Reconnecting Reading and Writing Alice S. Horning,Elizabeth W. Kraemer,2013-09-06 Reconnecting Reading and Writing explores the ways in which reading can and should have a strong role in the teaching of writing in college Reconnecting Reading and Writing draws on broad perspectives from history and international work to show how and why reading should be reunited with writing in college and high school classrooms It presents an overview of relevant research on reading and how it can best be used to support and enhance writing instruction Resources in Education ,1997

The Concept of Exile in Ancient Israel and its Historical Contexts Ehud Ben Zvi,Christoph Levin,2010-10-19 In ancient Israelite literature Exile is seen as a central turning point within the course of the history of Israel In these texts the Exile is a central ideological concept It serves to explain the destruction of the monarchic polities and the social and economic disasters associated with them in terms that YHWH punished Israel Judah for having abandoned his ways As it develops an image of an unjust Israel it creates one of a just deity But YHWH is not only imagined as just but also as loving and forgiving for the exile is presented as a transitory state Exile is deeply intertwined with its discursive counterpart the certain Return As the Exile comes to be understood as a necessary purification or preparation for a renewal of YHWH s proper relationship with Israel the seemingly unpleasant Exilic conditions begin discursively to shape an image of YHWH as loving Israel and teaching it Exile is dystopia but one that carries in itself all the seeds of utopia The concept of Exile continued to exercise an important influence in the discourses of Israel in the Second Temple period and was eventually influential in the production of eschatological visions

Reading in the Composition Classroom Joan Carson,Ilna Leki,1993 Exploring the Dynamics of Second Language Writing Barbara Kroll,2003-04-14 A collection of 13 original articles this book is intended to provide a series of discussions about multiple aspects of second language writing presenting chapters that collectively address a range of issues that are important to new teachers at the post secondary level The chapters provide scholarly visions insight and interpretation oriented toward explaining the field of teaching academic writing to non native speakers The book is designed to provide foundational content knowledge in this area each chapter authored by recognized experts in the field Throughout the chapters presentation and review of scholarship is presented primarily in the interest of understanding how such knowledge directly or potentially impart teaching making this a pedagogically relevant book In addition to helping train new teachers the book will serve as an updated reference book for practicing teachers and scholars to consult

Irvine, 2007-11-30 Instructors at all levels are being encouraged to teach writing in their courses even in subjects other than English. Because the novel reflects a broad set of human experiences and history it is the ideal vehicle for learning about a wide range of issues. This book helps educators learn how to incorporate novels in courses in English, the humanities, social and behavioral sciences, and professional studies. The chapters focus on using the novel to explore ethical concerns, multiculturalism, history, social theory, psychology, social work, and education. The book looks at major canonical works as well as graphic novels and popular literature. Language arts are at the forefront of education these days. Instructors at all levels are being encouraged to teach writing in their courses even if those courses cover subjects other than English Literature. Instructors have long used fiction to teach composition. But because the novel reflects a broad range of human experiences and historical events it is the ideal medium for learning about contemporary social issues. This book helps educators learn how to use the novel in courses in English, the humanities, social and behavioral sciences, and professional studies. The book is divided into broad sections on general education classes, multiculturalism, literature classes, humanities courses, classes in social, behavioral, and political sciences, and professional studies such as social work and teacher training. Each section includes chapters written by gifted teachers and provides a wealth of theoretical and practical information. While the book examines major canonical works such as Hard Times, Billy Budd, and Invisible Man, it also looks at graphic novels, science fiction, and popular contemporary works such as Finishing School and Jarhead. Chapters reflect the personal successes of their authors and cite works for further reading. Teachers Magazine, 1913
