

The faculty for the course is headed by Geof Cox and Phil Trimmer who are both experienced as senior managers in the oil & gas industry, as well as being experts and consultants in their specialist management fields.

Geof Cox has twenty five years of international experience as an organisation change and management development consultant, working with public, private and not for profit organisations in Western and Eastern Europe, the Middle East, USA, Asia Pacific and Africa. Prior to establishing his own consulting business.

Geof had a long and successful career as a line manager with Exxon in the UK, working predominantly in the marketing, distribution and HR functions. During this time he was responsible for the successful implementation of a number of organisation change programs and strategic business improvement projects.

As a consultant, he has maintained his oil & gas industry focus, working on projects for organisations such as BP (Chemicals, America, British Gas, Bristol, Kuwait Petroleum, National Grid Transco, Exxon, Saudi Arabian Refining, SABIC, Lloyds Register and Bechtel. He has a B.S.Sc from the Queen's University of Belfast, is a chartered member of the Chartered Institute of Personnel and Development, a fellow of the Chartered Management Institute and a member of the British Institute of Learning and Development.

Phil Trimmer is an experienced senior business executive, who in the course of a 30-year career with BP held a wide variety of Corporate and Government posts, mainly in Financial Control and Strategic Planning/Business Development roles; mostly in the UK, but also in Brussels and Stockholm, where he was Chief Financial Officer (CFO) of the Refining and Marketing business.

His final full-time role was as CFO for Air BP, the aviation fuelling subsidiary, for over 2 years. In BP Phil built a successful track record of developing, running and leading teams on business training programs (notably on Financial Decision Making, Refinery Business, Supply Economics, Russian Commercial Awareness and Aviation Project Evaluation). Since 1999 he has run his own consulting business, specialising in the development, design and running of financial skills training programs for organisations that need to improve the quality of their financial decision-making, at everything from introductory/basic to advanced levels.

Phil has led over ninety courses for BP, the UK Energy Institute and other organisations and has contributed many full-day sessions to other courses, for example on the Economics of the Oil Business and on specific sectors such as Downstream, Refining and Aviation Fuelling; he has a First Class Degree from Sheffield University (Economics with Accounting & Financial Administration) and is a member of the UK Energy Institute.

Helping to design the program is Frank Penson. He is a strategic training and development expert, who has extensive experience in the oil & gas industry.

Franks Penson is a senior human resources consultant, with a strong commercial and academic pedigree. He was educated at Cambridge University where he completed his first masters degree (Master of Arts) in Classics. He gained 17 years' experience with the Exxon Corporation in a wide range of general management positions, including marketing, international staffing (Europe, Middle East & Africa), government relations and financial management.

Frank Penson's Exxon career culminated in 5 years as Exxon UK's Head of Training & Organisation Effectiveness, where he influenced the corporation's training activity throughout Europe. Frank elected to move into consultancy in 1994 and has specialised in strategic training, learning & development assignments, nationally and internationally. His extensive oil & gas consultancy experience includes projects in Europe, the former Soviet Union, the Middle East, SE Asia, Africa & the Caribbean. From 1992 to 2002 Frank sat on the Management Committee of the UK's National Training Organisation for downstream petroleum, the Petroleum Industry National Training Organisation. He is a Member of the Energy Institute and is listed on their Consultants Database.

In 1997 Frank completed his second masters degree (Master of Science) in Management Development, at the prestigious Saïdberg Park Institute. In 2000 Frank was approved as a Fellow of the Institute of Consulting, the UK's Professional Body for Management Consultants and Business Advisors.
