the Caribbean Court of Justice and Regional Integration Indira Rampersad,Anthony Gafoor,2024-12-06 The book is a joint publication with equal contributions by Dr Indira Rampersad and Justice Dr Anthony Gafoor It presents the first comprehensive analysis of the jurisprudence of the Caribbean Court of Justice in both its original and appellate jurisdictions from 2005 to 2020 It seeks to address the central issue of whether the jurisprudence of the CCJ has the capacity to foster regional integration Through a series of semi structured interviews primary and secondary sources the book harnesses the dynamic interplay between the disciplines of International Relations and Law It claims that by attempting to uphold the rule of law and promote both economic and non economic forms of the second generation regional integration the CCJ aims to inculcate a sense of obligation among member states to uphold both economic agreements and non economic community rights and values The Legacy of Supranationalism P. Close,2000-08-22 The doctrine of supranationalism has been most evident in Europe but has become increasingly a global tour de force Supranationalism is the ideological driving force behind the process of European integration and so the European Union the first supranational regional regime SRR But the same doctrine has bequeathed other gifts to the world and to posterity The EU is evolving as a prominent global player and as a result appears to have become an inspiration and model for the proliferation of other SRRs and proto SRRs However as

SRRs acquire greater power relative to traditional global players such as nation states a further state of development has ensued entailing the creation of supranational global regimes SGRs signalled by the progress of the United Nations and the World Trade Organisation

The New Nationalism Louis Snyder, 2017-07-05 Nationalism the state of mind in which the individual's supreme loyalty is owed to the nation state remains the strongest of political emotions As a historical phenomenon it is always in flux changing according to no preconceived pattern In The New Nationalism Louis L Snyder sees various forms of nationalism and categorizes them as a force for unity a force for the status quo a force for independence a force for fraternity a force for colonial expansion a force for aggression a force for economic expansion and a force for anti colonialism In Snyder's opinion nationalism should be differentiated from Theodore Roosevelt's New Nationalism a phrase he borrowed from Herbert D Croly's The Promise of American Life Croly warned that giving too much power to big industry and finance would lead to the degradation of the masses and that state and federal intervention must be pursued on all economic fronts Roosevelt expanded upon this concept and saw the flourishing of democratic government as a means of reviving the old pioneer sense of individualism and opportunity Snyder in contrast extends the work of the two major pioneers in the study of modern nationalism Carlton J H Hayes and Hans Kohn in exploring this most powerful sentiment of modern times and showing how it relates to the political economic and psychological tendencies of historical development

Contested Ideas of Regionalism in Asia Baogang He, 2016-09-13 Deepening regionalism in Asia demands new leadership Strong elites who are committed to a supranational identity are a minimum requirement of successful regionalism Regional leaders are increasingly seen as a new set of leaders in Europe Currently Asian regional leaders largely come from the diplomacy community or trade and economic sectors Yet further regionalization demands a new type of leadership from civil society and citizens In this context it is important to cultivate new regional leadership through the development of regional citizenship This book examines contested ideas of regionalism in Asia with a particular focus on two competing ideas of pan Asianism and Pacificism It also identifies a new trend and contestation the fundamental shift from a civilization understanding of regionalism to a technocratic and functional understanding of regionalism in the form of regulatory regionalism It also examines the other contested imaginations of regionalism in Asia including elitist versus participatory approaches to regionalism and democracy centric versus nationalism centric approaches to regionalism      Towards a Better Regional Approach to Development in West Africa Conclusions of the Special Event of Sahel and West Africa Club, May 2002 OECD, Sahel and West Africa Club, 2004-03-23 This book presents the conclusions of a meeting of the Sahel and West Africa Club in Accra Ghana in May 2002 on the following topic Towards a Better Regional Approach to Development in West Africa      Regional and Global Regulation of International Trade Francis Snyder, 2002-07-05 The processes of legal and economic integration at a regional and global scale have created powerful legal and economic dilemmas They challenge the paradigms of constitutionalism including the State's monopoly of constitutionalism the autonomy of national political communities and the traditional forms of participation and representation The phenomena of globalisation and regional forms of governance have promoted the inter dependence of national political communities and destroyed the artificial boundaries upon which national constitutional democracies are found and from which they derive their legitimacy Furthermore it is inevitable that the development of international trade and economic integration will raise claims for some form of global distributive justice to complement the wealth maximisation arising from free trade This will come from the gradual development of global forms of political discourse and law making challenging State constitutionalism and requiring some of the instruments and theories of constitutionalism The essays in this collection written by leading scholars in international trade law argue the pros and cons of greater regional and global regulation They conclude that whatever the final framework for international trade the critical decisions about institutional form and content will be decided in an emerging global political arena They help to identify this political arena who governs it and according to which rules and identify the different institutional alternatives in that global political arena      Regional Policy in the Southern African Development Community J. Ernst Drewes, Mariske van Aswegen, 2024-03-19 This book analyses regional development policy or the lack thereof in the Southern African Development Community SADC which forms a key trading bloc on the African continent as well as the Global South It explores the main attributes relevant to the formulation of regional policy in terms of socio economic policies as well as spatial planning instruments Further it integrates macro and sectoral policy frameworks and applies the goals and objectives thereof practically through the appropriate and timely application of spatial targeting instruments within the SADC as a developing region The focus of the research is to reflect on the social economic environmental and political arguments through a focused analysis of relevant planning instruments policies and barriers in terms of the regional policy goals for the SADC region The book provides insight into the role of the SADC in the context of regional development analyses regional policy on a national regional and continental scale with reference to the SADC and evaluates the inherent potential in the regional economy as well as barriers to regional development It identifies gaps in the existing regional policy framework of the region and its constituent members and makes recommendations for improved regional policy frameworks and their implementation The book is targeted at scholars researchers and students studying international trade as well as regional and economic development and urban and regional planning and policy It will also be a useful resource for policymakers as it provides practical policy guidelines for improved regional planning towards a comprehensive regional policy framework The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Sub-regionalisms in the European Union: Bridge-builders or spoilers? Anna-Lena Kirch, 2021-09-14 In today's interconnected, differentiated and polarized European Union, sub-regional groupings between the national and EU level are a highly relevant empirical phenomenon. Despite their importance, the interactions between sub-regionalisms and EU actors and processes remain under-researched. This book fills this large research gap by applying a systematic comparative approach. Taking into account a huge corpus of empirical data gained through expert interviews and document analysis, this study provides the conceptual and empirical groundwork necessary to better understand EU sub-regionalism. For the timeframe between 2009 and 2018, it analyses the scope of sub-regional cooperation in the Baltic, Benelux and Visegrád groupings. Moreover, it compares their respective institutional design, political identity, foreign policy, as well as their external recognition by EU actors. A special focus lies on their role in six EU policy cases, including EU budget negotiations, TTIP, the drafting process of the EU Global Strategy, refugee relocation quotas, the revision of the posted workers directive, and defence cooperation through PESCO. In its conclusion, this book identifies two sub-regional archetypes: functional hubs and political tools. While differing in many regards, the shared assessment finds that the overall bridge-building efforts of the Baltic, Benelux and Visegrád sub-regionalisms exceed their spoiling potential.

Supranational Institutions and Peacebuilding in Africa Redie Bereketeab, 2024-09-06 This book analyses the role of the African Union and regional economic communities in contributing to peacebuilding in Africa. Big and small conflicts rage across the African continent, and this book argues that the African Union and the five regional economic communities have the potential to greatly contribute to peace and peacebuilding in Africa. Looking across the African Union and the five regional economic communities, the AMU, ECCAS, ECOWAS, IGAD, and SADC, the book considers in detail the organizations' programmes, engagement, endeavours, success, and failure of activities of peacebuilding in their respective regions. Overall, the book argues that an institutionalised and formalised relationship between the African Union and the regional economic communities would not only be decisive for the prospects for peace in the region but would also serve to strengthen the continent's role on the global stage through asserting its agency, owning its agenda and designing its own solutions and mechanisms for addressing problems. Drawing together an international team of prominent experts, this book will be of interest to researchers, policymakers, NGOs, activists and regional and international actors working on African politics, security, governance and economics.

Selling One's Favourite Piano to Emigrate Jakub Isański, Piotr Luczys, 2011-05-25

International migration is a common phenomenon of the contemporary world; however, not all the aspects of migration are adequately investigated. In this book, migration is described by academics from various European countries who see it not only as an economic but mainly as a social process. Thirteen texts written by authors from seven countries consider migration from various perspectives regarding its social consequences for migrants, their families and entire societies. Although the majority of the texts pertain to the Polish context connected with Poles as migrants but not necessarily Poland as a country, in general, the book can be qualified as an illustration of current migration from the less developed parts of the unified Europe which impacts on the economies and societies of the European continent. A few years ago, one had to sell their favourite belonging, a piano, to collect money for the journey. These days, it is much more accessible but not less complex, and various examples from this book offer a unique insight into the variety of human flows in the contemporary world.

Interregionalism and the European Union Professor Mario Telò, Professor Louise Fawcett, Dr Frederik Ponjaert, 2015-11-28

Is the EU isolated within the emergent multipolar world? Concentrating on interregional relations and focussing on the European Union's evolving international role with regards to regional cooperation, this innovative book collects a set of fresh empirical analyses of interregional ties binding the EU with its Eastern and Southern neighbourhood as well as with Asia, Africa and the Americas. The 25 leading authors from 5 continents have contributed original and diverse chapters, and the book advances a novel theoretical post-revisionist approach beyond both the Eurocentrism of Europe First perspectives as well as the Euroscepticism of those advocating to simply move Beyond Europe.
