

A photograph of two women from behind, standing in a field of tall grass. They are both wearing cowboy hats and looking out at a bright sunset or sunrise over a horizon. The woman on the left is wearing a floral dress, and the woman on the right is wearing a light-colored dress with a bow. The sky is a mix of orange, yellow, and white, and the grass is dark and silhouetted.

Good Housekeeping ,1908 The Neo-Aramaic Oral Heritage of the Jews of Zakho Oz Aloni, 2022-02-10 In 1951 the secluded Neo Aramaic speaking Jewish community of Zakho migrated collectively to Israel It carried with it its unique language culture and customs many of which bore resemblance to those found in classical rabbinic literature Like others in Kurdistan for example the Jews of Zakho retained a vibrant tradition of creating and performing songs based on embellishing biblical stories with Aggadic traditions Despite the recent growth of scholarly interest into Neo Aramaic communities however studies have to this point almost exclusively focused on the linguistic analysis of their critically endangered dialects and little attention has been paid to the sociological historical and literary analysis of the cultural output of the diverse and isolated Neo Aramaic communities of Kurdistan In this innovative book Oz Aloni seeks to redress this balance Aloni focuses on three genres of the Zakho community's oral heritage: the proverb, the enriched biblical narrative, and the folktale. Each chapter draws on the author's own fieldwork among members of the Zakho community now living in Jerusalem. He examines the proverb in its performative context, the rewritten biblical narrative of Ruth, Naomi, and King David, and a folktale with the unusual theme of magical gender transformation. Insightfully breaking down these examples with analysis drawn from a variety of conceptual fields, Aloni succeeds in his mission to put the speakers of the language and their culture on equal footing with their speech. The Martin Buber Society of Fellows at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem have kindly supported the publication of this volume.

The Calf Leif Høghaug, 2025-11-11. On violence, crime, guilt, and atonement. We meet our narrator in an underground office where he sharpens pencils, shreds paper, makes coffee for the other employees, and thinks over and over about a late night that he has been trying to forget for a long time. In between the meaningless work, he manages to scratch down some names and phrases and conjures up a dream from 1980s Hadeland. In this saga, Hadeland is a shadow home where spooks, ghosts, angels, and robot-like creatures are just as natural as animals and flesh-and-blood humans. But what happened that late summer night? What is it that the narrator has tried to forget? And who is this Calf who was killed to death? Our narrator takes readers in circles through different events, times, and places, a whirlwind in which the calf and other characters are like prisoners in a tornado from Dante's Inferno. The Calf is a peasant story, a western novel, a dream, a quatrain, an adventure, science fiction, and a black comedy about violence, crime, guilt, and atonement.
