  Research Teams and Partnerships National Research Council,Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences,Commission on Physical Sciences, Mathematics, and Applications,Chemical Sciences Roundtable,2000-01-03 The third workshop of the Chemical Sciences Roundtable Research Teams and Partnerships was held in Irvine California on May 2 3 1999 The presentations and discussions at the workshop considered the current status of research partnerships in the chemical sciences and methods to improve the ability to form and maximize such collaborations This volume presents the results of that workshop   Research Collaboration and Team Science Barry Bozeman,Craig Boardman,2014-05-16 Today in most scientific and technical fields more than 90% of research studies and publications are collaborative often resulting in high impact research and development of commercial applications as reflected in patents Nowadays in many areas of science collaboration is not a preference but literally a work prerequisite The purpose of this book is to review and critique the burgeoning scholarship on research collaboration The authors seek to identify gaps in theory and research and identify the ways in which existing research can be used to improve public policy for collaboration and to improve project level management of collaborations using Scientific and Technical Human Capital STHC theory as a framework Broadly speaking STHC is the sum of scientific and technical and social knowledge skills and resources embodied in a particular individual It is both human capital endowments such as formal education and training and social relations and network ties that bind scientists and the users of science together STHC includes the human capital which is the unique set of resources the individual brings to his or her own work and to collaborative efforts Generally human capital models have developed separately from social capital models but in the practice of science and the career growth of scientists the two are not easily disentangled Using a multi factor model the book explores various factors affecting collaboration outcomes with particular attention on institutional factors such as industry university relations and the rise of large scale university research centers

  Ivory Tower and Industrial Innovation David C. Mowery,Richard R. Nelson,Bhaven N. Sampat,Arvids A. Ziedonis,2015-02-01 Since the early 1980s universities in the United States have greatly expanded their patenting and licensing activities The Congressional Joint Economic Committee among other authorities have argued that this surge contributed to the economic boom of the 1990s And many observers have attributed this trend to the Bayh Dole Act of 1980 Using quantitative analysis and detailed case studies this book tests that conventional wisdom and assesses the effects of the Act examining the diverse channels through which commercialization has occurred over the 20th century and since the passage of the Act   Measuring the Economic Value of Research Kaye Husbands Fealing,Julia I. Lane,John L. King,Stanley R. Johnson,2017-12-28 The scientific advances that underpin economic growth and human health would not be possible without research investments Yet demonstrating the impact of research programs is a challenge especially in areas that span disciplines industrial sectors and encompass both public and private sector activity All areas of research are under pressure to demonstrate benefits from federal funding of research This exciting and innovative study demonstrates new methods and tools to trace the impact of federal research funding on the structure of research and the subsequent economic activities of funded researchers The case study is food safety research which is critical to avoiding outbreaks of disease The authors make use of an extraordinary new data infrastructure and apply new techniques in text analysis Focusing on the impact of US federal food safety research this book develops vital data intensive methodologies that have a real world application to many other scientific fields Perspectives on partnership Horton, D.,Prain, G.,Thiele, G.,2009-11-30 This paper reports on a wide ranging review of the literature on partnerships and other closely related forms of collaboration It aims to contribute to knowledge of the actual and potential roles of partnership in international agricultural research for development The paper summarizes conclusions and insights from four distinct professional literatures research studies professional evaluation literature practitioner oriented reviews guidelines and assessment tools and CGIARrelated reviews evaluations and policy documents It identifies and analyzes key cross cutting themes and success factors highlights gaps in current knowledge and identifies high potential areas for further study A wide range of research based publications is reviewed including studies in such fields as management and organizational development public administration economics and international development Work in these fields covers such diverse topics as the role of inter organizational collaboration in strategic management public private and cross sector partnerships North South partnerships roles of partnership in linking research with action networking and transactions costs The different literatures talk little to each other and are highly self referential Nevertheless some common patterns themes and concerns emerge related to definitions partnership drivers and dynamics trust and mutuality power asymmetries and inequities and success factors It is noteworthy that empirical studies of partnerships are rare particularly in depth case studies Theoretical pieces seldom present empirical tests of hypotheses and practical guidelines are seldom grounded in theory There is a clear need for more systematic and in depth empirical research on partnership experiences Although partnership is now considered an essential way of working in many fields several authors caution that the costs of working in partnership may often exceed the benefits Before establishing a partnership one should identify a clear value added proposition Many reports on partnership prepared for the CGIAR are available only in grey literature leading to difficulties in accessing them and risking a loss of knowledge Gaps in knowledge are identified at the level of individual partnerships the level of the organizations that participate in or manage portfolios of partnerships and the level of research or innovation domains that are characterized by networks of partnerships Classroom Research Partnerships Debra K.
