Reading The Literature Experience:

A Psychoanalytic Perspective on Reading Literature Merav Roth, 2019-08-14 What are the unconscious processes involved in reading literature How does literature influence our psychological development and existential challenges A Psychoanalytic Perspective on Reading Literature offers a unique glimpse into the unconscious psychic processes and development involved in reading The author listens to the free associations of various literary characters in numerous scenarios where the characters are themselves reading literature thus revealing the mysterious ways in which reading literature helps us and contributes to our development The book offers an introduction both to classic literature Poe Proust Sartre Sempr n Pessoa Agnon and more and to the major psychoanalytic concepts that can be used in reading it all described and widely explained before being used as tools for interpreting the literary illustrations The book thus offers a rich lexical psychoanalytic source alongside its main aim in analysing the reader s psychological mechanisms and development Psychoanalytic interpretation of those literary readers opens three main avenues to the reader s experience the transference relations toward the literary characters the literary work as means to transcend beyond the reader s self identity and existential boundaries and mobilization of internal dialectic tensions towards new integration and psychic equilibrium An Epilogue concludes by emphasising the transformational power embedded in reading literature The fascinating dialogue between literature and psychoanalysis illuminates hitherto concealed aspects of each discipline and contributes to new insights in both fields A Psychoanalytic Perspective on Reading Literature will be of great interest not only to psychoanalytic psychotherapists and literature scholars but also to a wider readership beyond these areas of study Reading, Literature, and Psychology in Action Philip Davis, Rhiannon Corcoran, Josie Billington, Arthur Frank, 2023-06-23 Psychology in Action is a term coined by the Guest Editors from the Centre for Research into Reading Literature and Society CRILS University of Liverpool in their work in filming recording and analyzing shared reading groups led by The Reader organization It refers both to the work of psychology within literary texts and to the responses of multifarious reader participants to literature read live and aloud in small community groups within a variety of settings In particular psychology in action has meant seeing readers suddenly activated into deep personal thinking responding to situations imaginatively simulated by reading literature in ways that trigger surprised and involuntary emotion autobiographical memory and spontaneous empathy Reading Black Books Claude Atcho, 2022-05-17 Learning from Black voices means listening to more than snippets It means attending to Black stories Reading Black Books helps Christians hear and learn from enduring Black voices and stories as captured in classic African American literature Pastor and teacher Claude Atcho offers a theological approach to 10 seminal texts of 20th century African American literature Each chapter takes up a theological category for inquiry through a close literary reading and theological reflection on a primary literary text from Ralph Ellison s Invisible Man and Richard Wright s Native Son to Zora Neale Hurston s Moses Man of the Mountain and James Baldwin s Go Tell It on the Mountain The book includes end of chapter discussion questions Reading Black Books helps readers of all backgrounds learn from the contours of Christian faith formed and forged by Black stories and it spurs continued conversations about racial justice in the church It demonstrates that reading about Black experience as shown in the literature of great African American writers can guide us toward sharper theological thinking and more faithful living

Reading Our Lives William L. Randall,Elizabeth McKim,2008-06-03 Against the background of Socrates insight that the unexamined life is not worth living Reading Our Lives The Poetics of Growing Old investigates the often overlooked inside dimensions of aging Despite popular portrayals of mid and later life as entailing inevitable decline this book looks at aging as potentially a process of poiesis a creative endeavor of fashioning meaning from the ever accumulating texts memories and reflections that constitute our inner worlds At its center is the conviction that although we are constantly reading our lives to some degree anyway doing so in a mindful matter is critical to our development in the second half of life Drawing on research in numerous disciplines affected by the so called narrative turn including cognitive psychology neuroscience and the psychology of aging authors Randall and

McKim articulate a vision of aging that promises to accommodate such time honored concepts as wisdom and spirituality one that understands aging as a matter not merely of getting old but of consciously growing old

Transforming Literacy: Changing Lives Through Reading and Writing Robert P. Waxler, Maureen P. Hall,2011-05-11 The book is interdisciplinary in focus and centers on enlarging teachers understanding of how reading and writing can change lives and how the language arts can contribute significantly to and change educational processes in the twenty first century Implicit in its argument is that although the emphasis on science and math is crucial to education in the digital age it remains vitally important to keep reading and writing language and story at the heart of the educational process This is particularly true in a democratic society because shaping stories through human language can enhance the quality of our lives and teach us something important about what it means to be human and vulnerable In this sense stories allow for self reflection and an increased opportunity to enhance and understand emotional intelligence and human community

The Idea of a Text and the Nature of Textual Meaning Anders

Pettersson,2017-04-15 In his account of text and textual meaning Pettersson demonstrates that a text as commonly conceived is not only a verbal structure but also a physical entity two kinds of phenomena which do not in fact add up to a unitary object He describes this current notion of text as convenient enough for many practical purposes but inadequate in discussions of a theoretically more demanding nature Having clearly demonstrated its intellectual drawbacks he develops an alternative boldly revisionary way of thinking about text and textual meaning His careful argument is in challenging dialogue with assumptions about language in use to be found in a wide range of present day literary theory linguistics philosophical aesthetics and philosophy of language
