Religions of Modernity Stef Aupers, Dick Houtman, 2010 Religions of Modernity challenges the social scientific orthodoxy that once unleashed the modern forces of individualism science and technology inevitably erode the sacred and evoke the profane The book's chapters some by established scholars others by junior researchers document instead in rich empirical detail how modernity relocates the sacred to the deeper layers of the self and the domain of digital technology Rather than destroying the sacred tout court then the cultural logic of modernization spawns its own religious meanings unacknowledged spiritualities and magical enchantments The editors argue in the introductory chapter that the classical theoretical accounts of modernity by Max Weber Emile Durkheim and others already hinted at the future emergence of these religions of modernity

Prayer and Modern Man Jacques Ellul, 1970 A prominent social critic and former resistance leader makes a searing analysis of man's alienation from God and traces the reasons for praying or not praying With razor like statements he cuts through the weaknesses of much traditional praying and in the end offers a strong and positive program for praying in today's troubled times

Order and Agency in Modernity Kwang-ki Kim, 2012-02-01 In this unique analysis of three prominent theorists of modern sociology theory is understood as implicitly but importantly reflecting especially modern problems of individual and social life From the grand theoretical systems of Talcott Parsons to the unique symbolic interactionism of Erving Goffman and the radically mundane ethnomethodology of Harold Garfinkel a wide variety of noted sociological theories have addressed central issues of sociology against the backdrop of modern society When this modern backdrop is brought into the foreground of analysis sociological theories assume new depth and breadth and new historical significance The author outlines features of the modern experience drawing upon neglected cultural theorists of modernity and then shows how these features of modernity are reflected and incorporated in the scholarship of Parsons Goffman and Garfinkel The result is an original and eclectic analysis that illuminates previously overlooked dimensions to modern sociological theory and suggests new possibilities for meaningful and rewarding comparisons between theoretical traditions

Believers: Faith in Human Nature Melvin Konner, 2019-09-10 An anthropologist examines the nature of religiosity and how it shapes and benefits humankind Believers is a scientist's answer to attacks on faith by some well meaning scientists and philosophers It is a firm rebuke of the Four Horsemen Richard Dawkins Daniel Dennett Sam Harris and Christopher Hitchens known for writing about religion as something irrational and ultimately harmful Anthropologist Melvin Konner who was raised as an Orthodox Jew but has lived his adult life without such faith explores the psychology development brain science evolution and even genetics of the varied religious impulses we experience as a species Conceding that faith is not for everyone he views religious people with a sympathetic eye his own upbringing his apprenticeship in the trance dance religion of the African Bushmen and his friends and explorations in Christian Buddhist Hindu Muslim and other faiths have all shaped his perspective Faith has always manifested itself in different ways some revelatory and comforting some kind and good some ecumenical and cosmopolitan some bigoted coercive and violent But the future Konner argues will both produce more nonbelievers and incline the religious among us holding their own by having larger families to increasingly reject prejudice and aggression A colorful weave of personal stories of religious and irreligious encounters as well as new scientific research Believers shows us that religion does much good as well as undoubted harm and that for at least a large minority of humanity the belief in things unseen neither can nor should go away

Abu Sayem, 2022-09-02 Religion and Ecological Crisis delves into the complex relationship between religions and ecology presenting Christian and Islamic perspectives on ecological issues through the work of John Boswell Cobb and Seyyed Hossein Nasr It examines how faith traditions of the world see and respond to our current unprecedented climate change issues This is the first comparative study of Cobb and Nasr s eco religious understanding and explores how their prescriptions can contribute alternatively to techno scientific initiatives in environmental sustainability Taking Cobb s economism and Nasr s scientism as the key concepts for surveying the roots of the ecological crisis the book offers interdisciplinary and interreligious insights into the debates about ecological equilibrium motivational awareness in human mind and about entanglements between religion and the environment This will be an insightful resource for policy makers faith leaders and for academics working in Environmental Studies and Religious Studies
