Manuscripts, Market and the Transition to Print in Late Medieval Brittany Diane E. Booton, 2016-12-05 Manuscripts Market and the Transition to Print in Late Medieval Brittany surveys the production and marketing of non monastic manuscripts and printed books over 150 years in late medieval Brittany from the accession of the Montfort family to the ducal crown in 1364 to the duchy's formal assimilation by France in 1532. Brittany, as elsewhere, experienced the shift of manuscript production from monasteries to lay scriptoria and from rural settings to urban centers as the motivation for copying the word in ink on parchment evolved from divine meditation to personal profit. Through her analysis of the physical aspects of Breton manuscripts and books—parchment and paper, textual layouts, scripts and typography, illumination and illustration—Diane Booton exposes previously unexplored connections between the tangible cultural artifacts and the society that produced, acquired, and valued them. Innovatively, Booton's discussion incorporates archival research into the prices, wages, and commissions associated with the manufacture of the works under discussion to shed new light on their economic and personal value.

Boccaccio and the Book Rhiannon Daniels, 2017-07-05 As a new digital era increasingly impacts on the age of print, we are ever more conscious of the way in which information is packaged and received. The influence of the material form on the reading process was no less important during the gradual shift from manuscript to early print culture. Focusing on the physical structure and presentation of manuscripts and printed books containing texts by one of the most influential authors of the medieval period, Rhiannon Daniels traces the evolving social, cultural, and economic profile of Boccaccio's readership and the scribes and printers who laboured to reproduce three of his works: the Teseida, Decameron, and De mulieribus claris. Rhiannon Daniels is a British Academy Postdoctoral Fellow in the Department of Italian at the University of Leeds.
