Brian Howe, Katherine Covell, 2007-06-09 Approved by the General Assembly of the United Nations in 1989 the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child affirms that children in all countries have fundamental rights including rights to education To date 192 states are signatories to or have in some form ratified the accord Children are still imperilled in many countries however and are often not made aware of their guaranteed rights In Empowering Children R Brian Howe and Katherine Covell assert that educating children about their basic rights is a necessary means not only of fulfilling a country's legal obligations but also of advancing education about democratic principles and the practice of citizenship The authors contend that children's rights education empowers children as persons and as rights respecting citizens in democratic societies Such education has a contagion effect that brings about a general social knowledge on human rights and social responsibility Although there remain obstacles to the implementation of children's rights in many countries Howe and Covell argue that reforming schools and enhancing teacher education are absolutely essential to the creation of a new culture of respect toward children as citizens Their thorough and passionate work marks a significant advance in the field Winners and Losers Irving Louis Horowitz, 1984 Leading sociologist Irving Louis Horowitz examines the response social science has made to contemporary subjects and issues the so called new class of the intelligentsia the ecology movement social planning alienation privatization anomie the threat of nuclear war Horowitz evaluates as a social scientist the question of values those disclosed through analysis and those threatened by it and discusses the overall political and moral impact of knowledge and methodology in social science Adult Personality Development Lawrence S. Becoming A Family Rena D. Harold, Patricia Stow Bolea, Lisa G. Colarossi, Lucy R. Mercier, Carol R. Freedman-Doan, 2014-04-08 The movement from young adulthood through coupling and the transition to parenthood may be among the most universal adult developmental transitions. These passages hold interest for all of us but especially for those who study the psychological familial and sociocultural components of development all of which interact and influence each other This book enhances understanding of family life development by shedding light on the meanings that family members ascribe to the developmental process of becoming a family This is achieved through qualitative analysis of narratives through which individuals and families explain themselves their thinking and their behavior These family narratives are windows into individual and family identity as well as descriptions of connections to others. The book addresses issues including identity child characteristics social support and work Each chapter includes a review of seminal literature parents comments and ideas about the topic and a discussion of practice policy and research implications Coming of Age in Times of Uncertainty Harry Blatterer, 2009-07 Adulthood is taken for granted It connotes the end of childhood the resolution to the storm and stress period of adolescence This conception is strongly entrenched in the sociology of youth and the sociology of the life course as well as in the policy arena At the same time adulthood itself remains unarticulated journey s end remains conceptually fixed and theoretically uncontested Adulthood then is both central to the social imagination and neglected as an area of sociological investigation something that has been noted by sociologists over the last four decades Going beyond the overwhelmingly psychological literature this book draws on original qualitative research and theories of social recognition and thus presents a first step towards filling an important gap in our understanding of the meaning of adulthood Clinical Gerontology T.L. Brink, 2014-04-04 Here is a major text in psychogeriatrics for all professionals in the field of aging and mental health Leading authorities provide valuable insights into assessment and intervention techniques for use with the mentally impaired elderly Topics include a depression scale for use in later life family therapy therapy in later life and various issues concerning mental health care for the aged 300 Ways to Make the Best Christmas Ever!
