The Politics of Referendum Use in European Democracies Saskia Hollander, 2019-04-02 This book demonstrates that the generally assumed dichotomy between referendums and representative democracy does not do justice to the great diversity of referendum types and of how referendums are used in European democracies Although in all referendums citizens vote directly on issues rather than letting their political representatives do this for them some referendums are more direct than others Rather than reflecting the direct power of the People most referendums in EU countries are held by and serve the interests of the political elites most notably the executive The book shows that these interests rarely match the justifications given in the public debate Instead of being driven by the need to compensate for the deficiency of political parties decision makers use referendums primarily to protect the position of their party In unravelling the strategic role played by national referendums in decision making this book makes an unconventional contribution to the debate on the impact of referendums on democracy
