Rescue of Sturgeon Species in the Ural River Basin Viktor Lagutov, 2008-10-22 While almost every aspect of society nature interactions can be treated as an environmental security issue the threats to human societies originating from inadequate freshwater management constitute one of the most widespread and pressing problems For thousands of years rivers and river valleys have been the cradle of human civilizations Rivers have provided not only food and freshwater but also shelter and means of transportation and they are still an essential component in every national and regional economy In turn growing needs of human societies accompanied by growing abilities have caused significant river alterations and ecosystem changes that have resulted in river contamination biodiversity loss and general riverine ecosystem degradation The extinction of sturgeon species is one of the most eloquent examples of the negative and irreversible influence of human society on river ecosystems The sturgeon sometimes called the living fossil or living dinosaur of the fish world is known to have lived since the time of the dinosaurs for at least 250 million years and is currently on the verge of extinction solely due to anthropogenic impacts

Environmental Security in Watersheds: The Sea of Azov Viktor Lagutov,2011-10-23 Watersheds supplying crucial ecosystem services to humans seem to be a logical territorial unit to integrate societal benefits and environmental needs in order to evaluate the sustainability of natural resource use patterns Based on this belief the book is an attempt to initiate a comprehensive environmental security assessment in the basin of the Azov Sea shared by Russia and Ukraine Though the region provides a variety of essential services and plays a strategic role in national and international development plans it has been excluded from most regional environmental discussions At the same time there is an alarming degradation rate of basin freshwater ecosystems that has occurred due to overutilization of certain prioritized services e g transportation The collapse of neglected services e g fishery and freshwater supply poses serious threats to the national economies as well as the local population and to mitigate these threats priority in water management should be given to securing sustainability of the regional freshwater ecosystems In addition to the review of the current status of Azov ecosystem services the authors analyze likely future availability and challenges The relevant experience derived from basin management of the Black Sea and other similar basins is also discussed

Action Plan for the Conservation of Sturgeons (Acipenseridae) in the Danube River Basin Jürg Bloesch,2006-01-01 Six species of sturgeons are native to the Danube River Basin The need for conservation action is urgent given that recent observations in the Lower Danube indicate that all sturgeon populations are near extinction Due to the high commercial value of sturgeon products in particular caviar the pressure from poaching and illegal trade remains intense These species will not survive unless fishing practices are greatly addressed and both migration routes and habitats for all life cycle stages are protected Through national action and international co ordination this action plan aims to secure viable populations of all Danube sturgeon species by sustainable management and restoration of their natural habitats and migratory corridors elements within Serbia's security services. In doing so he portrays the background and events of the Sarajevo Assassination and the subsequent military campaigns and diplomacy on the Balkan Front during 1914. The book details the first battle of the First World War, the first Allied victory and the massive military humiliations Austria-Hungary suffered at the hands of tiny Serbia while discussing the oversized strategic role Serbia played for the Allies during 1914. Lyon challenges existing historiography that contends the Habsburg Army was ill prepared for war and shows that the Dual Monarchy was in fact superior in manpower and technology to the Serbian Army thus laying blame on Austria-Hungary's military leadership rather than on its state of readiness. Based on archival sources from Belgrade, Sarajevo and Vienna and using never before seen material to discuss secret negotiations between Turkey and Belgrade to carve up Albania, Serbia's desertion epidemic, its near surrender to Austria-Hungary in November 1914 and how Serbia became the first belligerent to openly proclaim its war aims, Serbia and the Balkan Front 1914 enriches our understanding of the outbreak of the war and Serbia's role in modern Europe. It is of great importance to students and scholars of the history of the First World War as well as military, diplomatic and modern European history.

The Adelphi Players Dr Cecil Davies, 2013-12-16 Cecil Davies The Adelphi Players The Theatre of Persons represents a uniquely interesting contribution to our understanding of touring British theatre in the mid twentieth century post war period. This book will interest everyone whether student, academic or general reader who wants to know more about issues concerning the recent history of British theatre. In their values and aims, The Adelphi Players pre-empted many of the post war developments that we associate with the non-commercial fringe and community theatre movement. In Richard Heron Ward, founder of the Adelphi Players, we encounter a dramatist, novelist, essayist and poet who has been unusually neglected in terms of our appreciation of the English literature of the broad left in the 1930s, 40s and 50s. The Adelphi Players has been edited by Peter Billingham who has also provided an introduction placing Ward and the Adelphi players in the wider social, cultural and ideological context.

Edward Bond Letters Edward Bond, 1994 Edward Bond Letters 5 contains over thirty letters and papers covering Bond's controversial views on violence and justice, plays, writers and directors and a postscript that is Bond's discussion of the funeral of Diana, Princess of Wales. As always, the explosive content of these letters applies to Bond's plays and society as a whole. We learn through these absorbing letters his attitude to violence. Bond believes that all violence is the manifestation of an unbalanced and dangerous society. As with the four preceding volumes in this collection, Edward Bond is critical of our present theatre but at the same time his observations are useful in indicating how theatre can be changed. Bond's illustrations provide a lively accompaniment to the letters.
