lawrence, Peter Davies, 2010-10-21 This volume provides an important new synthesis of archaeological work carried out in Australia on the post contact period It draws on dozens of case studies from a wide geographical and temporal span to explore the daily life of Australians in settings such as convict stations goldfields whalers camps farms pastoral estates and urban neighbourhoods The different conditions experienced by various groups of people are described in detail including rich and poor convicts and their superiors Aboriginal people women children and migrant groups The social themes of gender class ethnicity status and identity inform every chapter demonstrating that these are vital parts of human experience and cannot be separated from archaeologies of industry urbanization and culture contact The book engages with a wide range of contemporary discussions and debates within Australian history and the international discipline of historical archaeology The colonization of Australia was part of the international expansion of European hegemony in the eighteenth and nineteenth century The material discussed here is thus fundamentally part of the global processes of colonization and the creation of settler societies the industrial revolution the development of mass consumer culture and the emergence of national identities Drawing out these themes and integrating them with the analysis of archaeological materials highlights the vital relevance of archaeology in modern society

Digging It Up Down Under Claire Smith, Heather Burke, 2007-03-14 This field manual provides essential background information for those interested in undertaking archaeology in Australia Professional archaeologists provide their personal tips for working in each state and territory dealing with a living heritage working with Aboriginal peoples and coping with Australian conditions Grounded in the social political and ethical issues that inform Australian archaeology today this book is also packed with practical advice

Formation Processes of Maritime Archaeological Landscapes Alicia Caporaso, 2017-01-05 Research into the anthropogenic and taphonomic processes that affect the formation of maritime archaeological resources has grown significantly over the last decade in both theory and the analysis of specific sites and associated material culture The addition of interdisciplinary inquiry investigative techniques and analytical modeling from fields such as engineering oceanography and marine biology have increased our ability to trace the unique pathways through which archaeological sites progress from initial deposition to the present yet can also link individual sites into an integrated socio environmental maritime landscape This edited volume presents a global perspective of current research in maritime archaeological landscape formation processes In addition to classically considered submerged material culture and geography or those that can be accessed by traditional underwater methodology case studies include less often considered sites and landscapes These landscapes for example require archaeologists to use geophysical marine survey equipment to characterize extensive areas of the seafloor or go above the surface to access maritime archaeological resources that have received less scholarly attention

The Archaeology of Capitalism in Colonial Contexts Sarah K. Croucher,Lindsay Weiss,2011-08-10 The Archaeology of Capitalism in Colonial Contexts Postcolonial Historical Archaeologies explores the complex interplay of colonial and capital formations throughout the modern world The authors present a critical approach to this topic trying to shift discourses in the theoretical framework of historical archaeology of capitalism and colonialism through the use of postcolonial theory This work does not suggest a new theoretical framework as such but rather suggests the importance of revising key theoretical terms employed within historical archaeology arguing for new engagements with postcolonial theory of relevance to all historical archaeologists as the field de centers from its traditional locations Examining case studies from North America South America the Caribbean Africa Australia the Middle East and Europe the chapters offer an unusually broad ranging geography of historical archaeology with each focused on the interplay between the particularisms of colonial structures and the development of capitalism and wider theoretical discussions Every author also draws attention to the ramifications of their case studies in the contemporary world With its cohesive theoretical framework this volume is a key resource for those interested in decolonizing historical archaeology in theory and praxis and for those interested in the development of modern global dynamics

Underwater Cultural Heritage Elena Perez-Alvaro,2019-05-07 Underwater Cultural Heritage investigates cases of underwater cultural heritage exploring ethical issues that have never been studied before A vast cultural heritage lies beneath the sea including the archaeological remains of more than three million vessels as well as historic monuments and whole cities In addition climate change population growth and current events around the world mean that new underwater cultural heritage is being created faster than ever before It is therefore essential that the ethical issues related to the management of such heritage are considered now especially as decisions made now will bestow the heritage with a value and will establish legal frameworks that could be used either to protect or harm underwater heritage in the future Considering a range of challenges related to underwater cultural heritage including preservation management use sustainability valuation politics identity human rights and intangible heritage the book presents case studies that both illustrate the key ethical issues and also offer possible solutions to help navigate such challenges The book will also explore the various legislative instruments protecting underwater cultural heritage and emphasise the importance of revising and updating legal frameworks whilst also taking into account ethical concerns that may expose cultural heritage to more serious menaces Underwater Cultural Heritage draws on case studies from around the globe and as such should be of great interest to academics researchers and students working in heritage studies archaeology history politics and sustainability It should also be appealing to heritage practitioners and policymakers who want to learn more about the issues surrounding not only management of underwater cultural heritage but management of cultural heritage in general Manual for Activities

Directed at Underwater Cultural Heritage Thijs J. Maarleveld, Ulrike Guérin, Barbara Egger, 2013 Writing Material Culture History Anne Gerritsen, Giorgio Riello, 2021-02-25 Writing Material Culture History 2e examines the methodologies used in the historical study of material culture Looking at archaeology anthropology art history and literary studies the book provides students with a fundamental understanding of the relationship between artefacts and historical narratives The book addresses the role of museums the impact of the digital age and the representations of objects in public history bringing together students and specialists from around the world This new edition includes A new substantive introduction from the editors providing a useful roadmap for students and specialists A more balanced and easy to use structure including methodological chapters and object in focus chapters consisting of case studies for classroom discussion New chapters showing greater engagement with 20th century material culture non European artefacts and the definitions and limits of material culture as a discipline Offers global coverage and discussion of both the early modern and modern periods Writing Material Culture History 2e is an essential tool for students seeking to understand the potential of objects to re cast established historical narratives in new and exciting ways Archaeological Perspectives on Conflict and Warfare in Australia and the Pacific Geoffrey Clark, Mirani Litster, 2022-03-08 When James Boswell famously lamented the irrationality of war in 1777 he noted the universality of conflict across history and across space even reaching what he described as the gentle and benign southern ocean nations This volume discusses archaeological evidence of conflict from those southern oceans from Palau and Guam to Australia Vanuatu and Tonga the Marquesas Easter Island and New Zealand The evidence for conflict and warfare encompasses defensive earthworks on Palau fortifications on Tonga and intricate pa sites in New Zealand It reports evidence of reciprocal sacrifice to appease deities in several island nations and skirmishes and smaller scale conflicts including in Easter Island This volume traces aspects of colonial era conflict in Australia and frontier battles in Vanuatu and discusses depictions of World War II materiel in the rock art of Arnhem Land Among the causes and motives discussed in these papers are pressure on resources the ebb and flow of significant climate events and the significant association of conflict with culture contact The volume necessarily selective eclectic and wide ranging includes an incisive introduction that situates the evidence persuasively in the broader scholarship addressing the history of human warfare

International Handbook of Historical Archaeology Teresita Majewski, David Gaimster, 2009-06-07

In studying the past archaeologists have focused on the material remains of our ancestors Prehistorians generally have only artifacts to study and rely on the diverse material record for their understanding of past societies and their behavior Those involved in studying historically documented cultures not only have extensive material remains but also contemporary texts images and a range of investigative technologies to enable them to build a broader and more reflexive picture of how past societies communities and individuals operated and behaved Increasingly historical archaeology refers not to a particular period place or a method but rather an approach that interrogates the tensions between artifacts and texts irrespective of context In short historical archaeology provides direct evidence for how humans have shaped the world we live in today Historical archaeology is a branch of global archaeology that has grown in the last 40 years from its North American base into an increasingly global community of archaeologists each studying their area of the world in a historical context Where historical archaeology started as part of the study of the post Columbian societies of the United States and Canada it has now expanded to interface with the post medieval archaeologies of Europe and the diverse post imperial experiences of Africa Latin America and Australasia The 36 essays in the International Handbook of Historical Archaeology have been specially commissioned from the leading researchers in their fields creating a wide ranging digest of the increasingly global field of historical archaeology The volume is divided into two sections the first reviewing the key themes issues and approaches of historical archaeology today and the second containing a series of case studies charting the development and current state of historical archaeological practice around the world This key reference work captures the energy and diversity of this global discipline today
