Before we start discussing the book "Event, metaphor, memory" by Shahid Amin, it is absolutely necessary to get at least an approximate idea of the events in Chauri Chaura in 1922, which were the historical background of the book.

First, it should be mentioned that Chauri Chaura is a small town nearby Gorakhpur, Uttar Pradesh, in India, where, in February 1922, a British police station was attacked by nationalists. This armed conflict left 22 police officers dead. It should also be taken into account that at the beginning of 1922, there was a nationwide rebellion in India, which is now considered to be the Non-Cooperation Movement that remonstrated against authoritarian laws like, for instance, the Rowlatt Acts, which were adopted in 1919.

It was mostly the fact that Indians were deprived of their civil rights in their own county, which was the cause of the rebellion, and, naturally, they wanted to achieve self-government. This revolt was organized by the Indian National Congress, and its leader was Mahatma Gandhi, who pursued the so-called policy of satyagraha (non-violent resistance to the British rule in India).

On February 4 in 1922, at least 2,000 rebels gathered near the liquor shop at the local market in Chauri Chaura. Armed police forces were sent to the city police station to alleviate tension. The mob went towards the market and began to shout anti-government slogans. The police gave a warning shot. Nevertheless, the effect on the crowd was just the opposite, they were extremely aggressive and did not intend to retreat, and soon they started throwing stones at the armed police officers. Seeing the situation was beyond control, the sub-inspector commended the police officers for opening fire on the crowd.

Three rebels were killed at once, two Hindu and one Muslim, and some of the rebellions were wounded. The crowd became violent and assaulted the police. The armed police officers did not dare shoot at the unarmed people, and they took cover in the police station. The crowd was intent on taking revenge for their killed comrades, and

Memory has fueled merciless violent strife and it has been at the core of reconciliation and reconstruction It has been used to justify great crimes and yet it is central to the pursuit of justice In these and more everyday ways we live surrounded by memory individual and social in our habits our names the places where we live street names libraries archives and our citizenship institutions and laws Still we wonder what to make of memory and its gifts though sometimes we are hardly even certain that they are gifts Of the many chambers in this vast palace I mean to ask particularly after the place of memory in politics in the identity of political communities and in their practices of doing justice from the Preface W James Booth seeks to understand the place of memory in the identity ethics and practices of justice of political communities Identity is he believes a particular kind of continuity across time one central to the possibility of agency and responsibility and memory plays a central role in grounding that continuity Memory identity takes two forms a habitlike form the deep presence of the past that is part of a life led in common and a more fragile vulnerable form in which memory struggles to preserve identity through time notably in bearing witness a form of memory work deeply bound up with the identity of political communities Booth argues that memory holds a defining place in determining how justice is administered Memory is tied to the very possibility of an ethical community one responsible for its own past able to make commitments for the future and driven to seek justice Underneath and motivating the politics of memory understood as contests over the writing of history over memorials museums and canons he writes there lies an intertwining of memory identity and justice Communities of Memory both argues for and maps out that intertwining

Nabokov's Art of Memory and European Modernism John Burt Foster, Jr.,1993-02-08 Despite Vladimir Nabokov's hostility toward literary labels he clearly recognized his own place in cultural history In a fresh approach stressing Nabokov's European context John Foster shows how this writer's art of memory intersects with early twentieth century modernism Tracing his interests in temporal perspective and the mnemonic image in intertextual reminiscences and in individuality amid cultural multiplicity the book begins with such early Russian novels as Mary then treats his emerging art of memory from Invitation of a Beheading to The Gift After discussing the author's cultural repositioning in his first English novels Foster turns to Nabokov's masterpiece as an artist of memory the autobiography Invitation of a Beheading and ends with an epilogue on Pale Fire As a cross cultural overview of modernism this book examines how Nabokov navigated among Proust and Bergson Freud and Mann and Joyce and Eliot It also explores his response to Baudelaire and Nietzsche as theorists of modernity and his sense of Dostoevsky Tolstoy and Pushkin as modernist precursors As an approach to Nabokov the book reflects the heightened importance of autobiography in current literary study Other critical issues addressed include Bakhtin's theory of intertextuality deconstructive views of memory Benjamin's modernism of memory and Nabokov's assumptions about modernism as a concept

Memory, Metaphors, and Meaning Nicolae Babuts,2017-07-05 Literature explores the human condition the mystery of the world life and death as well as our relations with others and our desires and dreams It differs from science in its aims and methods but Babuts shows in other respects that literature has much common ground with science Both aim for an authentic version of truth To this end literature employs metaphors and it does so in a manner similar to that of scientific inquiry The cognitive view does not imply that there is a one to one correlation between the world and text that meaning belongs to the author or that literature is equivalent to perception What it does maintain is that meaning is crucially dependent on mnemonic initiatives and that without memory the world remains meaningless Nicolae Babuts claims that at the interface with the printed page readers process texts in a manner similar to the way they explain the visible world in segments or units of meaning or dynamic patterns Babuts argues that humans achieve recognition by integrating stimulus sequences with corresponding patterns that recognize and interpret each segment of a text Memory produces meaning from these patterns In harmony with its goals memory may adopt specific strategies to deal with different stimuli Dynamic patterns link the unit of processing with the unit of meaning In sum Babuts proposes that meaning is achieved through metaphors and narrative and that both are ways to reach cognitive goals This original study offers perspectives that will interest cognitive psychologists as well as those simply interested in the process through which literature stirs the human imagination

Metaphors of Memory D. Draaisma,2000-12-07 What is memory It is at the same time ephemeral unreliable and essential to everything we do Without memory we lose our sense of identity reasoning even our ability to perform simple physical tasks Yet it is also elusive and difficult to define and throughout the ages philosophers and psychologists have used metaphors as a way of understanding it First published in 2000 this fascinating book takes the reader on a guided tour of these metaphors of memory from ancient times to the present day Crossing continents and disciplines it provides a compelling history of ideas about the mind by exploring the way these metaphors have been used metaphors often derived from the techniques and instruments developed over the years to store information ranging from wax tablets and books to photography computers and even the hologram Accessible and thought provoking this book should be read by anyone who is interested in memory and the mind Anglophone Jewish Literature Axel Stähler, 2007-09-14 English has become the major language of contemporary Jewish literature This book shows the transnational character of that literature and how traditional viewpoints need to be reassessed Memory, Metaphor and Mysticism in Kalidasa's AbhijñānaŚākuntalam Namrata Chaturvedi, 2020-03-28 A study of Abhijñānaśākuntalam has to situate the contexts in ancient through medieval Indian literature and scholarship before it comes to the colonial and the contemporary In epistemological privileging this text has become either a Hindoo play in the colonial Hindu drama in the Hindutva and a love story in the Western theoretical paradigms of scholarship The essays in Memory Metaphor and Mysticism in Kalidasa's Abhijñānaśākuntalam attempt to restore contexts especially philosophical contexts for reading this play Rooted Cosmopolitanism Will Kymlicka, 2012 Canadians take pride in being good citizens of the world yet our failure to meet commitments on the global stage raises questions Do Canadians need to transcend national loyalties to become full global citizens Is the very idea of rooted cosmopolitanism simply a myth that encourages complacency about Canada's place in the world In this volume leading scholars assess both in theory and practice the concept of rooted cosmopolitanism using Canada as a test case They show that local identities such as patriotism and Quebec nationalism can but need not conflict with cosmopolitan principles Local ties enable and impede Canada's global responsibilities in areas such as multiculturalism climate change immigration and refugee policy and humanitarian intervention By examining how Canada has negotiated its relations to the world both within and beyond its own borders Rooted Cosmopolitanism evaluates the possibility of reconciling local ties and nationalism with commitments to human rights global justice and international law Slavery and Public History James Oliver Horton, Lois E. Horton, 2014-03-25 A fascinating collection of essays by eminent historians exploring how we teach remember and confront the history and legacy of American slavery Booklist Online In recent years the culture wars have called into question the way America's history of slavery is depicted in books films television programs historical sites and museums In the first attempt to examine the historiography of slavery this unique collection of essays looks at recent controversies that have played out in the public arena with contributions by such noted historians as Ira Berlin David W. Blight and Gary B. Nash From the cancellation of the Library of Congress's Back of the Big House slavery exhibit at the request of the institution's African American employees who found the visual images of slavery too distressing to the public reaction to DNA findings confirming Thomas Jefferson's relationship with his slave Sally Hemings. Slavery and Public History takes on contemporary reactions to the fundamental contradiction of American history: the existence of slavery in a country dedicated to freedom and offers a bracing analysis of how Americans choose to remember the past and how those choices influence our politics and culture. Americans seem perpetually surprised by slavery's extent North as well as South its span over half of our four centuries of Anglo settlement and its continuing influence. The wide ranging yet connected essays in this book will help us all to remember and understand. James W. Loewen, author of Sundown Towns. The Ashgate Research Companion to Memory Studies Siobhan

Christopher D. Johnson, 2012-09-15 The work of German cultural theorist and art historian Aby Warburg (1866-1929) has had a lasting effect on how we think about images. This book is the first in English to focus on his last project, the encyclopedic Atlas of Images (Mnemosyne). Begun in earnest in 1927 and left unfinished at the time of Warburg's death in 1929, the Atlas consisted of sixty-three large wooden panels covered with black cloth. On these panels Warburg carefully intuitively arranged some thousand black and white photographs of classical and Renaissance art objects as well as of astrological and astronomical images ranging from ancient Babylon to Weimar Germany. Here and there he also included maps, manuscript pages and contemporary images taken from newspapers. Trying through these constellations of images to make visible the many polarities that fueled antiquity's afterlife, Warburg envisioned the Atlas as a vital form of metaphoric thought. While the nondiscursive, frequently digressive character of the Atlas complicates any linear narrative of its themes and contents, Christopher D. Johnson traces several thematic sequences in the panels. By drawing on Warburg's published and unpublished writings and by attending to Warburg's cardinal idea that pathos formulas structure the West's cultural memory, Johnson maps numerous tensions between word and image in the Atlas. In addition to examining the work itself, he considers the literary, philosophical and intellectual historical implications of the Atlas. As Johnson demonstrates, the Atlas is not simply the culmination of Warburg's lifelong study of Renaissance culture but the ultimate expression of his now literal now metaphoric search for syncretic solutions to the urgent problems posed by the history of art and culture
