An Empirical Investigation into the Factors Influencing Consumer Perceptions of the No Name Brand Food Items: Special Focus - South Africa Aron Embaye, 2010-04-08 Inhaltsangabe Introduction In today's complex business environment doing business is no longer business as usual it has evolved into quick change quick response and quick results In such an environment it is only those business enterprises which understand these trends and position themselves for tomorrow can survive and grow successfully Nowhere is this reality truer than in the retail industry where changes on the consumer side are creating new challenges and opportunities at a frantic pace In the past the consumers demand for high profile brands let a retailer capitalize on the foundation of those solid reputable brands to build its own reputation This brand centric approach to retailing meant strong competition which has resulted in tight profit even to the bigger players of the industry In response to the increased challenges there has been a significant movement by most prominent retailers towards store brand solutions to improve margins and better meet the changing needs of the consumer By creating high quality product tied to the retailer's own brand retailers are reaping the benefits of brand loyalty for themselves Leading global retailers like Wal Mart Aldi Asda Marks including most confectionary categories most household and toiletry categories and from premium brands to the more cost effective Leading retailers like Spar Shoprite and Pick n Pay and others have various store brands Even though South African retailers are utilizing own brands as a means of differentiation some studies are also indicating the lack of well tuned major store brand strategies and own brands were not perceived as of value by consumers as well Internet 2 Like in the case of national brands retailer's brands have also evolved into many different forms McGoldrick 2002 The focus of this study is on the No Name Brand food items which are one form
