Semiramis If I Remember Selfportrait As Mask:

Semiramis If I Remember (self-portrait as Mask) Keith Waldrop, 2001 Poetry SEMIRAMIS IF I REMEMBER is a quietly remarkable meditation on life and death Poet Keith Waldrop has seen much of both and here turns his attention to all that can get lost in living attempting to evoke and remember what remains Waldrop's sixteenth book of poetry offers the reader instants from the whole life of the poet from his earliest childhood memories and encounters with the possibilities of language to his later years of reflections dreams and vigorous struggles with darkness With their references to the gothic and a pervasive recognition of absence these are haunted poems One of the most important writers translators and publishers of avant garde literature in our time Publishers Weekly Among the many books by Keith Waldrop available from SPD is the recent HAUNT Another Language Kornelia Freitag, Katharina Vester, 2008 In an age of globalization computerization and commodification why read poetry It seems ill suited to meet today's challenges Or is it This volume which collects papers and poems read at a conference on British and North American experimental poetry demonstrates the opposite *First real explanation for my compulsion to photograph myself in my mirror I scrambled through childhood pictures taken of me and then those that I began taking of myself I didn't know what I was looking for until I my first mirrored portrait I was 15 years old and wearing a white shirt and the same earrings that I wear today I was in a bathroom in the basement of my high school in Philadelphia and knowing how private I was as a teenager I am sure so one was down there but me My face is very serious in the photo I wasn't looking into the camera but at the mirror The camera was in my right hand and facing the mirror I chose to keep the camera in the frame I do not do that any more The image was blurry so I know I didn't use a tripod and the print quality was poor and stained with old high school photo chemicals This image is the first self portrait I printed myself Eight years later that photo hangs on my wall in the same cheap frame After that image I was photographed more than I can remember at any other point in my life I was popular and people were very accepting of me and I liked that I was featured in shows in high school and was a comedian who could make everyone laugh I even worked my way into being the winner of a beauty pageant photographed for magazines interviewed for television and honored as valedictorian of my undergraduate class It was at that time that I knew I was an artist I could create not just paintings and drawings but personas characters and faces for myself They worked I was comfortable in them To be in character was perfect for me I could hide anything at any moment to the untrained eye and I did it well for about 6 years In the sixth year I moved to Ohio Here I didn't need my old masks as much I have no family here and no one knows who I was back home and what I've done I can create new masks all types of masks They didn't need to have a purpose or function as the others did The mask could be anything and I could be ANYONE in my masks here I use the camera to keep track of them all
