General MacArthur Speeches and Reports 1908-1964, 2000-06-14 The two year search for General Douglas MacArthur's speeches and reports was truly a labor of love My Administrative Assistant Ellen Schaefer and I culled over 1 000 sources including memories biographies histories military magazines such as the Army and Air Force Journals unit histories commercial magazines and newspapers Magazines included such publications as National Geographic Life Magazine and many esoteric less circulated literature such as Military Magazine Retired Officers Magazine Air Force Magazine and so many others We received guidance and assistance from such sources as the U S Military Academy the Engineering School at Ft Leavenworth the Command and General Staff School at Leavenworth the Army War College the MacArthur Archives Director James Zobel the Library of Congress the War Department the sources seemed endless We do believe we were able to capture all the major public speeches and reports covering MacArthur's truly productive years from 1908 through 1964. Contains more than 125 speeches reports. It will be interesting to note MacArthur established his personality early in his military career and never veered from this. His admonition from his Mother when MacArthur was a student at West Point was never cheat never lie never tattle. Adhering to this edict MacArthur offered to resign from the Academy rather than answer questions from the Academy panel investigating hazing and harassment by a group of fellow students. MacArthur continued to develop his hard line against political and military intrigue by resolving to always do what he believed right even if he knew no one was watching. Further he was determined never to refuse to carry out the order of a senior officer never be insubordinate to constituted authority.

The Reports of General MacArthur include two volumes being published by the Department of the Army in four books reproduced exactly as they were printed by General MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters in 1950 except for the addition of this foreword and indexes. Since they were Government property the general turned over to the Department in 1953 these volumes and related source materials in Army and National Archives custody these materials have been available for research although they have not been easily accessible. While he lived General MacArthur was unwilling to approve the reproduction and dissemination of the reports because he believed they needed further editing and correction of some inaccuracies. His passing permits publication but not the correction he deemed desirable. In publishing them the Department of the Army must therefore disclaim any responsibility for their accuracy. But the Army also recognizes that these volumes have substantial and enduring value and it believes the American people are entitled to have them made widely available through government publication. The preliminary work for compiling the MacArthur volumes began in 1943 within the G-3 Section of his General Staff and was carried forward after the war by members of the G-2 Section headed by Maj Gen Charles A Willoughby with Professor Gordon W Prange on leave from the University of Maryland as his principal professional assistant. Volume II of the reports represents the contributions of Japanese officers employed to tell their story of operations against MacArthur's forces.
