

The background of the image is a stylized, low-angle view of a city street at night. Two large, imposing mechs stand in the center. The mech on the left is primarily gold and black, with a helmeted head. The mech on the right is primarily red and black, with a more humanoid head featuring a blue visor and red eyes. The sky is a deep blue with some light streaks. The overall aesthetic is reminiscent of anime-style mecha.

The Gulag Doctors Dan Healey, 2024-01-01 A pioneering history of medical care in Stalin's Gulag showing how doctors and nurses cared for inmates in appalling conditions A byword for injustice suffering and mass mortality the Gulag exploited prisoners compelling them to work harder for better rations in shocking conditions From 1930 to 1953 eighteen million people passed through this penal industrial empire Many inmates not reaching their quotas succumbed to exhaustion emaciation and illness It seems paradoxical that any medical care was available in the camps But it was in fact ubiquitous By 1939 the Gulag Sanitary Department employed 10 000 doctors nurses and paramedics about 40 percent of whom were prisoners Dan Healey explores the lives of the medical staff who treated inmates in the Gulag Doctors and nurses faced extremes of repression supply shortages and isolation Yet they still created hospitals re-fed prisoners treated diseases and saved a proportion of their patients They taught apprentices and conducted research too This groundbreaking account offers an unprecedented view of Stalin's forced labour camps as experienced by its medical staff Metal Industry, 1914 Metal Finishing, 1914

Encountering Islam on the First Crusade Nicholas Morton, 2016-07-14 The First Crusade 1095-9 has often been characterised as a head-to-head confrontation between the forces of Christianity and Islam For many it is the campaign that created a lasting rupture between these two faiths Nevertheless is such a characterisation borne out by the sources Engagingly written and supported by a wealth of evidence Encountering Islam on the First Crusade offers a major reinterpretation of the crusaders' attitudes towards the Arabic and Turkic peoples they encountered on their journey to Jerusalem Nicholas Morton considers how they interpreted the new peoples' civilizations and landscapes they encountered sights for which their former lives in Western Christendom had provided little preparation Morton offers a varied picture of cross-cultural relations depicting the Near East as an arena in which multiple protagonists were pitted against each other Some were fighting for supremacy others for their religion and many simply for survival

Why the World Doesn't Make Sense Christine Menedis, 2025-04-15 A rare hopeful read that will forever change the way you see the world The world is unraveling and most people can feel it But the deeper problem isn't the chaos It's that nothing makes sense anymore In Why the World Doesn't Make Sense writer and thinker Christine Menedis traces the fracture beneath our modern moment exposing how a forgotten shift in how we define the human person led to the confusion fragmentation and loss of liberty we now call normal She reveals how our institutions ideologies and even our best attempts at solutions are all rooted in a broken understanding of the individual This isn't a culture war book It's not a call to rebuild the system or to burn it down It's about truth what happens when a society loses it and how to find our way back home

Transnational Organised Crime Adam Edwards, Peter Gill, 2004-02-24 The perceived threat of transnational organized crime to Western societies has been of huge interest to politicians policy makers and social scientists over the last decade This book considers the origins of this crime how it has been defined and measured and the appropriateness of governments policy responses The contributors argue that while serious harm is often caused by transnational criminal activity for example the trafficking in human beings the construction of that criminal activity as an external threat obscures the origins of these crimes in the markets for illicit goods and services within the threatened societies As such the authors question the extent to which global crime can be controlled through law enforcement initiatives and alternative policy initiatives are considered The authors also question whether transnational organised crime will retain its place on the policy agendas of the United Nations and European Union in the wake of the War on Terror
