School Gilbert Hunt, Dennis Wiseman, Sandra Bowden, 2003 Middle school educators are facing many challenges in today's educational and political environment due to the focus on excellence as measured by achievement tests. It is the purpose of this book to provide a discussion of how middle schools can provide a strong standards based academic program while at the same time remaining focused on the student centered principles upon which the middle school experience should be based. The text is intended to aid readers in the development of the teaching philosophies, behaviors, and skills relevant to effective instruction in the unique middle school environment. This emphasis reflects the philosophy that teachers ultimately determine the quality of schooling and that the learning environment should be student centered while maintaining a strong academic foundation. The text begins with an overview of the origins and essential elements of middle schools, proceeds through discussions of middle school teachers, students, schooling structures, and teaching strategies, and concludes with a view of the future. Specifically, chapters offer suggestions for teaching and learning in the middle school environment, for developing essential teaching characteristics, for creating a positive middle school climate, for planning the curriculum, for providing developmentally appropriate instruction, and for assessing and reporting student progress. This outstanding new edition provides a comprehensive, current, and cohesive text that allows the reader to more clearly understand the nature and importance of significant standards issues and developments within the ongoing evolution of the modern American middle school.

Emotionally Responsive Practice Lesley Koplow, 2021 It is essential for all schools to integrate trauma informed care into practice as children, parents, and teachers live with the threat of COVID 19. In her new book, Lesley Koplow explores the Emotionally Responsive Practice (ERP) approach designed to support children and teachers' emotional well-being in the public school setting. ERP encourages school staff to look at children through the lens of child development as well as through the lens of their life experiences in order to help them resolve foundational social and emotional milestones. Unlike many SEL programs, ERP asks adults to consider the ways that educational philosophy and school climate impact emotional, social, and cognitive outcomes for young children. This timely resource offers teachers, school leaders, and school-based clinicians a vision and blueprint for engaging in relationship-based, trauma-informed practice in early childhood and elementary school grades. Book Features: A timely sequel to the author's groundbreaking text Unsmiling Faces: How Preschools Can Heal, Second Edition. Explores the need for meaningful curriculum as a component of a healing school environment. Provides a unifying language to help teachers, school leaders, and school social workers to work across disciplines. Includes specific examples of classroom processes and practices that support the emotional well-being of young children.

Middle School Journal, 2004

Becoming a Middle Level Teacher Cathy Vatterott, 2007 Becoming a Middle Level Teacher outlines an approach to student-focused instruction that can provide greater academic success for the most students and at the same time assist early adolescents in navigating the difficult transition of puberty. With over 50 learning activities in language arts, social studies, science, math, art, music, and physical education from 20 practicing middle school teachers the text is full of examples of actual programs and practices from several outstanding middle schools
