Analysis & the Fullness of Reality Richard H. Jones, 2013-03-18 Is the world nothing but matter pushing matter in a void Are humans nothing but soulless machines for the survival of genes Is the mind nothing but the brain Is all science reducible to physics Must scientists restrict the substance and structure of reality to physical forces Does society consist merely of individuals or are holistic forces also at work Is God really no more than a projection of nature society or our psyche Or in each case do new realities emerge that cannot be reduced Virtually every scholarly and popular book and magazine article on the mind science or religion touches on these issues of reductionism But for all the interest in the topic no in depth introduction of the subject exists The objective of this philosophical work is to fill that void This book attempts to provide one common framework for studying how the issue of reduction versus emergence arises in each of the areas in which it comes up the natural sciences philosophy of mind the social sciences and religion It tries to resolve some of the disputes by a new analysis differentiating five types of reductionism and antireductionism ontological structural theoretical conceptual and methodological To help clarify the issues a brief history of how reductionism and emergentism have developed in Western philosophy is also presented By distinguishing different types of reductionism and by examining the issues in all the areas of philosophical interest collectively rather than limiting the discussion to just one area the general issues surrounding reduction versus emergence become clearer This approach brings together many of the most interesting questions today in philosophy science and religious studies The attempt throughout the work is to present the reductionists and emergentists strongest case on each issue and to identify problems with both sides But it is argued that in the end the reductionists in each area currently have the weaker position The work concludes with a discussion of the centrality of nonreducible features in reality and asks whether science under a reductionist vision can ever explain the emergence of higher levels of phenomena
