Taylor, 2010-01-15 A rich exploration of the possibilities of representation after Modernism Mark Taylor's new study charts the logic and continuity of Mark Tansey's painting by considering the philosophical ideas behind Tansey's art Taylor examines how Tansey uses structuralist and poststructuralist thought as well as catastrophe chaos and complexity theory to create paintings that please the eye while provoking the mind Taylor's clear accounts of thinkers ranging from Plato Kant and Hegel to Merleau Ponty Derrida and de Man will be an invaluable contribution to students and teachers of art Sounding the Abyss Roger V. Bell, 2004-01-01 Sounding the Abyss achieves an analysis that extends Cavell's already rich range of work into surprising new directions in postcolonialism multiculturalism and general cultural criticism The work never strays from its concern with reassessing the divide between philosophy's analytic and Continental factions David Bowie in Darkness Nicholas P. Greco, 2015-07-04 As an artist David Bowie was widely considered a chameleon shedding one persona to create another and thus staying popular relevant and compelling In reality Bowie was able to work with the resources around him to create something new causing many to see him as a sort of lone artist rather than a collaborator in the creation of his own celebrity Mid career Bowie began presenting himself as a figure in darkness progressively more hidden He required an audience for his continued celebrity but worked against that audience in the creation or rather the destruction of his star image This tension is made clear in his 1995 album 1 Outside which has him performing for an audience while simultaneously shunning them This book explores Bowie's negotiation of his celebrity during his later career with particular focus on 1 Outside an album symptomatic of deep seated societal and personal anxiety Para/Inquiry Victor E. Taylor, 2008-02-20 Para Inquiry represents the next generation of postmodern studies Focusing on cultural studies religion and literature Victor E Taylor provides us with a fresh look at the history and main themes of postmodernism both in style and content Central to the book is the status of the sacred in postmodern times Taylor explores the sacred images in art culture and literature We see that the concept of the sacred is uniquely singular and resistant to an easy assimilation into artistic cultural or narrative forms Anyone wishing to gain a new and exciting understanding of postmodernism will read this book with great pleasure Iconoclasm in Aesthetics Michael Kelly,2003-09-04 Contemporary theorizing about art is dominated by a clash between two approaches philosophers have characteristically taken the view that art is a vehicle of some universal meaning or truth while art historians and others working in the humanities emphasize the concrete nature and historical particularity of the work of art Is art capable of sustaining these two approaches Or as Kelly argues is art rather determined by its historical particularity If so then if philosophers continue to pursue mainly the universality of art they inadvertently end up exhibiting a disinterest and distrust in art Kelly calls such disinterest and distrust iconoclasm and in this book he discusses four philosophers Heidegger Adorno Derrida and Danto who are ultimately iconoclasts despite their deep philosophical engagement with the arts He concludes by suggesting ways in which iconoclasm in aesthetics can be avoided in the future Race, Gender, and Identity in Constellations of a Contemporary Romanticism Jacques Khalip, Forest Pyle, 2016-07-01 Constellations of a Contemporary Romanticism takes its title and point of departure from Walter Benjamin's concept of the historical constellation which puts both contemporary and romanticism in play as period designations and critical paradigms Featuring fascinating and diverse contributions by an international roster of distinguished scholars working in and out of romanticism from deconstruction to new historicism from queer theory to postcolonial studies from visual culture to biopolitics this volume makes good on a central tenet of Benjamin's conception of history These critics grasp the constellation into which our own era has formed with a definite earlier one Each of these essays approaches romanticism as a decisive and unexpired thought experiment that makes demands on and poses questions for our own time What is the unlived of a contemporary romanticism What has romanticism's singular untimeliness bequeathed to futurity What is romanticism's contemporary redemption value for painting and politics philosophy and film Critical Practice Martin McQuillan, 2019-02-21 This book is available as open access through the Bloomsbury Open Access programme and is available on www.bloomsburycollections.com What is the relationship between theory and practice in the creative arts today In Critical Practice Martin McQuillan offers a critical interrogation of the idea of practice led research He goes beyond the recent vocabulary of research management to consider the more interesting question of the emergence of a cultural space in which philosophy theory history and practice are becoming indistinguishable McQuillan considers the work of a number of writers and thinkers who cross the divide between theoretical and creative practice including Alain Badiou and Terry Eagleton and the longer tradition of theory writing that runs through the work of Hélène Cixous Roland Barthes and Louis Althusser His aim is to elucidate the contemporary ramifications of a relationship that has been contested throughout the long history of philosophy from Plato's dialogues to Derrida's Envois

Theory at Yale Marc Redfield, 2015-11-02 This book examines the affinity between theory and deconstruction that developed in the American academy in the 1970s by way of the Yale Critics Harold Bloom Paul de Man Geoffrey Hartman and J Hillis Miller sometimes joined by the French philosopher Jacques Derrida With this semi-fictional collective theory became a media event first in the academy and then in the wider print media in and through its phantasmatic link with deconstruction and with Yale The important role played by aesthetic humanism in American pedagogical discourse provides a context for understanding theory as an aesthetic scandal and an examination of the ways in which de Man's work challenges aesthetic pieties helps us understand why by the 1980s he above all had come to personify theory Combining a broad account of the Yale Critics phenomenon with a series of careful reexaminations of the event of theory Redfield traces the threat posed by language's unreliability and inhumanity in chapters on lyric on Hartman's representation of the Wordsworthian imagination on Bloom's early theory of influence in the 1970s together with his later media reinvention as the genius of the Western Canon and on John Guillory's influential attempt to interpret de Manian theory as a symptom of literature's increasing marginality A final chapter examines Mark Tansey's paintings Derrida Queries de Man and Constructing the Grand Canyon paintings that offer subtle complex reflections on the peculiar event of theory as deconstruction in America
