Representing Race Ideology Identity And The Media:

Representing "race" Robert Ferguson, 1998 Productive media analysis is like an iceberg argues Robert Ferguson The vast bulk beneath water is the intellectual historical and analytical base without which media analysis may become superficial mechanical or glib Representing Race argues that the study of race and the media cannot be seriously undertaken without engaging with theories of ideology and without awareness of contemporary theoretical work such as approaches to Orientalism and critical discourse analysis Drawing on examples from newspapers film radio and television Ferguson demonstrates the close relationship between representations of normality and racism Providing an overview and assessment of existing research in the area Representing Race is a challenge to intellectual complacency and a warning against the temptation to normalise the very term race

Media Studies Pieter J. Fourie, 2010-06 Exploring the media as an institution this volume also introduces the topics of media regulation and content The nature of communications policy is explained following overviews of internal and external media regulation Strategic ways of managing the media are discussed in addition to the guide's analysis of the ways that media presents issues of identity race gender sexual orientation the environment AIDS and terrorism

Racial and Ethnic Identities in the Media Eleftheria Arapoglou, Yiorgos Kalogeras, Jopi Nyman, 2016-07-30 This volume examines the role and representation of race and ethnicity in the media with particular emphasis on the United States It highlights contemporary work that focuses on changing meanings of racial and ethnic identity as they are represented in the media television and film digital and print media are under examination Through fourteen innovative and interdisciplinary case studies written by a team of internationally based contributors the volume identifies ways in which ethnic racial and national identities have been produced reproduced stereotyped and contested It showcases new emerging theoretical approaches in the field and pays particular attention to the role of race ethnicity and national identity along with communal and transnational allegiances in the making of identities in the media The topics of the chapters range from immigrant newspapers and gangster cinema to ethnic stand up comedy and the use of race in advertising

Media Representations of September 11 Steven Chermak Ph.D., Frankie Y. Bailey, Michelle Brown, 2003-10-30 The terrorist attacks on September 11th were unique and unprecedented in many ways but the day will stand in our memories particularly because of our ability to watch the spectacle unfold The blazing towers crumbling into dust black smoke rising from the Pentagon the unrecognizable remains of a fourth airplane in a quiet Pennsylvania field these images while disturbing and surreal provide an important vehicle for interdisciplinary dialogue within media studies showing us how horrific national disasters are depicted in various media Each contributor to this volume offers a fresh engaging perspective on how the media transformed the 9 11 crisis into an ideological tour de force examining why certain readings of these events were preferred and discussing the significance of those preferred meanings Yet the contributors do not limit themselves to such standard news mediums such as newspapers and television This anthology also covers comic books songs advertising Web sites and other non traditional media outlets Using a wide range of interdisciplinary approaches contributors explore such topics as the amount of time dedicated to coverage how the attacks were presented in the United States and abroad how conflicting viewpoints were addressed and how various artistic outlets dealt with the tragedy Offering a unique approach to a topic of enduring interest and importance this volume casts a new light on considerations of that day

(Mis)Representing Islam John Richardson,2004-01-29 Mis Representing Islam explores and illustrates how lite broadsheet newspapers are implicated in the production and reproduction of anti Muslim racism The book approaches journalistic discourse as the inseparable combination of social practices discursive practices and the texts themselves from a perspective which fuses Critical Discourse Analysis CDA with Edward Said s critique of Orientalism This framework enables Richardson to re contextualise lite journalism within its professional political economic social and historic settings and present a critical and precise examination of not only the prevalence but also the form and potential effects of anti Muslim racism The book analyses the centrality of van Dijk s ideological square and the significance and utility of stereotypical topoi in representing Islam and Muslims focusing in particular on the reporting of Turkey Pakistan Iran Israel Palestine Algeria Iraq and Britain This timely book should interest researchers and students of racism Islam Journalism and Communication studies Rhetoric and Critical Discourse Analysis

Understanding the Media Eoin Devereux,2007-07-25 The second edition of Understanding the Media updates what has been recognised as a successful introduction to the study of the mass media The author furnishes examples from all around the world underpinning the emphasis the book places on the concept of globalisation in understanding the modern media The readings and questions force students to reflect critically on issues and encourage them to explore their own media consumption habits The chapters are well organised and user friendly with the chapter on globalisation highly recommended Introductions to media globalisation often fail to provide a succinct and clear overview for first year students this chapter cracks the problem with a pithy description of the basic concepts and debates interlaced with illuminating case studies and illustrative examples The strength of Eoin Devereux s text is that the examples are familiar and relevant to present day students and his style does not patronise or talk down to them Clearly written comprehensive well organised and up to date This is an excellent introductory text for media studies students Times Higher Education Praise for the first edition An interesting book to read written in a simple and transparent style and interlaced with topical up to date examples of media events Journal of Educational Media This is a well organized well informed student friendly textbook ideal for first year undergraduates as a kicking off point into the field of media and communications research It deserves to be widely taken up European Journal of Communication Understanding the Media introduces key theoretical issues in media analysis and encourages students to use case studies to examine their own personal media use and exposure Devereux applies a model of media analysis that gives equal weight to the production content and reception of media texts A particular emphasis is placed on understanding the mass media in a social context and readers are invited to engage with a variety of questions about the increasingly complex mediascape in which we live our everyday lives Now thoroughly revised and expanded this Second Edition Includes an additional chapter which draws together the book's key themes Contains new and revised case studies with expanded discussions on media audiences and fandom and blogging New and revised extracted readings in every chapter In addition the book is now accompanied by an ancillary website with resources for students as well as slides for tutorials lectures Each chapter contains concise summaries exercises extracts from experts in the field model exam and essay questions as well as directions for further reading and research This practical dimension to Understanding the Media will ensure that the book appeals to both teachers and students of the media in the 21st Century

Journalism and the Muslim Narrative Nadia Haq, 2025-06-03 Journalism and the Muslim Narrative presents an empirical analysis of how modern day journalism practices contribute to the negative bias against Muslims in Britain to provide an in depth investigation of how we can better re conceptualise journalism for our increasingly multicultural societies For more than 20 years media activists and academic scholars have highlighted a bias in British newspapers where Muslims are portrayed as the problematic Other of British society This book draws on the representation of Muslims to contribute a critical empirical analysis of contemporary journalistic practices in multicultural societies This includes a deeper insight into media audiences and the public journalism norms and values such as objectivity balance and freedom of speech the wider implications of the increasing digitalisation of the media and the tensions between media structures and journalistic agency As competition with social media heightens pressures on journalists to produce even more sensationalist and polarising coverage about Muslims this book further offers a critical evaluation of how journalism needs to be re imagined to realise its civic role in our progressively digitalised and diverse societies Drawing on the first hand accounts of newspaper journalists and editors the author challenges our understanding of journalism and the role that journalists play in uniting rather than dividing our diverse societies This book builds a critical appraisal of academic perspectives from journalism media and cultural studies sociology postcolonial theory and the study of race and religion and how journalism practices can either perpetuate or challenge discriminatory and divisive narratives about Britain's Muslim communities It will be of value to journalism practitioners as well as academics studying journalism media and communications cultural studies and race and ethnicity studies The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

The Crafty Animator Caroline Ruddell, Paul Ward, 2019-04-03 This collection is a study of the value of craft as it can be understood within the study and practice of animation The book reconsiders the position of craft which is often understood as inferior to art with a particular focus on questions of labour in animation production and gendered practices The notion of craft has been widely investigated in a number of areas including art design and textiles but despite the fact that a wide range of animators use craft based techniques the value of craft has not been interrogated in this context until now Seeking to address such a gap in the literature this collection considers the concept of craft through a range of varying case studies Chapters include studies on experimental animation computer animation trauma and memory children s animation and silhouette animation among others The Crafty Animator also goes some way to exploring the relationship craft has with the digital in the context of animation production Through these varied discussions this book problematizes simplistic notions about the value of certain methods and techniques working to create a dialogue between craft and animation

Screens Fade to Black David J. Leonard,2006-06-30 The triple crown of Oscars awarded to Denzel Washington Halle Berry and Sidney Poitier on a single evening in 2002 seemed to mark a turning point for African Americans in cinema Certainly it was hyped as such by the media eager to overlook the nuances of this sudden embrace In this new study author David Leonard uses this event as a jumping off point from which to discuss the current state of African American cinema and the various genres that currently compose it Looking at such recent films as Love and Basketball Antwone Fisher Training Day and the two Barbershop films all of which were directed by black artists and most of which starred and were written by blacks as well Leonard examines the issues of representation and opportunity in contemporary cinema In many cases these films which walk a line between confronting racial stereotypes and trafficking in them made a great deal of money while hardly playing to white audiences at all By examining the ways in which they address the American Dream racial progress racial difference blackness whiteness class capitalism and a host of other issues Leonard shows that while certainly there are differences between the grotesque images of years past and those that define today's era the consistency of images across genre and time reflects the lasting power of racism as well as the black community's response to it

Korean Kirogi Families Young A. Jung, 2024-05-15 Based on multi-sited ethnographic fieldwork at Fairfax County Virginia and Daechi-dong Seoul Korea Korean Kirogi Families explores the dynamics of emplaced transnational families through analyses of the categories of social capital sense of place sense of belonging and mothering among so-called Korean kirogi families A Korean kirogi wild goose family is a distinct kind of transnational migrant family that splits their household to educate the children in an English-speaking country temporarily Using mixed research methods including ethnographic fieldwork in-depth interviews and textual analyses of media representations and historical documents this book examines kirogi families in a historical and transnational context Much of the research focuses on mothers and children who live in McLean and Centreville of Fairfax School District located in Virginia just a few miles from Washington DC Young A. Jung argues that these educational transnational families construct distinct types of sense of belonging including structural belonging relational belonging school district belonging and narrative belonging In the global migration era when transnational migration continuously reshapes our communities Korean Kirogi Families reveals how recent education migrants are changing the suburban landscape of America

HBO's Treme and Post-Katrina Catharsis Dominique Gendrin, Catherine Dessinges, Shearon Roberts, 2017-04-07 Ten years after Hurricane Katrina outsiders will have two versions of the Katrina experience One version will be the images they recall from news coverage of the aftermath The other will be the intimate portrayal of the determination of New Orleans residents to rebuild and recover their lives HBO's Treme offers outsiders an inside look into why New Orleanians refused to abandon a place that many questioned should not be rebuilt after the levees failed This critically acclaimed series expanded the boundaries of television making in its format plot casting use of music and realism in fictionalized TV However Treme is not just a story for the outside gaze on New Orleans It was a very local collaborative experience where the show's creators sought to enlist the city in a commemorative project Treme allowed many in the city who worked as principals extras and who tuned in as avid viewers to heal from the devastation of the disaster as they experimented with art imitating life imitating art This book examines the impact of HBO's Treme not just as television making but in the sense in which television provides a window to our worlds The book pulls together scholarship in media communications gender area studies political economy critical studies African American studies and music to explain why Treme was not just about television

Documentary as Exorcism Robert Beckford, 2014-01-16 Documentary as Exorcism is an interdisciplinary study that builds upon the insights of postcolonial studies critical race theory theological and religious studies and media and film studies to showcase the role of documentary film as a system of signifying capable of registering complex theological ideas while pursuing the authentic aims of documentary filmmaking Robert Beckford marries the concepts of theology as visual practice and theology as political engagement to develop a new mode of documentary filmmaking that embeds emancipation from oppression in its aesthetic In various documentaries made for Channel 4 and the BBC Beckford narrates the complicit relationship of Christianity with European expansion slavery and colonialism as a historic manifestation of evil In light of the cannibalistic practices of colonialism that devoured black life and the church's role in the subjugation and theological legitimization of black bodies Beckford characterises this form of historic Christian faith as colonial Christianity and its malevolent or occult practices as a form of bewitchment that must be exorcised He identifies and exorcises the evil practices of colonialism and their present impact upon African Caribbean Christian communities in Britain in films such as Britain's Slave Trade and Empire Pays Back through a deliberate process of encoding decoding The emancipatory impact of this form of documentary filmmaking is demonstrated by its ability to bring issues such as reparations to the public square for debate and its capacity to change a corporation's trade policies for the good of Africans
