Climate Change 2022 - Mitigation of Climate Change Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC), 2023-08-17 This Working Group III contribution to the IPCC Sixth Assessment Report provides a comprehensive and transparent assessment of the literature on climate change mitigation. The report assesses progress in climate change mitigation options for reducing emissions and enhancing sinks. With greenhouse gas emissions at the highest levels in human history, this report provides options to achieve net zero as pledged by many countries. The report highlights for the first time the social and demand side aspects of climate mitigation and assesses the literature on human behaviour, lifestyle, and culture and its implications for mitigation action. It brings a wide range of disciplines, notably from the social sciences, within the scope of the assessment. IPCC reports are a trusted source for decision makers, policymakers, and stakeholders at all levels: international, regional, national, local, and in all branches: government, businesses, NGOs. Available as Open Access on Cambridge Core.

Crisis and Regime Transitions from Within Vilde Lunnan Djuve, 2019 We study how economic crises affect the likelihood of regime change brought about in part or fully by actors in the incumbent regime While historically common such processes remain far less studied than regime transitions forced by non incumbent actors such as coups or revolutions We argue that economic crises may incentivize leaders to change the regime from within due to two different mechanisms which we detail and illustrate with two cases First crises create windows of opportunity for leaders to change the regime in a direction they inherently prefer Democratically elected leaders who use crises to conduct self coups is one example Second economic crises sometimes allow for opposition actors to mobilize and threaten the regime with breakdown In such circumstances incumbents may prefer to change the regime from within to appease opponents in anticipation of even worse outcomes We leverage new data on the timing and mode of regime change for more than 2000 regimes from about 200 countries across 1789 2018 and find support for the hypothesis that economic crises induce transitions from within However when we distinguish incumbent guided liberalization episodes from other guided transitions including self coups we only find that economic crises systematically relate to the latter
