Market For Shelter In Indonesian Cities:

The Market for Shelter in Indonesian Cities Raymond J. Struyk, Michael L. Hoffman, Harold M. Katsura, 1990 Cities of the Global South Reader Faranak Miraftab, Neema Kudva, 2014-10-10

The Cities of the Global South Reader adopts a fresh and critical approach to the field of urbanization in the developing world. The Reader incorporates both early and emerging debates about the diverse trajectories of urbanization processes in the context of the restructured global alignments in the last three decades. Emphasizing the historical legacies of colonialism, the Reader recognizes the entanglement of conditions and concepts often understood in binary relations: first world's wealth, poverty, development, underdevelopment, and inclusion/exclusion. By asking whose city whose development, the Reader rigorously highlights the fractures along lines of class, race, gender, and other socially and spatially constructed hierarchies in global South cities. The Reader's thematic structure, where editorial introductions accompany selected texts, examines the issues and concerns that urban dwellers, planners, and policy makers face in the contemporary world. These include the urban economy, housing, basic services, infrastructure, the role of non-state civil society-based actors, planned interventions and contestations, the role of diaspora capital, the looming problem of adapting to climate change, and the increasing spectre of violence in a post-9/11 transnational world. The Cities of the Global South Reader pulls together a diverse set of readings from scholars across the world, some of which have been written specially for the volume, to provide an essential resource for a broad interdisciplinary readership at undergraduate and postgraduate levels in urban geography, urban sociology, and urban planning, as well as disciplines related to international and development studies. Editorial commentaries that introduce the central issues for each theme summarize the state of the field and outline an associated bibliography. They will be of particular value for lecturers, students, and researchers making the Cities of the Global South Reader a key text for those interested in understanding contemporary urbanization processes.

Housing Policy Systems in South and East Asia R. Agus, J. Doling, D. Lee, 2002-06-19

This book provides an up-to-date account of housing policy systems in eight countries: Hong Kong, Indonesia, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, Taiwan, Thailand, and Singapore. With one chapter devoted to each country, there are, in addition, introductory and concluding chapters in which the editors identify both the similarities in the problems faced and in the approaches adopted by the governments of the Asian countries, setting them apart from the West, as well as the differences that indicate the variety of Asian solutions.

After the New Order Abidin Kusno, 2013-11-30

After the New Order follows up Abidin Kusno's well-received Behind the Postcolonial and The Appearances of Memory. This new work explores the formation of populist urban programs in post-Suharto Jakarta and the cultural and political contradictions that have arisen as a result of the continuing influence of the Suharto era's neoliberal ideology of development. Analyzing a spectrum of urban agendas from waterfront city to green environment and housing for the poor, Kusno deepens our understanding of the spatial mediation of power, the interaction between elite and populist urban imaginings, and how past ideologies are integral to the present even as they are newly reconfigured The book brings together eight chapters that examine the anxiety over the destiny of Jakarta in its efforts to resolve the crisis of the city In the first group of chapters Kusno considers the fate and fortune of two building types namely the city hall and the shop house over a longue duree as a metonymy for the culture politics and society of the city and the nation Other chapters focus on the intellectual legacies of the Sukarno and Suharto eras and the influence of their spatial paradigms The final three chapters look at social and ecological consciousness in the post Suharto era One reflects on citizens responses to the waterfront city project another on the efforts to green the city as it is overrun by capitalism and reaching its ecological limits The third discusses a recent low income housing program by exploring the two central issues of land and financing it illuminates the interaction between the politics of urban space and that of global financial capitalism The epilogue consisting of an interview with the author discusses Kusno s writings on contemporary Jakarta his approach to history and how his work is shaped by concerns over the injustices violence and environmental degradation that continue to accompany the city s democratic transition After the New Order will be essential reading for anyone including Asianists urban historians social scientists architects and planners concerned with the interplay of space power and identity

Service Industries and Asia Pacific Cities Peter W. Daniels, Kong Chong Ho, Tom Hutton, 2005-04-01 During the second half of the twentieth century development in the Asia Pacific region has been dominated by industrialization However at the beginning of the twenty first century services in particular finance information and creative services have become deeply embedded in the processes of urban growth In Asia Pacific the rise of service industries has lead to national modernization programmes and globalization strategies Services are also driving change in the internal form of city regions and are being actively deployed as instruments of metropolitan reconfiguration and land use changes These changes have created problems such as social polarization and the displacement of traditional industries and residential districts Also there are tensions between local and global processes in the development of service industries and between the imperatives of competitive advantage and sustainable development Service Industries and Asia Pacific Cities brings together a multi disciplinary team of experts to explore and illustrate the theoretical conceptual and practical issues arising from the transformation of Asia Pacific cities by service industries

Housing in Southeast Asian Capital Cities Giok Ling Ooi,2005 The author presents some of the wider debates on housing and development while focusing on the major Southeast Asian capital cities Jakarta Bangkok Kuala Lumpur and Metro Manila All these cities have expanded enormously in terms of population and size all have enormous problems ranging from provision of clean water and sustainable housing for the poor to dealing with a constant inflow of rural urban migrants Despite this most city governments remain worryingly ineffectual or uncommitted to solving urgent problems of their expanding cities

Housing Policy, Wellbeing and Social Development in Asia Rebecca Lai Har Chiu,Seong-Kyu Ha,2018-05-11 This book investigates how housing policy changes in Asia since the late 1990s have impacted on housing affordability security livability culture and social development Using case study examples from countries cities including China Hong Kong India Japan Taiwan Korea Malaysia Bangladesh Singapore Indonesia Thailand and Vietnam the contributors contextualize housing policy development in terms of both global and local socio economic and political changes They then investigate how policy changes have shaped and re shaped the housing wellbeing of the local people and the social development within these places which they argue should constitute the core purpose of housing policy This book will open up a new dimension for understanding housing and social development in Asia and a new conceptual perspective with which to examine housing which by nature is culture sensitive and people oriented It will be of interest to students scholars and professionals in the areas of housing studies urban and social development and the public and social policy of Asia

Urban Land Markets Somik V. Lall,Mila Freire,Belinda Yuen,Robin Rajack,Jean-Jacques Helluin,2009-10-07 As urbanization progresses at a remarkable pace policy makers and analysts come to understand and agree on key features that will make this process more efficient and inclusive leading to gains in the welfare of citizens Drawing on insights from economic geography and two centuries of experience in developed countries the World Bank s World Development Report 2009 Reshaping Economic Geography emphasizes key aspects that are fundamental to ensuring an efficient rural urban transformation Critical among these are land as the most important resource and well functioning land markets Regardless of the stage of urbanization flexible and forward looking institutions that help the efficient functioning of land markets are the bedrock of successful urbanization strategies In particular institutional arrangements for allocating land rights and for managing and regulating land use have significant implications for how cities deliver agglomeration economies and improve the welfare of their residents Property rights well functioning land markets and the management and servicing of land required to accommodate urban expansion and provide trunk infrastructure are all topics that arise as regions progress from incipient urbanization to medium and high density

Land and Development in Indonesia John F. McCarthy, Kathryn Robinson, 2016-05-18 Indonesia was founded on the ideal of the Sovereignty of the People which suggests the pre-eminence of people's rights to access use and control land to support their livelihoods Yet many questions remain unresolved How can the state ensure access to land for agriculture and housing while also supporting land acquisition for investment in industry and infrastructure What is to be done about indigenous rights Do registration and titling provide solutions Is the land reform agenda legislated but never implemented still relevant How should the land questions affecting Indonesia's disappearing forests be resolved The contributors to this volume assess progress on these issues through case studies from across the archipelago from large scale land acquisitions in Papua to asset ownership in the villages of Sulawesi and Java to tenure conflicts associated with the oil palm and mining booms in Kalimantan Sulawesi and Sumatra What are the prospects for the people's sovereignty in regard to land

Urban Growth and Development in Asia Graham P. Chapman, Ashok K. Dutt, 2019-01-15 First published in 1999 this volume begins with a panoramic survey by Nigel Harris of the drama of Asian Urbanization based on the inaugural plenary lecture he gave to the 5th Asian Urbanization Conference held in London In the following chapters many experts and practitioners from different countries and cities provide a stimulating portrayal of the processes and outcomes of one of the greatest shifts of population not just absolutely but proportionately as well ever to have occurred in human history Asia includes more than half the world's population but apart from the Tiger economies and Japan it is still overwhelmingly rural In the last decade or so urbanization has really begun to take off and the shift of population to the cities represents one of the greatest population movements the planet has ever seen By 2030 more than 50% of Asia's population will be urban and between now and then more than 500 million people in Asia will have moved looking for jobs housing food and water They will be both part of a problem and most of the solution building around them the cities they will live in Cities for Profit Gavin Shatkin, 2017-09-15 Cities for Profit examines the phenomenon of urban real estate megaprojects in Asia massive privately built planned urban developments that have captured the imagination of politicians policymakers and citizens across the region These controversial projects embraced by elites occasion massive displacement and have extensive social and economic impacts Gavin Shatkin finds commonalities and similarities in dozens of such projects in Jakarta Kolkata and

Chongqing Shatkin is at the vanguard of urban studies in his focus on real estate Just as cities are increasingly defined and remapped according to the value of the land under their residents feet the lives of city dwellers are shaped and constrained by their ability to keep up with rising costs of urban life Scholars and policy and planning professionals alike will benefit from Shatkin s comprehensive research Cities for Profit contains insights from more than 150 interviews site visits to projects and data from government and nongovernmental organization reports and data urban plans architectural renderings annual reports and promotional materials of developers and newspaper and other media accounts Indonesia Municipal

Finance and Shelter Program G. Thomas Kingsley,1991 Urban Development in China under the Institution of Land Rights Jieming Zhu,2019-09-17 How have the development and redevelopment of China s cities since the early 1950s transformed the settlements and fortunes of a fifth of the world s population Rapid urbanization since the 1980s has changed the nation from a rural society to an urban one marking it as one of the most significant transformations in history As a country with severe land scarcity land resources are intensively contested for during urbanization under the new regime of marketization This book focuses on the impact of the institution of land rights that have transitioned from private ownership to socialist state ownership and subsequently to public land leasing in the urban domain and to collective ownership in rural areas In the context of defining the relationship between the state and the market the gradualist transition of land rights gives rise to intriguing processes of place making The elaboration of these processes will engage several revealing conceptual notions land as a means of production land commodification ambiguous land rights incomplete land rights trading land use rights for land development rights institutional uncertainty land rent seeking and dissipating local developmental state danwei enterprises and more The newly created landed interests are embedded intricately within the urban spatial structure This book would especially be of interest to scholars interested in developmental economics urban planning geography public policies public management and sociology and also practitioners focusing on development and planning

The Indonesian Town Revisited P. Nas,2002 The Indonesian Town Revisited reflects the growing interest in new towns and the urban sprawl around Jakarta the economic crisis and its effects on the construction sector Furthermore a new direction in research is related to the growing interest in middle range cities Some well established topics are also covered such as kampung improvement urban conservation and migration Metropolitan Governance in Asia and the Pacific Rim Bligh Grant,Cathy Yang Liu,Lin Ye,2018-05-23 This edited collection examines seminal changes and major policy challenges in metropolitan governance in Asia and the Pacific Rim that are being faced by governments national and sub national and their polities The book builds upon the work of the largest stream at the Urban Affairs Association s UAA Annual Conference Urban Issues in Asia and the Pacific Rim specifically the chapters arose from presentations at the 2016 UAA Annual Conference in San Diego and ensuing discussions and debates The book is framed by three over arching narratives the increased importance economic political and cultural of the Asian region within strategic discussions of planetary urbanism and the problematisation of the concept of the Asian region as an element of these discussions the challenges engendered by the rapid pace of development again economic political and cultural and the endorsement tacit or otherwise of developmentalism in many of the polities under consideration the increased salience of metropolitan and urban areas vis vis other levels of governance national local supra national particularly how it is seen as key in addressing these challenges

National Trends in Housing-production Practices: Indonesia ,1993 Sustainable Cities and Energy Policies

Roberta Capello, Peter Nijkamp, Gerard Pepping, 2012-12-06 The aim of this book is to highlight the great potential of decentralized i.e. local or urban energy policies in achieving environmentally benign developments for modern cities Urban sustainability is placed in the context of the debate on global sustainable development A wide array of policy initiatives is discussed and evaluated ranging from market based energy policies to technological innovation policies for the energy sector A theoretical framework for technology adoption processes is developed and empirically tested The main question addressed is which are the critical success factors for successful urban energy policies This question is also dealt with in a meta analytic context by assessing and comparing the performance of energy policies in various European cities with a particular view to renewable energy Southeast Asian Houses Seo Ryeong Ju et al., 2017-09-15 The modernization of traditional houses in each country may be understood as a process by which various aspects of culture and architecture originating from China India European colonial countries and international style were assimilated into various forms and elements of traditional houses In contemporary houses recently developed in Southeast Asian cities influences of more nearby regions such as South Korea Hong Kong and Singapore can easily be found Even under such multi cultural influences Southeast Asian countries sought compromises and maintained each country's unique housing culture resulting in the differentiation of each country's housing style This book aims to find out the uniqueness of each Southeast Asian country's modern housing through the understanding of the modern housing typologies of each country produced by the process of modernization Previous studies of Southeast Asia's urban housing were mostly on political institutional and economic issues which can be said to be macro issues However this book focuses on the forms of urban housing which is rather a micro issue compared to previous studies
