Human Nature Malcolm Jeeves, 2006-04 Malcolm Jeeves former editor in chief of Neuropsychologia a leading international scientific journal in behavioral and cognitive neuroscience explores the intersection of science and faith in defining what it means to be human He reports on recent scientific research on consciousness and the link between mind brain and behavior He examines issues such as determinism by indicating the possible relevance of chaos theory to enduring concerns about freedom and responsibility He looks at similarities and differences between human nature and animal nature

He reexamines traditional dualist views of soul and body in the light of contemporary research on mind and brain and argues for a wholistic model This leads to addressing questions such as does spiritual awareness depend on the intactness of our brains or does spirituality stand apart from our biological substrate

Reflections on Communication, Education, Scholarship, and Life Xin-An Lu, 2003-07 Our actions in education business and government are no longer guided by conscious ideals but by entrenched practices that are products of expediency indolence and even tyranny Inveterate and ubiquitous problems abound Students hate school Employees dislike their jobs Professors become disinclined toward teaching Boredom and procrastination are everywhere There are promotion requirements such as scholarly publications by college professors that promote nothing and benefit none except to move the person into the next nominal category along the spectrum of the organizational ladder We are plagued with senseless competitive patterns and numerical evaluations that make life a mere matter of rat race the winning of which does not uplift us into the sublimity of humanity but trammel us in the degradation of being rats Essays in this book reflect on and search for answers to widespread and inveterate problems that degenerate modern life into mere livelihood Products in sober solitude rather than in the societal cacophony most essays in the book were written during the author's doctoral studies
