Looking Back, Moving on David Rogers, Janice Rubin, 2000-07 David Rogers has a specific point of view and he lets it all out in a new extremely enjoyable book of three marvelous long short stories Stories by an Atheist Here are paragraphs from each Sunday Morning There was a pond behind the house they rented a good distance off for some legs In the evenings sometimes while Julia was busy in the kitchen getting supper Jay and the boys walked down to the pond Jay to stand on the dock and watch while the boys lay on their stomachs and peered between the planks The pond was alive with sunnies that rushed at everything that fell into the water especially breadcrumbs Some had white edges on their fins and fringes on their tails and they were the best kind The other kind smaller darker and quicker got most of the bread Once a little painted turtle appeared and paddled around and around chasing all the fishes and though shouted at and spat upon wouldn't go away Seventeen You saw her didn't you said Gus What more do you want What's she hanging around here for If it wasn't raining she'd be out of the road thumbing for Chrisake She's got to get to town absolutely has to get to town some big deal with her girl friend If she don't get there she'll die Go home and get your car and come back and tell her you'll take her anywhere she wants to go and you know what you do you take her out in the woods and tell her either she fucks or she walks and what do you bet she fucks I couldn't do that said Herby He was shocked She's only a kid He was only a kid himself The Funeral Emily and Micky Christine were among the last to reach the celebrity The priest pushed through the crowd as they approached put his arms around them kissed them both on the lips Everett noted and sorrowfully shook his head Everett was brought forward and introduced an introduction he would rather have avoided were it possible The priest shook his hand patted his arm and said it was good to see him He told the girls he had known their father for years more years than he cared to remember and had known their mother as well a lovely woman It had hit him hard her passing and now here it was old Jim's turn not an old man by any means and did they know what had taken him On learning that no one seemed to know he said the doctors might be good people but they didn't know as much as they thought they did They had lost a good man in Jim Turner but it looked as if they had found another He said this with a roguish glance at Everett who flushed with pleasure in spite of himself and felt a damned fool for so doing

Four Lives Janice Rubin, Honey Hilzen, Peggy O'Hea, Theda von Schultz Bray, 2001-11-14 Why are some people able to survive unpropitious beginnings thrive and even excel while others in equivalent circumstances cannot The four women whose memoirs make up this volume met several years ago in an autobiography workshop Despite early years that included physical emotional and sexual abuse deaths and abandonments and the terror of living in a country at war they remained sufficiently self possessed and determined to go on to live productive lives often giving back more than they had received How did they manage to do it Was Thedas loving family her protective shield Was Honeys willingness to accept help and learn from others her salvation Did Peggys brightness charm and independence give her the confidence to take on the world Was Janices determination to matter her incentive This book offers no answers but there are enough clues in each of the four stories on which to base reasonable conjectures Matters of the Heart Jacinta Nampijinpa
