Russia and the Making of Modern Greek Identity, 1821-1844 Lucien J. Frary, 2015-06-11 The birth of the Greek nation in 1830 was a pivotal event in modern European history and in the history of nation building in general As the first internationally recognized state to appear on the map of Europe since the French Revolution independent Greece provided a model for other national movements to emulate Throughout the process of nation formation in Greece the Russian Empire played a critical part Drawing upon a mass of previously fallow archival material most notably from Russian embassies and consulates this volume explores the role of Russia and the potent interaction of religion and politics in the making of modern Greek identity It deals particularly with the role of Eastern Orthodoxy in the transformation of the collective identity of the Greeks from the Ottoman Orthodox millet into the new Hellenic Christian imagined community Lucien J Frary provides the first comprehensive examination of Russian reactions to the establishment of the autocephalous Greek Church the earliest of its kind in the Orthodox Balkans and elucidates Russia's anger and disappointment during the Greek Constitutional Revolution of 1843 the leaders of which were Russophiles Employing Russian newspapers and thick journals of the era Frary probes responses within Russian reading circles to the reforms and revolutions taking place in the Greek kingdom More broadly the volume explores the making of Russian foreign policy during the reign of Nicholas I 1825-55 and provides a distinctively transnational perspective on the formation of modern identity

Essays in Ottoman and Turkish History, 1774-1923 Roderic

H. Davison, 2013-09-13 The effect of Western influence on the later Ottoman Empire and on the development of the modern Turkish nation state links these twelve essays by a prominent American scholar Roderic Davison draws from his extensive knowledge of Western diplomatic history and Turkish history to describe a period in which the actions of the Great Powers incipient and rising nationalisms and Westernizing reforms shaped the destiny of the Ottoman Empire and the creation of the new Turkish Republic Eleven of the essays were previously published in widely scattered journals and multi authored volumes The first of these provides a general survey of Turkish and Ottoman history from early Turkish times to the end of the Empire The following essays continue chronologically from 1774 detailing some of the changes in the nineteenth century Empire Several themes recur One is the impact of Western ideas and institutions and the resistance to that influence by some elements in the Empire Another concerns the diplomatic pressure exerted by the Great Powers of Europe on the Empire which amounted at times to direct intervention in Ottoman domestic affairs Taken together the essays portray a confluence of civilizations as well as a clash of cultures Professor Davison has written an interpretive introduction that sets out the historical trends running throughout the book In addition he includes a previously unpublished article on the advent of the electric telegraph in the Ottoman Empire to show how the adoption of a Western technological advance could affect many areas of life Of particular interest to students of Ottoman and Middle East history these essays will also be valuable for everyone concerned with modernization in developing nations Davison's interpretations and keen methodological sense also shed new light on several aspects of European diplomatic history

Nesselrode and the Russian Rapprochement with Britain, 1836-1844 Harold N. Ingle, 1976 Count Karl Nesselrode Russian foreign minister 1816 1856 was a controversial figure in the government of Nicholas I The rapprochement with Britain perhaps his finest achievement was opposed at every step by Russians who regarded Britain as a rival It was later condemned by tsarist historians as an example of the cosmopolitan diplomacy that weakened their country in competition with the Western powers Soviet historians have followed their lead asserting that it was against national interests But Nesselrode did avoid war in a series of dangerous confrontations in Asia and the Near East outmaneuvering opponents who wanted to meet Britain head on and he managed to extricate Russia from diplomatic isolation at the same time Finally he advanced bipartisanship in an agreement on the Eastern Question that led to the renewal of the European concert He was working to extend the areas of cooperation particularly by promoting freer trade and commerce when his opponents more effectively countered his influence in the mid 1840s Jacket flap
