amounts to being capable of producing some substitute based on the identity of the terms of the sentence. Is then the meaning of a book or of any text the capacity of rewriting it. Instead of retaining a double standard theory of meaning, one for sentences and another for texts that would allow for an ad hoc gap, the author provides a unified conception called the question view of language he has developed, known as problematology. He pursues a systematic analysis of questioning in literature and shows how questioning makes the understanding process possible.
