The Patriotism of Despair Serguei Alex. Oushakine, 2011-02-23 The sudden dissolution of the Soviet Union altered the routines norms celebrations and shared understandings that had shaped the lives of Russians for generations It also meant an end to the state sponsored nonmonetary support that most residents had lived with all their lives How did Russians make sense of these historic transformations Serguei Alex Oushakine offers a compelling look at postsocialist life in Russia In Barnaul a major industrial city in southwestern Siberia that has lost 25 percent of its population since 1991 many Russians are finding that what binds them together is loss and despair The Patriotism of Despair examines the aftermath of the collapse of the Soviet Union graphically described in spray paint by a graffiti artist in Barnaul We have no Motherland Once socialism disappeared as a way of understanding the world what replaced it in people s minds Once socialism stopped orienting politics and economics how did capitalism insinuate itself into routine practices Oushakine offers a compelling look at postsocialist life in noncosmopolitan Russia He introduces readers to the neocoms people who mourn the loss of the Soviet economy and the remonetization of transactions that had not involved the exchange of cash during the Soviet era Moving from economics into military conflict and personal loss Oushakine also describes the ways in which veterans of the Chechen war and mothers of soldiers who died there have connected their immediate experiences with the country s historical disruptions The country the nation and traumatized individuals Oushakine finds are united by their vocabulary of shared pain

Russian Dramatic Theory from Pushkin to the Symbolists Laurence P. Senelick, 2014-09-10 Although younger than most European theatrical traditions the Russian professional theater has generated an exciting body of criticism and theory which until recently has remained unknown or nearly inaccessible in the West This anthology presents a selection of important Russian writing on the aesthetics of drama and the theater from 1828 to 1914 The focus of these essays most published here for the first time in English is on the so called Crisis in the Theater of 1904 to 1914 a lively debate between the symbolists and the naturalists that evoked brilliant polemic writing from Meyerhold Bely Bryusov and others Along with Chekhov's amusing critique of Sarah Bernhardt monstrously facile and Ivanov's abstruse analysis of the essence of tragedy the essays form a running commentary on the development of the Russian theater Pushkin on his predecessors Gogol on his own work Belinsky on Gogol Sleptsov on Ostrovsky and Leskov Bely on Chekhov's The Cherry Orchard enervated people trying to forget the terror of life the symbolists on one another Each selection is printed in its entirety with extensive notes and a lengthy introduction places all the pieces within their historical and cultural contexts to comprise a brief history of Russian dramatic theory before the revolution This volume is essential reading for all who wish to extend their knowledge of the Russian contribution to theatrical history theory and criticism

The Visual Dominant in Eighteenth-Century Russia Marcus C. Levitt, 2011-10-01 The Enlightenment privileged vision as the principle means of understanding the world but the eighteenth century Russian preoccupation with sight was not merely a Western import In his masterful study Levitt shows the visual to have had deep indigenous roots in Russian Orthodox culture and theology arguing that the visual played a crucial role in the formation of early modern Russian culture and identity Levitt traces the early modern Russian quest for visibility from jubilant self-discovery to serious reflexivity to anxiety and crisis The book examines verbal constructs of sight in poetry drama philosophy theology essay memoir that provide evidence for understanding the special character of vision of the epoch Levitt's groundbreaking work represents both a new reading of various central and lesser known texts and a broader revisualization of Russian eighteenth century culture Works that have considered the intersections of Russian literature and the visual in recent years have dealt almost exclusively with the modern period or with icons The Visual Dominant in Eighteenth Century Russia is an important addition to the scholarship and will be of major interest to scholars and students of Russian literature culture and religion and specialists on the Enlightenment
