Russian Dissenters:

Russian Dissenters Frederick Cornwallis Conybeare, 1921 Ministries of Compassion among Russian Evangelicals, 1905-1929 Mary Raber, 2016-05-13 The present study fills a gap in the study of the evangelical movement in Russia by presenting a comprehensive picture of their compassionate ministry during their longest stretch of relative freedom before the 1980s Better known for their energetic preaching and literature work Russian evangelicals also gave attention to compassionate ministry although it was never extensive because of their marginal status They established assistance funds organized charitable institutions practiced urban rescue ministry participated in the Russian temperance movement and established economic communities Each area is distinct yet all were supported by the same set of theological convictions The Russian evangelicals were convinced that their witness should consist of good works as well as words and that the gospel had the power to undo human suffering While intentionally cultivating an attitude of concern for the needs of others they taught that compassion was the concern of all members of the community regardless of economic status or age In their publications evangelicals devoted a good deal of teaching to the proper Christian attitude toward money and giving They drew on Western models but also their indigenous sectarian roots Russians in the Former Soviet Republics Pål Kolstø, 1995 The break up of the Soviet Union in 1989 left 25 million Russians living in the near abroad outside the borders of Russia proper They have become the subjects of independent nation states where the majority population is ethnically linguistically and often denominationally different The creation of this new Russian diaspora may well be the most significant minority problem created by the dissolution of the Soviet Union Paul Kolstoe traces the growth and role of the Russian population in non Russian areas of the Russian empire and then in the non Russian Soviet republics In the post Soviet period special attention is devoted to the situation of Russians in the Baltic countries Moldova Belarus Ukraine and the former Central Asian and Caucasian republics A chapter written jointly by Paul Kolstoe and Andrei Edemsky of the Institute of Slavonic and Balkan Studies Russian Academy of Sciences delineates present Russian policy toward the diaspora Finally Kolstoe suggests strategies for averting the repetition of the Yugoslav scenario on post Soviet soil The Russian Empire Sir Samuel Bagster Boulton (Bart.), 1882 Soviet Ukrainian Dissent Jaro Bilocerkowycz, 2019-07-11 In this book the author focuses on an important variant of Soviet dissent from 1963 through March 1985 to deepen understanding of the phenomena of political alienation and dissent and to stimulate further study of political dissent in the USSR and elsewhere

Russian Life in Town and Country Francis H. E. Palmer, 1901 The Empire of the Tsars and the Russians: The religion Anatole Leroy-Beaulieu, 1896 Russian Writers and Society in the Nineteenth Century Ronald Hingley, 2021-06-15 This book first published in 1977 begins with a close look at the lives of nineteenth century Russian writers and at the problems of their profession It then examines their environment in its broader aspects the Russian empire being considered from the point of view of geography ethnography economics and the impact of individual Tsars on writers and society A discussion of the main social estates follows and concluding is an analysis in their literary context of the activities of the competing forces of cohesion and disruption in imperial society the civil service law courts police army schools universities press censorship revolutionaries and agitators This book makes possible a fuller understanding of the works of Pushkin Dostoyevsky Chekhov and the other great Russian writers Russia and Eastern Europe, 1789-1985 Raymond Pearson, 1989 The Russian Ecclesiastical Mission in Peking During the Eighteenth Century Widmer, 2020-03-17 This book is the first analytical treatment in any language of the most durable sino foreign institution in modern Chinese history It traces the beginnings of a Russian Orthodox presence in Peking several decades back before the commonly held date of its origin It also shows how the news of the plight of prisoners from the Russian fortress of Albazin taken by the Ching in 1685 was transmitted back to Russia and how the indecisiveness of the official Russian response colored the entire subsequent history of the mission The chapters on the Orthodox missionary life in Peking and on the institutions of the mission provide us with new insight into life in the Ching capital The tentative beginnings of Russian scholarly and scientific interest in Chinese matters an outgrowth of the missionary presence in Peking are also discussed The book tackles an especially difficult case for by ordinary standards the Russian ecclesiastical mission was a failure not a success The monks and students were an unruly lot the mission itself never functioned as a full diplomatic institution and the Chinese frequently treated the missionaries with neglect or disdain Yet as the author demonstrates even this apparent failure had a purpose The mission served to maintain a minimal contact between the two empires throughout a long period of conflicting ambitions and actions in the Inner Asian theater Commerce in Russian Urban Culture, 1861-1914 William Craft Brumfield, B. V.
