Freund,1975      Mathematical Connections Al Cuoco,2005-12-31
Mathematical Connections is about some of the topics that form the foundations for high school mathematics It focuses on a closely knit collection of ideas that are at the intersection of algebra arithmetic combinatorics geometry and calculus Most of the ideas are classical methods for fitting polynomial functions to data for summing powers of integers for visualizing the iterates of a function defined on the complex plane or for obtaining identities among entries in Pascal s triangle Some of these ideas previously considered quite advanced have become tractable because of advances in computational technology Others are just beautiful classical mathematics topics that have fallen out of fashion and that deserve to be resurrected While the book will appeal to many audiences one of the primary audiences is high school teachers both practicing and prospective It can be used as a text for undergraduate or professional courses and the design lends itself to self study Of course good mathematics for teaching is also good for many other uses so readers of all persuasions can enjoy exploring some of the beautiful ideas presented in the pages of this book      Mathematics for Business Decisions: Calculus and optimization Richard B. Thompson,2003 Students are allowed to learn mathematics in a setting that mirrors the professional environment they will encounter after college      MODERN MATHEMATICS FOR BUSINESS DECISION- MAKING Donald R. Snow,Kirk E. Weller,2003-12-31 This text supplement contains 12 exploratory exercises designed to facilitate students understanding of the most elemental concepts encountered in a first real analysis course notions of boundedness supremum infimum sequences continuity and limits limit suprema infima and pointwise and uniform convergence In designing the exercises the Author s ask students to formulate definitions make connections between different concepts derive conjectures or complete a sequence of guided tasks designed to facilitate concept acquisition Each exercise has three basic components making observations and generating ideas from hands on work with examples thinking critically about the examples and answering additional questions for reflection The exercises can be used in a variety of ways to motivate a lecture to serve as a basis for in class activities or to be used for lab sessions where students work in small groups and submit reports of their investigations While the exercises have been useful for real analysis students of all ability levels the Author s believe this resource might prove most beneficial in the following scenarios A two semester sequence in which the following topics are covered properties of the real numbers sequences continuity sequences and series of functions differentiation and integration A class of students for whom analysis is their first upper division course A group of students with a wide range of abilities for whom a cooperative approach focusing upon fundamental concepts could help to close the gap in skill development and concept acquisition An independent study or private tutorial in which the student receives a minimal level of instruction A resource for an instructor developing a cooperative interactive course that does not involve the use of a standard text Ancillary materials including Visual Guide Sheets for those exercises that involve the use of technology and Report Guides for a lab session approach are provided online at <http://www.saintmarys.edu/jsnow> In designing the exercise the Author s were inspired by Ellen Parker s book Laboratory Experiences in Group Theory also published by the MAA
