New Perspectives in Philosophy of Education David Lewin,Alexandre Guilherme,Morgan White,2014-10-23 New Perspectives in Philosophy of Education seeks to build a bridge between philosophical reflection and socio political action by developing a range of critical discussions in the areas of ethics politics and religion This volume brings together established authorities and a new generation of scholars to ask whether philosophy of education can contribute to political and social discourse or whether it is destined to remain the marginal gadfly of mainstream ideology The philosophy of education stands in danger of becoming a neglected field at precisely the moment we need to be able to reflect upon the increasingly apparent costs of the technocratic attitude to education While many of the educational policy discussions of recent years seem far reaching and radical critical debate surrounding these initiatives remain largely at a populist level New Perspectives in Philosophy of Education provides contemporary responses to philosophical issues that bear upon educational studies policies and practices contributing to the debate on the role of philosophy of education in an increasingly fractured intellectual milieu

Radical Education and the Common School Michael Fielding,Peter Moss,2010-12-16 What is education what is it for and what are its fundamental values How do we understand knowledge and learning What is our image of the child and the school How does the ever more pressing need to develop a more just creative and sustainable democratic society affect our responses to these questions Addressing these fundamental issues Fielding and Moss contest the current mainstream dominated by markets and competition instrumentality and standardisation managerialism and technical practice They argue instead for a radical education with democracy as a fundamental value care as a central ethic a person centred education that is education in the broadest sense and an image of a child rich in potential Radical education they say should be practiced in the common school a school for all children in its local catchment area age integrated human scale focused on depth of learning and based on team working A school understood as a public space for all citizens a collective workshop of many purposes and possibilities and a person centred learning community working closely with other schools and with local authorities The book concludes by examining how we might bring such transformation about Written by two of the leading experts in the fields of early childhood and secondary education the book covers a wide vista of education for children and young people Vivid examples from different stages of education are used to explore the full meaning of radical democratic education and the common school and how they can work in practice It connects rich thinking and experiences from the past and present to offer direction and hope for the future It will be of interest and inspiration to all who care about education teachers and students academics and policy makers parents and politicians

Citizenship Education in Commonwealth Countries Tristan

McCowan, Sonia Gomez, 2012 Assesses the role that citizenship education can play in developing respect and understanding It outlines the concept of citizenship its multiple orientations and the complexities of promoting political visions through education Education Studies: An Introduction Murphy, Lisa, Mufti, Emmanuel, Kassem, Derek, 2008-12-01 Providing students on education studies programmes with a clear overview of the key issues they will encounter within the first year this title enables them to develop a detailed understanding of the power and importance of education Do It Yourself Trapeze, The Trapeze Collective, 2007-05-20 Do you really want to change the world If the answer is YES then this book shows you how Ethical consumerism is now big business But leading a sustainable and truly radical life encompasses a whole variety of things that challenge the mainstream This book shows how we can make real changes to the way we live In simple steps it describes how you can create sustainable and equitable ways of living that can help transform not just your own life but the culture around you The book weaves together analysis stories and experiences It combines in depth analytical chapters followed by easy to follow How to Guides with practical ideas for change Taken together these small steps can move us towards taking back control of our lives from governments and corporations Learner-centred Education in International Perspective Michele Schweisfurth, 2013 Explores debates around learner centred education or child centred education as a strategy for developing teachers classroom practice and asks whether a Western construct is appropriate for application in all societies and classrooms Rethinking Citizenship Education Tristan McCowan, 2011-11-03 Rethinking Citizenship Education presents a fundamental reassessment of the field Drawing on empirical research the book argues that attempting to transmit preconceived notions of citizenship through schools is both unviable and undesirable The notion of curricular transposition is introduced a framework for understanding the changes undergone in the passage between the ideals of citizenship the curricular programmes designed to achieve them their implementation in practice and the effects on students The leaps between these different stages make the project of forming students in a mould of predefined citizenship highly problematic Case studies are presented of contrasting initiatives in Brazil a country with high levels of political marginalisation but also significant experiences of participatory democracy These studies indicate that effective citizenship education depends on a harmonisation or seamless enactment of the stages outlined above In contrast provision in countries such as the UK and USA is characterised by disjunctures showing insufficient involvement of teachers in programme design and a lack of space for the construction of students own political understandings Some more promising directions for citizenship education are proposed therefore ones which acknowledge the significance of pedagogical relations and school democratisation and allow students to develop as political agents in their own right
