Sense Of Place Reevaluating Regionalism In Canadian And American Writing:

A Sense of Place Christian Riegel, 1998-03 A re evaluation of regionalism in Canadian and American writing A Sense of Place provides a comparative approach to the issue within a continental framework The contributors to this collection including Frank Davey Marjorie Pryse and Jonathan Hart look at a broad range of writers They explore regionalism on both sides of the border in light of the central political cultural literary and theoretical debates of our times A Sense of Place, 1998 History, Literature and the Writing of the Canadian Prairies Alison Calder, Robert Wardhaugh, 2005-05-16 The Canadian Prairie has long been represented as a timeless and unchanging location defined by settlement and landscape Now a new generation of writers and historians challenge that perception and argue instead that it is a region with an evolving culture and history In a collection of ten essays History Literature and the Writing of the Canadian Prairies explores a more contemporary prairie identity and reconfigures the prairie as a construct that is non linear and diverse responding to the impact of geographical historical and political currents These writers explore the connections between document and imagination between history and culture and between geography and time The subjects of the essays range widely the non linear structure of Carol Shield s The Stone Diaries the impact of Aberhart s Social Credit Marshall McLuhan and Mesopotamian myth on Robert Kroetsch s prairie postmodernism the role of document in long prairie poems the connection between cultural tourism and heritage the theme of regeneration in Margaret Laurence s Manawaka writing the influence of imagination on geography in Thomas Wharton s Icefields and the effects on an alpine climber of pre WWII ideological concepts of time and individualism The Cambridge Companion to Canadian Literature Eva-Marie Kröller, 2004-02-05 This book offers a comprehensive and engaging introduction to major writers genres and topics in Canadian literature Contributors pay attention to the social political and economic developments that have informed literary events Broad surveys of fiction drama and poetry are complemented by chapters on Aboriginal writing francophone writing autobiography literary criticism writing by women and the emergence of urban writing in a country traditionally defined by its regions Also discussed are genres that have a special place in Canadian literature such as nature writing exploration and travel writing and short fiction Writing in Dust Jenny Kerber, 2011-03-17 Writing in Dust is the first sustained study of prairie Canadian literature from an ecocritical perspective Drawing on recent scholarship in environmental theory and criticism Jenny Kerber considers the ways in which prairie writers have negotiated processes of ecological and cultural change in the region from the early twentieth century to the present The book begins by proposing that current environmental problems in the prairie region can be understood by examining the longstanding tendency to describe its diverse terrain in dualistic terms either as an idyllic natural space or as an irredeemable wasteland It inquires into the sources of stories that naturalize ecological prosperity and hardship and investigates how such narratives have been deployed from the period of colonial settlement to the present It then considers the ways in which works by both canonical and more recent writers ranging from

Robert Stead W O Mitchell and Margaret Laurence to Tim Lilburn Louise Halfe and Thomas King consistently challenge these dualistic landscape myths proposing alternatives for the development of more ecologically just and sustainable relationships among people and between humans and their physical environments Writing in Dust asserts that reading environmentally can help us to better understand a host of issues facing prairie inhabitants today including the environmental impacts of industrial agriculture resource extraction climate change shifting urban rural demographics the significance of Indigenous understandings of human nature relationships and the complex often contradictory meanings of eco cultural metaphors of alien invasiveness hybridity and wildness New Brunswick at the Crossroads Tony Tremblay, 2017-10-25 What is the relationship between literature and the society in which it incubates Are there common political social and economic factors that predominate during periods of heightened literary activity New Brunswick at the Crossroads Literary Ferment and Social Change in the East considers these questions and explores the relationships between periods of creative ferment in New Brunswick and the socio cultural conditions of those times The province's literature is ideally suited to such a study because of its bicultural character in both English and French periods of intense literary creativity occurred at different times and for different reasons What emerges is a cultural geography in New Brunswick that has existed not in isolation from the rest of Canada but often at the creative forefront of imagined alternatives in identity and citizenship At a time when cultural industries are threatened by forces that seek to negate difference and impose uniformity New Brunswick at the Crossroads provides an understanding of the intersection of cultures and social economies contributing to critical discussions about what constitutes the creative in Canadian society especially in rural non central spaces like New Brunswick Toward Defining the Prairies Robert Wardhaugh, 2001-04-30 New ways of thinking about literature and history have radically changed how we think about or even define a region like the Prairie West In fact the very concept of defining has come into question by new theoretical approaches and it may now seem a hopeless endeavour But the process of defining can be just as important as the actual production of a definition Toward Defining the Prairies highlights recent approaches to thinking about the Prairie West Bounded by pieces from well known historian Gerald Friesen and Governor General's Award winning writer Robert Kroetsch these 13 essays are as diverse as the region itself In their examination of different aspects of Prairie history literature climate society culture and identity they help to provide a new understanding of this place and of the complexities of its definition The Geographical Imagination of Annie Proulx Alex Hunt, 2010-11-23 This highly readable edited collection focuses on the work of Pulitzer Prize winning author Annie Proulx Each contributor to this volume explores a different facet of Proulx's striking attention to geography place landscape regional environments and local economies in her writing Covering all of her novels and short story collections scholars from the United States Canada and abroad engage in critical analyses of Proulx's new regionalism use of geographical settings and themes of displacement and immigration Taken together these essays demonstrate Annie Proulx's contribution to new regionalist understandings of place on local national and global scales Readers will come away with a better understanding of Proulx's particular landscapes particularly those of Wyoming New England Texas and Newfoundland and the issues surrounding the significance of these regions in contemporary American culture and literature The Routledge

Handbook of Black Canadian Literature Andrea A. Davis, Leslie Sanders, 2024-12-09 The Routledge Handbook of Black Canadian Literature offers a comprehensive overview of the growing and increasingly significant field of Black Canadian literary studies Including historical and contemporary analysis this volume is an essential text that maps the field over the almost 200 years of its existence across a range of genres from slave narratives to prose fiction poetry theatre and dub and spoken word It presents Black Canadian literature as encompassing a diverse set of viewpoints approaches and practices touching every aspect of Canadian territory and life and as deeply influencing debates and understandings of Black peoples far beyond its borders This Handbook employs an interdisciplinary framework that incorporates literary historical geographical and cultural analysis This book comprising 32 chapters is organized into five sections that chart the literature's development into a recognizable canon trace Black literary geographies across Canada from east to west delineate the literature's various genres and expressive forms and honor the writers and thinkers who have influenced the growth of the field This volume's range of subject and plurality of perspectives provide an excellent resource for teachers researchers and students from multiple disciplines including Canadian studies and literature Caribbean studies global Black studies hemispheric studies diaspora studies history and cultural studies Sensing Space Claire Omhòvère, 2007 This book enlarges the perspective of literary geography which tends to focus on the correspondence between the objective world the geographer addresses and its subjective rendering in art Instead it considers how geography informs fresh aesthetic responses to space in contemporary Canadian literature with specific attention to the writings of Alistair MacLeod Jane Urquhart Anne Michaels Aritha van Herk Rudy Wiebe Robert Kroetsch and Thomas Wharton This broadening leads to a series of interrogations what blanks in conventional landscape writing does physical geography fill and how Where does the efficiency of geography lie beyond its scientific accuracy or descriptive relevance Pondering the role of geography in a work of art therefore amounts to considering what makes geography work as art is there such a thing as a poetics of geography Because the place of the writer and the representation of space remain two central concerns in Canadian writing the texts under scrutiny help elucidate the critical role performed by the geographical imagination a phrase used by theoreticians as diverse as Edward Said Edward Soja or Derek Gregory in the fabrication of symbolic ties between Canadians and the land they have come to share Making it Home Deborah Keahey, 1998-12-01 Traditional approaches to Prairie literature have focussed on the significance of the land in attempts to make a place into a home The emphasis on the importance of landscape as a defining feature ignores the important roles played by other influences brought to the land such as history culture gender ethnicity religion community family and occupation Deborah Keahey considers over 70 years of Canadian Prairie literature including poetry autobiography drama and fiction The 17 writers range from the well established like Martha Ostenso and Robert Kroetsch to newer writers like Ian Ross and Kelly Rebar Through their works she asks whether the Prairies are a physical or a political creation whether home is made by what you bring with you or what you find when you arrive and she incorporates the influences and effects far beyond landscape to understand what guides the home making process of both the writers and their creations Her study acknowledges that home is a complicated concept and making a place into a home place is a complicated process Informed by current linguistic feminist postcolonial and cultural theory Keahey explores these concepts in depth and redefines our understanding of place home and the relationship between them

Democracy in Canada Donald J. Savoie, 2019-09-02 Canada s representative democracy is confronting important challenges At the top of the list is the growing inability of the national government to perform its most important roles namely mapping out collective actions that resonate in all regions as well as enforcing these measures Others include Parliament s failure to carry out important responsibilities an activist judiciary incessant calls for greater transparency the media s rapidly changing role and a federal government bureaucracy that has lost both its way and its standing Arguing that Canadians must reconsider the origins of their country in order to understand why change is difficult and why they continue to embrace regional identities Democracy in Canada explains how Canada s national institutions were shaped by British historical experiences and why there was little effort to bring Canadian realities into the mix As a result the scope and size of government and Canadian federalism have taken on new forms largely outside the Constitution Parliament and now even Cabinet have been pushed aside so that policy makers can design and manage the modern state This also accounts for the average citizen s belief that national institutions cater to economic elites to these institutions own members and to interest groups at citizens own expense A masterwork analysis Democracy in Canada investigates the forces shaping the workings of Canadian federalism and the country s national political and bureaucratic institutions the nation city community and individual subject in reproducing space particularly in times of global hegemony and neocolonialism And in what ways do marginalized individuals and communities represent contest or appropriate spaces through counter narratives and expressions of culture from below Focusing on discord rather than harmony and consensus this collection disturbs the idealized space of Canadian multicultural pluralism to carry literary analysis and cultural studies into spaces often undetected and unforeseen including flophouses and slums shantytowns and urban alleyways underground spaces and peep shows and inner city urban parks as they are experienced by minorities and other marginalized groups These essays are the products of sustained high level collaboration across French and English academic communities in Canada to facilitate theoretical exchange on the topic of space and contestation uncover geographies of exclusion and generate new spaces of hope in the spirit of pioneering works by Henri Lefebvre Michel Foucault Michel de Certeau Doreen Massey David Harvey and other prominent theorists of space

The Newfoundland Diaspora Jennifer Bowering Delisle, 2013-06-01 Out migration driven by high unemployment and a floundering economy has been a defining aspect of Newfoundland society for well over a century and it reached new heights with the cod moratorium in 1992 This Newfoundland diaspora has had a profound impact on the province's literature Many writers and scholars have referred to Newfoundland out migration as a diaspora but few have examined the theoretical implications of applying this contested term to a predominantly inter provincial movement of mainly white economically motivated migrants The Newfoundland Diaspora argues that diaspora helpfully references the painful displacement of a group whose members continue to identify with each other and with the homeland It examines important literary works of the Newfoundland diaspora including the poetry of E J Pratt the drama of David French the fiction of Donna Morrissey and Wayne Johnston and the memoirs of David Macfarlane These works are the sites of a broad inquiry into the theoretical flashpoints of affect diasporic authenticity nationalism race and ethnicity The literature of the Newfoundland diaspora both contributes to and responds to critical movements in Canadian literature and culture querying the place of regional national and ethnic affiliations in a literature drawn along the borders of the nation state This diaspora plays a part in defining Canada even as it looks beyond the borders of Canada as a literary community
