Fisher, 2014-04-28 This volume investigates how the structure and use of space developed and changed in cities and examines the role of different societal groups in shaping urbanism Culturally and chronologically diverse case studies provide a basis to examine recent theoretical and methodological shifts in the archaeology of ancient cities The book's primary goal is to examine how ancient cities were made by the people who lived in them The authors argue that there is a mutually constituting relationship between urban form and the actions and interactions of a plurality of individuals groups and institutions each with their own motivations and identities Space is therefore socially produced as these agents operate in multiple spheres Ancient Southeast Mesoamerica Patricia A. Urban, Edward M. Schortman, 2024-03-21 Ancient Southeast Mesoamerica explores the distinctive development and political history of the region from its earliest inhabitants up to the Spanish conquest It was composed of a matrix of social networks rather than divided by distinct cultures and domains Making use of the area's rich archaeological data Edward Schortman and Patricia Urban provide a social network analysis of southeast Mesoamerica They demonstrate how inhabitants from different locales were organized within such networks and how they mobilized the assets that they needed to define and achieve their own goals They also provide evidence for the actions of other groups who sought to promote their importance at local and regional scales and often opposed those efforts Schortman and Urban's study demonstrates the fresh insights gained from study of socio-political structures via a social network perspective It also challenges models that privilege the influence of powerful leaders in shaping those structures Human Adaptation in Ancient Mesoamerica Nancy Gonlin, Kirk D.
